MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commissioners announce examinations for desirable positions as follows:

Watchmen, June 15, 1922.

This examination will be held for the service of the state and all cities and such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. This service includes watchmen and guards in public parks, grounds, institutions, and departments; gatemen for ferries; turnkeys and guards in prisons, houses of detention and reformatories.

Applicants for appointment as officers in the State Prison, and Massachusetts Reformatory, must be not less than twenty-five and not over forty years of age at the time of filing application. Applicants for appointment as officers in the Prison Camp and Hospital must be not less than twenty-three nor over forty years of age at the time of filing application. All applicants for these places must be not less than 5 feet 7 inches in height and weigh not less than 135 pounds. A certificate of birth must be filed with applications for this service.

There are no age, height, or weight limits for watchman service other than those mentioned above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience, 6; memory, 1; arithmetic, 1; handwriting, 1; accuracy, 1; total, 10.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

NET DEBT PER CAPITA IN LEADING CITIES (BY RANK).

New York, $183.87; Cincinnati, $169.13; New Orleans, $117.56; Boston, $113.72 (i. e. with population wrongly estimated at 738,901. Should be $106.39 with population estimated at 789,817 on Feb. 1, 1919); Baltimore, $100.54; Cleveland, $95.75; Pittsburgh, $91.44; Los Angeles, $87.61; San Francisco, $86.24; Philadelphia, $79.60. Figures are approximate, as population had to be estimated. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1919, page 297.)

The per capita figures are high for New York, Boston and Cincinnati, as compared with other cities, because of their extensive investments in public service enterprises. Boston's debt for subways and tunnels being 38 per cent of the whole debt and the interest and sinking-fund dues payable from the revenue earned, it should be classed as investment-debt and kept separate from the debt for non-productive outlays met by taxation. Hence the per capita net general debt of Boston in 1919 was $67.32, not $106.39, assuming that the population was 789,817 on Feb. 1.

BOSTON NOTES.

MANUFACTURES OF BOSTON.

Number of establishments conducted under so-called factory system, having annual product valued at $500 or over, 3,077; value of year's product, $621,922,000 or 118.4 per cent increase over the 1914 product; value added by manufacture, $272,316,000; average number of wage earners, 88,759; total wages paid in year, $96,401,000, or 95 per cent increase over 1914; salaried employees, 19,518, receiving $39,291,000 in salaries; value of materials used (including fuel, also power and heat rented), $349,606,000; primary horsepower, 101,604; capital invested, $351,261,000; value of leading products: (1) Boots and shoes (not inclu. rubber) with cut stock and findings, 37 establishments, $62,970,000; (2) confectionery and ice cream, 68 establishments, $46,097,000; (3) printing and publishing, newspapers and magazines, 137 with $33,607,000 product; (4) foundry and machine shop products, 142 with $32,149,000; (5) men's clothing, 162 with $31,338,000; (6) book and job printing and publishing, 311 with $22,810,000; (7) bread and other bakery products, 306 with $21,681,000; (8) women's clothing, 173 with $20,656,000; (9) coffee and spices, roasting, grinding, etc., 14 with $16,239,000; (10) electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies, 32 with $10,671,000; (11) malt liquors, 10 with $8,956,000; (12) druggists' preparations, 9 with $8,661,000; (13) tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, 94 with $8,400,000; (14) furniture, 61 with $8,344,000; (15) steam fittings, also steam and hot-water heating apparatus, 9 with $8,135,000; (16) food preparations (not elsewhere shown), 29 with $5,667,000; pickles, preserves and sauces, 13 with $5,246,000.

Largest number of establishments (i. e., 311) in book and job printing industry; largest number of wage-earners with confectionery and ice cream makers, viz., 8,258; largest total of wages paid, $10,066,000, by foundry and machine shops. (From U. S. Bureau of Census, Preliminary Report for 1919).

BOSTON FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Fire-fighting force, 1,170, viz., the Chief, four deputy chiefs, 15 district chiefs, 63 captains, 91 lieutenants, 50 engineers, 48 assistant engineers and 898 privates; other employees, 14 at headquarters, 81 men in repair shop, 42 in fire alarm branch and 4 in veterinary hospital; fire stations, 62; steam and gasoline pumping engines in service, 47, of which 12 are tractor-drawn steamers, 12 auto triple combination (i. e., gas-engine, chemical and hose-reel), 5 auto double combination (without chemical), 1 steam-propelled and 17 horse-drawn steamers; 4 auto chemical engines; 25 auto combination chemical engine and hose cars; 2 horse-drawn chemical engines, 17 horse-drawn hose wagons, 22 auto ladder trucks (10 aerial); 8 horse-drawn ladder trucks; 3 fireboats; 3 auto water towers; 33 auto touring cars and roadsters; 7 auto delivery trucks; 1 rescue company auto with pulmotors, etc., and 1 auto wrecker; total automobiles in service 127, of which 87 are apparatus, 33 officials' cars and 7 trucks. Leading hose 150,949 feet and suction hose, 2,027 feet; horses, 147; 2-ton fuel wagons, 41; fire alarm boxes, 1,205. In reserve are 18 engines (8 auto) and 3 chemical engines; 18 hose wagons (7 auto); 11 ladder trucks (6 auto); 1 water tower (auto) and 9 officials' cars. Set aside to be sold are 7 horse-drawn chemicals. Total alarms in calendar year 1920, 4,485 or 938 less than in 1919, of which total 530 were needless and 110 were false alarms. Total fires, 3,728 (i. e., 625 less than in 1919), of which 2,373 were in buildings, 1,327 outside buildings and 28 out of city limits. In 10 cases the buildings were totally destroyed, in 64 the damage was considerable and in 1,456 the damage was slight.

The Boston Protective Department (not a City department) reported the total fire losses in 1920 on buildings as $1,045,050 and on contents as $1,952,766, or total of $2,997,816, which is $562,532 more than in 1919 and $175,707 more than in 1918. Of total loss, the amount not covered by insurance was $284,262. The B. P. D. also reported that of the 1,760 fires involving losses, 458 were caused by carelessness with matches, 215 by smoking, 121 by open lights, 101 by stoves, furnaces, etc., 95 by explosions, 93 by sparks from combustion, 83 by electricity, 51 by overheated or defective flues and chimneys, 41 by spontaneous combustion, 35 by hot ashes, etc.

Cost of maintenance for 1920, $3,223,133 (including pensions), or $359,093 more than in 1919 and $1,001,752 in excess of 1918. Value of land and buildings, $2,270,900; of equipment, $1,350,000.

Annual salaries; Commissioner, $7,500; Chief, $5,000; deputy chiefs, $4,000; district chiefs, $3,500; captains, $2,500; lieutenants, $2,300; engineers, $1,900; assistant engineers, $1,800; 1st-year privates, $1,400, with $100 yearly increase until maximum of $1,800 is reached.

By Chapter 4, City Ordinances of 1917, the firemen have one day off in three, dating from February 1, 1918, instead of one in five, as before, which called for an addition of about 170 men to the force.

By Ordinances of 1919, Chapter 2, the Wire Department became the Wire Division of the Fire Department.

New motor apparatus added in 1919 and 1920 costing $350,837, makes the department 70 per cent motorized. Appropriation of $150,000 for more of same in 1921.

BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Number of permanent school buildings in use for school purposes, 265, or 216 brick and 49 wooden; portable houses, 160; besides these, 14 rented quarters; day schools contain 3,256 class-rooms and 133,392 sittings; also 101 assembly halls and 15 drill halls and gymnasia; 3,422 teachers in all schools, or 2,883 women and 539 men; evening schools, 20, with 263 regular teachers. Playground teachers, 149, having charge of games, gymnastics, etc., in 54 park and 36 schoolyard playgrounds; school physicians, 47; school nurses, 48; attendance officers, 25. Number of pupils registered in regular day schools year ending June 30, 1920, 123,392; in evening schools, 9,911; Continuation School, 8,705; Day School for Immigrants, 1,312; total registration, 143,320 or 2,020 increase over 1919. Average number belonging in day schools, 109,110 or 2,367 more than in 1919; average number in evening schools, 5,015; in summer review schools, 3,941. Membership in Normal, High and Latin Schools on Sept. 30, 1920, 17,641; in elementary schools, by districts; East Boston, 10,451; Charlestown, 3,594; North End, 5,341; West End, 5,866; City Proper, 4,360; South End, 3,673; South Boston, 8,488; Roxbury, 14,739; Brighton, 4,479; West Roxbury, 7,608; Dorchester, 23,468; Hyde Park, 2,187; in special schools, 967. Total, 112,862, or 1,989 more than in 1919. In 1920, total number of graduates, 7,686. Average number of day-school pupils per teacher in elementary grades, 41.2; in high schools, 27.6; in kindergartens, 26.1. In 1918 the ninth grade or junior high school plan, recently adopted, relieved the high schools of 925 first-year pupils, and in 1919 the number of pupils promoted to these intermediate classes was 1,581. Valuation of school property, $29,188,215 or $27,940,258 for land and buildings and $1,247,957 for equipment. Cost of maintenance for 1920, $9,897,928 or $2,485,296 (i. e., 33.53 per cent) more than in 1919; expenditure for construction of new schools, etc., $910,825, of which all but $50,000 was from Tax Levy. Gross debt outstanding for Schoolhouses and Sites, Feb. 1, 1921, $15,583,500 or $200,500 less than in 1920. Annual maintenance cost per attending pupil in Latin and high schools (day), $109.87; in elementary schools (day), $54.03. The registration of minors, 5 to 15 years, inclusive, also illiterates over 15, April 1, 1920, as directed by Chap. 102, General Acts of 1916, showed a total of 135,052 or 22,562 of 5 and 6 years of age; 89,343 of 7 to 13; 22,612 of 14 and 15, and 435 illiterates 16 years of age and over. Total belonging to public schools, 105,129; to parochial schools, 25,476; other private schools, 4,192; not in any school, 255.

Only 174 in each 1,000 of pupils in Boston are in private schools, while the average for the large cities is 284. The School Centers for educational and social improvement of other than school pupils started in 1912. There are now 13 with 150 leaders and assistants and 30 to 40 study and entertainment clubs in each; total attendance during the 7 months sessions in 1919–20, 463,894. Cost of this "extended use of public schools" in 1919–20, $29,800.

Per capita (of Boston population) cost in 1920 of schools, approximately $13.30 (including special appropriations from taxes, etc., for new schoolhouses), which is $3.09 higher than in 1919, $5.38 ahead of 1915 and $6.61 or nearly 100 per cent more than in 1910.

AREA OF BOSTON.

Area to ward lines (26 wards), 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,843 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,585 acres flats. Land area only, 27,870 acres (i. e., 43.55 square miles). Included in the latter are 138 acres of filled flats added to the land area of South Boston in 1919 and 48 acres to that of East Boston in 1918. Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, six are larger in land area than Boston, viz., New York (326.9 square miles), Chicago (199.37), Philadelphia (129), Detroit (75.62), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.37). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 square miles).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., New York, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492,524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

SCHICK TOXIN-ANTITOXIN CONTROL OF DIPHTHERIA.

BY DR. JOHN A. CECONI, EPIDEMIOLOGIST, HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The establishment of a program aimed at the prevention and control of diphtheria has been recently assigned to the epidemiologist of the Boston Health Department as one of his functions and it is his earnest desire through painstaking efforts along this line to amply justify this trust.

Since over 300,000 in New York, and nearly 100,000 in Chicago, have been protected against diphtheria, it is well realized that it will take active work to compensate for their handicap, but it is felt that this can be done, and the public opinion which can be stimulated by the press, physicians and educators will permit the Health Department to accomplish this great work.

The campaign of publicity to eradicate diphtheria, of which this is the beginning and which will be carried in a more popular form through the press of the city, will do much, and with the solid backing that has been given by the Mayor and the Health Commissioner in this preventive feature, there is no reason to doubt that there will not only be a further reduction in Boston's death rate, but also a reduction in the morbidity rate.

Diphtheria is one of the most dangerous of our acute communicable diseases. In Boston there has been an average of about 150 deaths annually for the past ten years. This represents over one and one-half per cent of all the deaths in the city. If the value of a single life be taken as an average of five thousand dollars, this means an annual loss of three-quarters of a million dollars to the city. Further financial and educational waste is shown as follows:

The average quarantine period of each case is about ten days. There have been over 2,000 cases per annum for the past ten years. The annual loss of time for these cases would amount to between seventy-five and eighty years; 50 per cent of these cases are of school age, causing an annual educational loss of about thirty-five years. To this must be added the educational loss to the other children in the family who are excluded from school at the same time as the patient. To this loss of time is again added an amount which cannot be calculated but is none the less serious, for whenever there is a sharp outbreak in any educational institution the entire group must necessarily be disorganized and the work accomplished falls to a very low figure.

The remaining cases are adults and to their loss of time must be added that of the other adults who are quarantined as attendants of the sick of all ages, and where the patient is removed to the City Hospital the expense falls directly on the taxpayers.

The use and value of antitoxin not only in the treatment of diphtheria but also in the protection of those exposed to the disease is an accepted fact, and is omitted only by the ignorant. Antitoxin is curative in diphtheria if given early enough and protects exposed individuals if given immediately, but the immunization is very fleeting, lasting not longer than ten days or two weeks. Antitoxin has reduced the death rate, but it has had no effect on the number of sick or new cases. All agree that antitoxin cures the disease and it has been shown that the mortality rate of diphtheria has been reduced to a marked degree since its use. But although this is conceded it has also been proven that the actual number of cases have not decreased, but have been about the same from year to year with the same unnecessary expense to the afflicted person and the taxpayer.

In 1913 Dr Schick developed the test which bears his name, the use of which determines those who are susceptible to diphtheria and those who are immune to the disease. This is a simple, harmless, painless injection of a drop of fluid between the layers of the skin; if the individual is susceptible to diphtheria, a painless reaction takes place; if no reaction ensues the individual is immune.

Before we had this knowledge all persons exposed to diphtheria were given antitoxin whether they were susceptible or not. This necessarily was not only an additional expense to the afflicted, but also to the taxpayer. The Schick test has pointed out the individual who should or should not receive antitoxin on exposure to diphtheria.

Even this knowledge did not help to reduce the actual number of diphtheria cases, but it stimulated men like Behring, Park, Smith, Zingher, and others who were pioneers in the antitoxin treatment for many years to improve their methods and after exhaustive experiments they found that a lasting immunity could be established by the production of antibodies (protective) in the individual himself by the ues of minute amounts of diphtheria toxin in combination with antitoxin.

This combination is not only entirely harmless but it also bids fair to prove a permanent protection lasting for life.

From the beginning it has been shown that there was absolutely no danger from the inoculation and it has been definitely shown that as year after year passed a great discovery had been made, as practically all who had been inoculated continued to show by the Schick test that they were still immune and that this immunization could be compared favorably to the vaccination against smallpox which has reduced this disease from one of the most dreaded of plagues to something which it is unnecessary to have.

When nearly 300,000 in New York and over 75,000 in Chicago have been Schick tested and inoculated and proportionate numbers in other parts of the country with over 90 per cent of successful protection every self-respecting community owes it to itself to see that its members have the same privileges as have been given in other places.

Boston was far behind in this matter and his Honor Mayor Curley was only a short time in office when he decided that it need not remain so. His slogan has been that the people of Boston should not be exposed to greater dangers than the people of New York, Chicago, and the rest of the State of Massachusetts when the Boston Health Department knew how to save them. The epidemiologist of the Boston Health Department has already made a beginning but needs not only the co-operation of the medical profession but also of the school authorities and the public to carry the work along to at least as successful conclusion as has been done in other municipalities.

The period of life which has most cases and deaths from diphtheria is the same period which shows up as least protected and most susceptible, namely, pre-school age (from birth to five) and the early school age up to ten years.

The sets of schools in Boston harboring children of this age, are three—public, parochial, and those under private agencies.

The medical inspection of the public schools is adequate and presumably ready to carry on the work begun in their schools, but even though they were able to protect all the children under their jurisdiction it would still leave a large number unprotected. This is, however, a public health problem and the epidemiologist is willing and ready to protect and has been protecting these school children who have no health administration of their own.

The School Committee supplies the sinews of diphtheria protection for the public schools and the Boston Health Department is prepared to help the other schools (either with or without medical supervision if they so desire).

These children come under the care of the family physician primarily. It is he that the Health Department seriously pleads with to help protect children of pre-school age, and it has been shown that inoculation in a child six months' old or over gives protection readily and the younger the child is the less severe the reaction.

The Health Department will gladly Schick and immunize all children referred by the family physician or requested by parents or guardian.

The Schick and toxin-antitoxin is supplied by the Massachusetts State Department of Health laboratory on the same basis as antitoxin.

The annual birth rate of Boston averages about 20,000 and the Boston Health Department hopes, with the co-operation of the physicians and the public, to Schick and immunize this group as soon as possible. This is a big undertaking, and the success and rapidity of the work depends not only on popular opinion but also on the facilities offered by the department.

CONCLUSION.

School Age.

1. Large groups are readily accessible, easily controlled, supervised and followed up.
2. School age groups are responsive to education and to health work and can be made to understand the importance of the procedure.
3. The school child can carry the story of diphtheria prevention into the home and prevail upon parents to have the younger children tested and immunized.
4. The co-operation of the school and health authorities will enhance the efforts and further edudational propaganda.
5. As the general public comes to learn through the school children of the simplicity of the test and the practical harmlessness of the toxin-antitoxin injections, the application of both to the younger and more susceptible groups would follow as a matter of course.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. Physicians, laymen and educators to aid and abet in promulgating this new departure in preventive medicine.
2. Parents to avail themselves of the opportunity to protect their children without expense.
3. Sufficient publicity through press, public lectures, and demonstrations, to thoroughly familiarize the public in the great value of the saving of lives and prevention of diphtheria,—and
4. The entire population to lend its moral support to the praiseworthy effort of the chief executive of the City of Boston—Mayor Curley.

REPORT OF TRANSIT DEPARTMENT.

The following report has been submitted by Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the Transit Commission, relative to service for the month of May:

CITY OF BOSTON,
TRANSIT DEPARTMENT, June 10, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The following statement is respectfully submitted in relation to the work of this department during the month of May, 1922:

The construction work on the Maverick Square Station of the East Boston Tunnel has progressed satisfactorily. The rate of progress which has shown that the work has been proceeding ahead of our schedule and below our estimate of cost is being maintained. The number of employees has increased fifty-two, and of this number thirty are veterans.

The work of enlargement of stairways at Park Street Under is proceeding satisfactorily, and a contract for furnishing and placing finish on the walls, ceilings and parapets is about to be awarded. In addition, repair work for the Public Works Department has been carried out on the following bridges: Dartmouth Street, Shawmut Avenue, Dover Street, Summer Street and Broadway. The rebuilding of the Dover Street Bridge has been completed and the bridge is open for traffic.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

MAY OCCUPY COMMON.

Mayor Curley, in an endeavor to relieve some of the suffering incident to heated spells during the present summer has arranged with the Park Commissioner to allow the public to sleep on the grass plots on the Common and has also requested Police Commissioner Wilson to make proper arrangements for the policing of the Common during such periods.

The Mayor has also arranged with the Park Commission for the placing of benches on the Dover Street Bridge and the Charlestown Bridge for public use. Furthermore he has ordered the Acting Fire Commissioner to have the streets, in the vicinity of the various fire houses, flushed at intervals during the day and early evening. The bath houses will also be opened.

NOTABLE APPOINTMENT.

The City of Boston has received definite assurance that Mr. Nelson P. Lewis, one of the best equipped city planning experts in America, will accept an appointment as general consultant to the City Planning Board.

Mr. Lewis was born in New York, February 1, 1856. He was educated at St. Stephens College, Annandale, New York, where he received the degrees of A.B. and L.L.D., graduating from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York, as a civil engineer in 1879.

He served for thirty years as chief engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of New York City, and was for two years president of the National Conference on City Planning. He has at various times served as president of the American Society for Municipal Improvements, of the American Road Builders' Association, of the Municipal Engineers of the City of New York, and vice president of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Mr. Lewis is the author of "The Planning of the Modern City," consisting of a review of the principles governing city planning. He has also published numerous reports, papers and addresses relating especially to highway construction, pavements and city planning.

He was a member of the delegation of American Engineers visiting France in December, 1918, at the request of French officials to advise on problems of reconstruction after the war. He also served as the representative of the city of New York at the International Congress of cities at Ghent in 1913, and at International Road Congresses held in Paris, Brussels and London. At the present time he is in charge of the physical survey of New York and its environs under the plan recently outlined by the Russell Sage Foundation.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon June 10 the Mayor approved a contract with Maynard & Walsh for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, June 9, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Maynard & Walsh, 22 Centre street, Cambridge, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the Fleischmann Construction Company for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, June 9, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to the Fleischmann Construction Company, 15 Astor street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 12 the Mayor approved a contract with David Feldman for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, June 9, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to David Feldman, 22A Crawford street, Roxbury, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 14 the Mayor approved a contract for widening and setting edgestones in West Eighth and E streets, South Boston, with the division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, June 13, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to widen and set edgestone at the corner of West Eighth street and E street, South Boston, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $500. This is an assessable street, and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

Upon June 12 the Mayor approved the building of sewerage works in South Boston, with the department force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, June 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is respectfully requested to build, with the department force, an 18-inch pipe flushing sewer and one flushing gate manhole, across Northern avenue, about 530 feet east of D street, South Boston, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,600. This work, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Supply Department.

Upon June 9 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for one five-passenger touring car. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, June 3, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for same to the Boston Buick Company, 97 Massachusetts avenue, for furnishing one Model 22-45 Buick five-passenger touring car to the Street Cleaning and Oiling Service at a price of $1,525 delivered.

This car is bought with the approval of the Commissioner of Public Works as being the best suited for use in that department.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of Commonwealth terrace, from Commonwealth avenue to Allston street, Brighton district, as a highway.

The highway and the land, exclusive of trees and structures, in which an easement for street purposes is taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Northwest by Commonwealth avenue, forty and 24/100 feet on a curve of twenty-nine hundred thirty-nine and 10/100 feet radius; northeast by the northeasterly line of said Commonwealth terrace as hereby laid out, four hundred forty-five and 14/100 feet; southeast by Allston street, forty feet; and southwest by the southwesterly line of said Commonwealth terrace as hereby laid out, four hundred forty and 77/100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intenton to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly and southwesterly sides of Commonwealth terrace, from Commonwealth avenue to Allston street, within a maximum depth of about eighty-one feet, will receive benefit or advantage other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against them herein.

APPEAL OF MAYOR FOR LOWER FARE.

Mayor Curley addressed the following letter to Governor Channing H. Cox upon the 10th instant in further appeal for legislation for a five-cent fare within the city limits of Boston:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
June 10, 1922.

Hon. Channing H. Cox, Governor of the Commonwealth, State House, Boston, Mass.:

Your Excellency,—I cannot allow the adjournment of the Legislature without once more appealing to you for action looking to a reduction of the street railway fares in the metropolitan district.

Since my request to you for aid earlier in the session the demonstration of popular demand for a five-cent fare is such as to warrant, if it does not require me to urge the matter again.

I cannot believe that you will be indifferent to what the people interested in this matter have shown they so unanimously desire.

My suggestion that an appeal be made to the courts to set aside the Public Control Bill for fraud in its passage was negatived by the opinion of the Attorney-General. Every effort which I have instituted or approved since that opinion has been defeated by the party in control in the Rules Committee, without whose aid I have not been able to get any measure before the Legislature.

The final action of the Legislature was to provide for an investigation of this whole matter by the Public Utilities Commission. This measure I could not approve because I believe the people demand not words but action.

There has been plenty of time for investigation. What the people demand is relief from this burden. But an order for investigation shows at least an interest in the subject and I believe would result in the recommendation of the legislation which I have demanded.

By the action of the Senate, however, on Thursday, even this measure is threatened with rejection, for the Senate substituted for this report in favor of an investigation, a bill providing for the construction of the Dorchester Tunnel.

I am extremely desirous that this section of the metropolitan district with its population in excess of 160,000 should have rapid transit at the earliest possible day.

Yet I deem the question of a five-cent fare for Boston as of primary importance because it affects the entire district.

This action of the Senate discloses plainly a strategic move of that body to put an end to the consideration of a five-cent fare for months to come—an almost incredible indifference to the popular wish and demand.

This substitution was entirely unnecessary, as both bills might well have been considered together.

The only relief possible from the situation thus threatened is in executive action.

I earnestly hope that you, as Governor of the Commonwealth, will not permit the prorogation of the Legislature without the enactment of some legislation which will provide relief which the people of Boston and the metropolitan district have so clearly demanded.

I think you must be in accord with me in the belief that the refusal by the Legislature, even to investigate the subject, is indefensible.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

REJECTION OF CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved three claims against the city, in two of which no amounts were specified and the other one amounted to $600 and are classified as follows:

Against the Police Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Public Works Department, two, in one of which no amount was specified, and the other one amounted to $600.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of Dakota road as a highway, from Westville street to Dakota street, Dorchester district, with the name of Kingman road or some other distinctive name.

The highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures, in which an easement for street purposes is taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Northwest by Westville street, thirty-three and 5/100 feet; northwest by the northeasterly line of said Kingman road as hereby laid out, three hundred fifteen and 26/100 feet; southeast by Dakota street, thirty-three feet; and southwest by the southwesterly line of said Kingman road as hereby laid out, three hundred seventeen and 15/100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly and southwesterly sides of Kingman road, from Westville street to Dakota street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against them herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Kingman road, Dorchester Assessment Plan, April 14, 1922, F. C. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

ELEVATED ESCAPES COSTS.

Mayor Curley received word upon the 12th instant from Harry M. Steward, superintendent of maintenance of way of the Boston Elevated system, that on July 1 the provision in the statute of 1897, exempting the cities and towns through which the system operates from any cost of street construction between the tracks, would expire. This means that each city and town will be obliged henceforth to maintain the pavement of the Elevated street franchise as well as the rest of the highways. The cost is estimated at $500,000 annually to the City of Boston.

The Mayor immediately summoned Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan and Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of the Public Works Department. These gentlemen expressed their surprise that the provision of the 1897 statute had not been abrogated by the act of 1918, which provided for the operation of the system by public trustees. The situation was intensified by the absence of any hint on the part of the Elevated trustees, during the conferences over the five-cent fare project, that the Boston Elevated system would soon have relief from a heavy annual expenditure for street work.

Two weeks ago, when the trustees met with Mayors Curley and Quinn, and representatives of other cities and towns and discussed Mayor Curley's appeal for a five-cent fare, there was a free presentation on the part of the representatives of the Elevated company, of the expenses and receipts of the road. Chairman Jackson made no references to the immediate expiration of the twenty-five-year limitation. At another conference, held to discuss the question of a new Harvard Bridge, Attorney Barnum of the Elevated road, when asked what contribution might be expected of the Boston Elevated, replied that he would be obliged to take the matter up with the trustees. He did not hint, however, that the cities of Boston and Cambridge which are obliged to assume the major costs of the new bridge would soon be obliged to assume all expense of street paving between the tracks.

Mayor Curley said today that the notification merely emphasized the necessity for establishing a 5-cent fare and making up the annual deficit from the tax levy. It was a simple matter for the Elevated to have the right to build up the road and call upon the cities and towns to maintain the road as rebuilt. Soon after Mr. Steward's notification had been received, General Manager Dana of the Elevated system called at the Mayor's office and, as quoted by the Mayor, estimated that the annual expense on Boston for road construction would amount to $500,000.

The Mayor issued the following statement:

I have been notified by letter dated June 7 that the Boston Elevated Railway Company will pay for no more paving between its tracks after June 10, 1922. This means that the company will do no paving except when necessary in relocating or repairing its tracks, which is merely a work of restoring the paving it displaces. Hereafter whenever any city or town through which the Elevated operates paves a street it must bear the expense of paving between the tracks, or neglect it and thereby expose the municipality to suits for damages. The only apparent exception to this rule is where the obligation of paving was put on the Elevated in the original grants of locations. The result will be to put upon the cities and towns in the district served at least a million dollars a year additional expense.

This is a great burden on the cities and towns in the district. And the sad part of it is that the car riders get no reduction in fares. They, as well as the non-car riders, will pay in taxes the cost of such paving. It may surprise those who objected to raising by taxes a part of the cost of street railway service so as to reduce car fares to five cents, to learn that they will pay in taxes for paving between the tracks while the car rider gets no reduction from the ten-cent fare.

The result of the attempt to get a five-cent fare must be disappointing to the traveling public. The Legislature was appealed to for aid in attacking the validity of the 1918 act which guaranteed dividends and provided for rehabilitating the worn out plant of the company. The answer to this appeal was that the 1918 act could not be overthrown even though it were proved to have been procured by fraud and corruption.

Then I appealed for relief to the car rider by means of a fair distribution of the cost of service between the car riders and taxpayers on the ground that the whole community benefits from transportation, and that car riders and non-car riders should in equity share the cost. The Legislature rejected this appeal.

Then the hope remained that the Public Utilities Department would be authorized by the Legislature to investigate transportation service and rates in the metropolitan district. This might well have resulted in some measure of relief to the car riders. The Legislature first authorized the investigation and then, within a few days, killed it.

So, the legislative session ends. The car riders get no relief. The taxpayers must face new burdens.

But this is not the end. The next Legislature will be asked to relieve the Elevated from all taxes and other legal burdens still remaining. These proposals must be fought by the public, for they will not mean restoration of the five-cent fare. Other plans must be submitted to the next Legislature with the object of procuring a five-cent fare. The zone system should be studied by the public trustees in the meantime and I now put myself on record by publicly asking them to study and prepare a zone system with a five-cent fare for all of Boston and to have it ready for consideration by the next Legislature. I thank all persons who have co-operated with me in this, the people's fight, and urge them to close up the ranks and prepare for another attack next January.

WILL HONOR VISITORS.

The Park Department has adopted the recommendation of Mayor Curley, with reference to the designating of trees in honor of distinguished visitors who come to Boston, the custom to start in the spring of 1923.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 48.

Assignment Cards for Fire Alarm Boxes.

Arrangements have been made with the various deputy chiefs to install in each fire-alarm box a small assignment card (with special envelope) covering all responses to each individual box. These cards will shortly be forwarded to each division commander for proper distribution throughout the department.

On each of these cards is to be typewritten the response to the box, after which the same is to be placed in the fire-alarm box, so that operators, upon their arrival at the box, may send the necessary information to the officer in command at the fire, giving the said officer an idea of what apparatus will respond, and permit him to ascertain what location the apparatus should take on multiple alarm fires. On the reverse side of the card is to be typewritten the number of the box in which the card is placed and to which it refers. Furthermore, any changes made in assignments must also be made in these fire-alarm box cards.

These cards must be filled in neatly and correctly as they will be depended upon by officers in command at fires for information as to what apparatus and material they will have at their command.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner.

John O. Taber,
Chief of Department.

LAND-TAKING IN HYDE PARK.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land on Rosemont, Tileston and Windsor streets, Hyde Park district, containing approximately thirty-one thousand one hundred and ninety-four square feet, for school purposes.

The property taken is as follows:

A parcel of land, in Boston, supposed to belong to Edward J. Roach, bounded:

Southeast by Rosemont street, eighty-nine feet; southwest by Tileston street, forty-eight and 29/100 feet; northwest by land hereinafter described as taken from John Shepard, Jr., sixty-one and 95/100 feet; northeast by the same, forty feet; containing thirty hundred and nineteen square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, in Boston, supposed to belong to John Shepard, Jr., bounded:

Southeast by Rosemont street, one hundred and sixty feet; southwest by land hereinbefore described as taken from Edward J. Roach, forty feet; again southeast by the same, sixty-one and 95/100 feet; southwest by Tileston street, one hundred forty-four and 87/100 feet; northwest by Windsor street, one hundred forty and 80/100 feet; and northeast by other land supposed to belong to said Shepard, one hundred and sixty-five feet; containing twenty-eight thousand one hundred and seventy-five square feet, more or less.

The Board determines that the under-mentioned estates sustain damages by the taking made on Rosemont, Tileston and Windsor streets, Hyde Park district, for school purposes, under the order of the Board, in the amounts hereinafter set against them, and awards said amounts therefor:

	Amount.
Edward J. Roach, 3,019 square feet	$225
John Shepard, Jr., 28,175 square feet	2,000
Total	$2,225

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time for the completion of the contract made with Frank Williams & Co., for laying and relaying water pipes in Balsam street, Dorchester, Bellamy street, Brighton, Bellevue street, La Grange street, Martin street, Moreland street and Wren street, West Roxbury, awarded April 14, 1922, has been granted from May 20 to June 17, 1922, sixty-four days.

The above extension of time was requested for the reason that they were delayed in the work owing to lack of main pipe at the water yard.

An extension of time for the completion of the contract made with Thomas D. Russo, for laying high pressure fire pipes in Atlantic avenue, near Pearl street, Edison Electric alley, between 512 and 514 Atlantic avenue, and Battery street and the adjoining property of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, city proper, dated November 12, 1920, has been granted from July 1, 1922, to September 1, 1922, sixty-two days.

The above extension of time is requested for the reason that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company are not yet ready to allow the contractor to proceed with the paving of the Edison Electric alley.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 44.

Harvey B. Yates, formerly a patrolman attached to Division 10, was on May 31, 1922, dismissed from the Police Department of the City of Boston for conduct unbecoming an officer, and due and sufficient notice of such dismissal was given in writing on June 1, 1922, to the said Harvey B. Yates, giving the reasons therefor.

The said Harvey B. Yates, on June 3, 1922, requested in writing a hearing on said charge, and the Police Commissioner set down Thursday, June 8, 1922, at two o'clock p. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place of said hearing and duly notified said Yates.

The said Harvey B. Yates was present at said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses, and the case being continued for completion to Friday, June 9, 1922, at two o'clock p. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, the said Harvey B. Yates was again present at said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses.

Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner failed to find the said Harvey B. Yates guilty as charged and set aside the finding of the Trial Board, and it is hereby ordered that the said Harvey B. Yates be reinstated as a patrolman of the Police Department of the City of Boston, that his suspension be lifted, both to take effect as of June 12, 1922, and that pay be allowed him during the term of his suspension.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved of the following construction work:

An 18-inch pipe flushing sewer and one flushing gate manhole, across Northern avenue at a point about 530 feet east of D street, in the South Boston district, at an estimated cost of $1,600.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

MAYORS OF BOSTON.

In its 99 years of existence as a city Boston has had 36 elected Mayors and five ex officio Acting Mayors. Of the 36 men who have held the office for one year or more, five were elected for other than consecutive terms and 25 were re-elected one or more times. Those born within the present limits of Boston numbered 21; in towns near Boston, 8; in neighboring New England States, 5; in Ireland, 2. The Mayor longest in office was Mayor Lincoln, who served 3 years ending 1860 and then 4 years ending 1866. Next in length of service were the first Mayor Quincy and Mayor Fitzgerald, who served 6 years each. Those who served 4 years were Mayors Prince, O'Brien, Mathews, (third) Quincy, Hart, Curley and Peters. Mayor Collins was in office nearly 4 years, his death occurring 3½ months before his second term expired. Those serving 3 years were Mayors Otis, Eliot, Chapman, (second) Quincy, Bigelow, Shurtleff and Cobb; 2 years, Mayors Wells, Lyman, Brimmer, Seaver, Smith, Rice, Wightman, Gaston, Pierce (22 months) and Hibbard; 1 year, Mayors Phillips, Armstrong, Davis, Norcross, Green, Palmer, Martin and Curtis. The five Acting Mayors were Chairmen (Board of Aldermen) Parker, Leavitt, Allen, Cutter and Whelton.

Mayor Otis was Speaker of Massachusetts House of Representatives, President of Senate, United States Representative and United States Senator before becoming Mayor. Mayor Armstrong was Lieutenant-Governor and at times Acting Governor before serving as Mayor. Mayors Rice and Gaston served 3 years and 1 year (respectively) as Governor, after their terms as Mayor. Mayors Collins, Curley, Fitzgerald, Peters, Pierce and Rice have represented Boston in the lower house of Congress, Mayor Peters having also served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Ex-Mayor Curtis was appointed Police Commissioner in 1919 for term of five years. Ex-Mayor Quincy died in 1919, and Ex-Mayor Green in 1918. (See annual City Doc., Boston Municipal Register, for full list of Mayors from 1822 to 1921, with place and date of birth, years of service and date of death.)

City Clerk:

Dear Sir,—You are hereby notified that I have received the resignation of Henry C. McKenna, as Soldiers' Relief Commissioner, and I have accepted same to take effect June 8, 1922.

Very truly yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

RESIGNATION OF ART COMMISSIONER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 29, 1922.
James Donovan, Esq.,
City Clerk:

Dear Sir,—You are hereby notified that I received the resignation of William V. Kellen as Art Commissioner, and accepted same May 15, 1922.

Very truly yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

RESIGNATION OF PUBLIC WELFARE OVERSEER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 29, 1922.
James Donovan, Esq.,
City Clerk:

Dear Sir,—You are hereby notified that I received the resignation of Dr. Joseph B. Lyons as Overseer of the Public Welfare, and accepted same May 17, 1922.

Very truly yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—LEGISLATION CONCERNING WILLIAM J. MAGEE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 31, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am returning herewith, without my approval, your order of the 15th instant favoring legislation to authorize the city to reimburse William J. Magee for damage to his automobile by fire apparatus.

The Committee on Claims having rejected this claim once and there being no legal liability, I can see no reason for approving it.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—RETIREMENT OF OWEN McDERMOTT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 31, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am returning herewith without my approval your order of the 15th instant requesting the Retirement Board for Laborers to retire Owen McDermott of the Public Works Department.

The report received, which I am transmitting herewith, from the doctor who checked up on this case would indicate that this man is able to work for many years to come. Consequently I cannot approve his retirement.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

A new layout for the Franklin Park links has been made by Mr. Duncan Ross. Part of the money has been expended and it will be necessary to get an additional $5,000 to install a water supply, and to buy and lay sods for the new greens.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $16,000 be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the maintenance and improvements of the Common and parks in existence on January 12, 1887, as follows:

Arnold Arboretum, Improvements	$6,000
Franklin Park Buildings, Improvements, etc.	5,000
Zoological Garden, Improvements	5,000

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

FILLING OF CARROLL'S POND.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 27, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication from the chairman, Board of Park Commissioners, requesting an additional appropriation of $5,000 for the filling of Carroll's Pond, and I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Boston, June 3, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have your letter of May 16, in answer to my communication of May 15, relative to an additional appropriation of $5,000 for the completion of the work of filling Carroll's Pond. The engineer's estimate, after taking soundings, is as follows:

To fill the land owned by the City of Boston—from 5,000 to 6,000 cubic yards is needed. This filling will drive the water into the land of private owners, part of which is in Dedham. This is a very small area, not more than 1,000 to 1,500 square feet. This land must be filled in order to protect the residents of the district. who attribute the great sickness among the children of the locality to diphtheria and other like diseases that are prevalent in swampy lands. $5,000 will complete the work.

Personal inspection proves that the nearby residents are very much worked up over the failure of the city to abate this nuisance in past years. Two complaints have been received the last two weeks from the Boston Board of Health, and they have been assured by me that there is every probability that the work will be completed at once.

In anticipation of the appropriation, the department has received bids for material at 75 cents per cubic yard,—a very low price. This work, of course, cannot be undertaken until the appropriation is available.

I cannot urge on your Honor too strongly the necessity of haste in this matter, as the warm weather is approaching, and I fear for the health of those living in the neighborhood. It is probably the worst mosquito breeding spot in the City of Boston.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea, Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $5,000, to the appropriation for Park Departments, F. Special Items, Carroll's Pond Filling, $5,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PROTEST AGAINST DISCRIMINATION AT HARVARD.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Whereas, A free and unhampered opportunity for education has ever been regarded as essential to the preservation of the rights and liberties of the people; and

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States and of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts have guaranteed to the people equality of opportunity; and

Whereas, The citizens of Boston have ever encouraged the diffusion of learning, and have at great expense to themselves endeavored to offer their inhabitants opportunity to prepare for higher institutions of learning, realizing that the welfare of the city is promoted by education; and

Whereas, It has come to the attention of the Boston City Council that the President and fellows of Harvard University, acting in conjunction with the faculty of Arts and Sciences of Harvard College, contemplate a restriction upon admission, based upon religious and racial grounds; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council express its disapproval of any such discrimination, and condemn as unAmerican and prejudicial to the interest of the city any policy which may deny to certain American citizens the same opportunities for education and advancement as may be accorded to others.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I feel that there is not much to be said in regard to the stand taken by those in power at the great university across Charles river, particularly in view of some of the denials in the Boston press this morning. But I believe it has been known, and known for many long years, that the president of Harvard College saw fit at a certain time a few years ago to go to Washington in opposition to a man who had been a friend of the people here; and I might mention in this connection the name of the man, Mr. Brandeis, who at the time had been appointed to the Supreme Bench of the United States. The president of Harvard College went to Washington with the robes of Harvard College wrapped around him for the purpose of using religious and race prejudice against the confirmation of the appointment of Mr. Brandeis by the United States Senate. But this time some wires must have broken. A little publicity got out which they never thought was going to get out. Of course, with their wonderful control of many things in this country, newspapers included, they had a colored story in the morning papers to the effect that they did not intend to carry out what it was claimed that they intended to carry out. But they did not deny the fact that the matter was discussed. Of course it is the Jewish race today, but it was the race I came from yesterday. What the Jews are going through today at Harvard is what the Catholics had to go through some years ago. They are prejudiced to the core out there, but they have been very careful in expressing it in other years. This time, however, they have overstepped the bounds of decency, and I feel, for one, that if they are going to carry the thing any further, all exemption of Harvard property, comprising some of the largest mercantile business houses within this town which are owned by Harvard College, should be stopped. Certainly any such exemption should be eliminated if they do not give men from every race the same opportunity. I feel that the resolution will go through. I feel that a lot of men who have gone through Harvard are not in accord with the decision of those in power. I do not think the resolution is a very drastic one. Perhaps it is not as drastic as one that I would like to put in here, but I thought that if I put in one that was not very drastic it would have the unanimous approval of the members. If, however, it does not go through I will have one that will have a deeper sting than this one does. I do not say that with any sort of a threat, so as to have members vote for the resolutions, but I am going to continue in my efforts in this matter if the present resolution does not go through. When it comes to some of these educated men who are in charge at Harvard, I will simply say that there is sometimes such a thing as too much education. I feel that sometimes those men have had so much education that their minds are narrowed to the point where it is almost impossible to do anything with them.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I rise simply to correct a statement which the councilor on my right has made He has intimated to the Council that buildings owned by Harvard College which are used for mercantile purposes are tax exempt. He is mistaken. It is only property that is used for educational purposes that is tax exempt. For instance, a part of the Jordan Marsh property which is owned by Harvard and the Orpheum Theater property pay taxes, but the Harvard Medical School is not taxed. I think there has been an erroneous impression on the part of some of the public, on the part of a great many people in fact, that, as the gentleman has said, all the property owned in this city by Harvard College is tax exempt. But that is an error.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I find myself in complete and absolute accord with the sentiment in this resolution and in accord with the remarks made by my esteemed colleague opposite, but I hesitate to act too hastily in a matter of this sort. In reading the third paragraph of the resolution as presented I see that it says, "Whereas, It has come to the attention of the Boston City Council that the President and Fellows of Harvard University, acting in conjunction with the Faculty of Arts and Sciences of Harvard College, contemplate restriction upon admission based upon religious and racial grounds." That may be true, but it says here that "it has come to the attention of the Boston City Council." It has not come to the attention of one member of the Boston City Council as yet. There is an honest element of doubt existing there, and it seems to me unwise for the Boston City Council to act hastily in the matter. I believe a better policy would be to get somebody connected with the university—either the president or somebody in executive authority—to explain to us the situation, so that we may ascertain the facts from them. Let us not be swayed by propaganda that may be issued through the public press and that may not be absolutely true. If it is true that the sentiments referred to here are the sentiments entertained by Harvard University, I would be very glad indeed to vote for the resolution as presented; but I would like to know that as a positive fact, as a certainty, before agreeing that that direct and positive charge is justified. I think it is hasty and ill-judged for us here to come to a conclusion until we have got the facts from some recognized authority.

President BRICKLEY—The order will be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I will move that the rule be suspended and that it go upon its passage.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I have just come into the building inside of ten minutes. I could not have a chance to read the resolution as presented by the gentleman opposite or to hear the remarks upon it; nor have I had an opportunity to learn the situation upon which it is based. I think the matter ought to go to the Executive Committee, and I trust that the rule will not be suspended at this time.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, if it was a large document, one of many pages, I would be glad to withdraw the motion. But it is only a one-page document, and I believe anybody can in a few minutes get the gist of the resoluton. I am surprised to hear any member of the Boston City Council say that he is no more alive to the situation here in Boston than to admit that he does not know about what is in the air in this respect. I am really surprised to hear a man elected by the voters of the City of Boston to membership in this body say that he does not know the feeling that exists. That is why I want the resolution to go on its passage, not because Coun. Watson was not here, but I believe the document is a very simple one and I believe that anybody in Boston who has been alive knows that the same thing has existed before, but never was made public by those in power at Harvard until the present time. Why, I as a boy can remember the prejudice that we had to suffer in the past. Many of the boys of our race did not get the recognition in athletics or otherwise that they should have received until within the last few years but on account of their superior qualities they have been compelled in later years to give them that recognition. When we are told that we should get this from better authority, what does that mean? Who does it mean? President Lowell? He has gone on record as going to Washington, as I said in my former remarks, for no other reason than to protest against the confirmation of lawyer Brandeis's appointment to the Supreme Court, and the only reason for that objection was that Mr. Brandeis was a Jew. I do not feel that there should be any hesitation in acting in this matter. I do not feel that there is any necessity of sitting down and considering it in Executive Committee, and I at this time do not feel that I can withdraw my motion to suspend the rule. I still press that motion.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, since Friday afternoon at five o'clock I have been where I could not read or see a newspaper. I don't know to what this matter pertains, I know nothing about it. I am just as friendly to the Jews of Boston or the country as any member of this Council, but I feel that there is not an intelligent Jew in Boston who would not indorse my action in asking that the matter go to the Executive Committee. I do not see what harm can come from its going there. Our meetings are public. President Lowell has no string on me, and neither has Harvard College or the Goo-Goos. But let us not put ourselves into the position of being attacked for acting hastily on a proposition that should receive at least a few minutes' consideration. I did not hear the gentleman's remarks concerning the necessity for the order. He had concluded when I arrived here, and Coun. Hagan was talking. I have not had a chance in the world to know what it is all about, and as at least a reasonably intelligent man I demand an opportunity to have the matter considered in executive session.

Coun HAGAN Mr President, I can hardly let the remarks of my esteemed colleague opposite (Coun. Moriarty) pass unnoticed. His remark that a member of the City Council must be dead if he was not conversant with conditions, is something that I think needs correction. I took no exception whatever to his remarks. I read, however, a part of the third paragraph in his resolution, which is positive in its statement, and I said it was not clear that that was true, and I asked that somebody in executive authority be brought before the City Council, if they would condescend or be willing to come, and give us the information at first hand. The gentleman puts into my mouth words that I never uttered. He says I have asked for better authority. I said nothing of the sort. I asked for competent executive authority to give us the information. It seems a simple request, and I am amazed at the gentleman's anxiety to push this through without having it go to the Executive Committee to receive the consideration it properly deserves. If the order has merit it can stand on its own feet and make its way through the Executive Committee without any trouble.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, that statement might be true of every order introduced here. There is order after order introduced, upon which extension of the rule is asked and is generally given. I think that Coun. Watson had a very just cause for asking reference, not hearing the resolution read and coming in after I had concluded, and when Coun. Hagan, if I may be allowed to use his name, had almost concluded. But this resolution is short, and the gentleman who was not present when I offered it can very easily see what it means. The gentleman opposite (Coun. Hagan) uses the language of Harvard more than the language that I use, and if he did not he would not have got the Good Government endorsement. It is the people who endorse him that he is here trying to protect today, because it is Harvard that dominates the Good Government Association, let alone Harvard College across the water. The gentleman wants time to get in touch with the people who made it possible for him to get that endorsement. I don't need to get in touch with those people to make up my mind and I don't need to have anyone come here and tell me that the conditions that exist in Harvard are being found out now for the first time.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have two Harvard graduates sitting with us as members of the Council, I have not heard either of them rise and ask that the matter be postponed; and if there is anybody, I suppose, who has the interests of Harvard at heart, it ought to be the two men who carry sheepskins from that institution. But neither one of them rose to his feet. I am not a candidate for office this year, so I am not taking this position today so that I can use it on the stump. So nobody can criticise me at this time as using it for political purposes. I felt, and I feel now, that after Coun. Watson has had an opportunity to read the resolution he will agree to withdraw his objection and will not insist that it go to the Executive Committee. That is the reason why I took the floor at this time, to give him an opportunity to go over the one-sheet resolution, so that he may find out what is in it.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman opposite what it is that Harvard College is doing that calls for this resolution, I not having been present when you introduced the resolution and made your speech.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, the news papers have stated within the last week that they have got together out at Harvard and decided that they were going to cut down the number of Jews whom they were going to admit into the institution.

Coun. HAGAN—Did the gentleman say the newspapers or a newspaper?

Coun. MORIARTY—I said the newspapers. This morning's Post to make it definite, says that they have postponed their action for one year; and if it was not proven to me that they had come to that conclusion, the postponing of it for a year shows conclusively to me that that has been their action.

Coun. WATSON—For the very reason the gentleman states that a Boston newspaper this morning prints something that he basis this order on, I want it to go into the Executive Committee, so that I may read the newspaper. I don't doubt the gentleman's veracity a particle, but I don't want to be made a monkey of, voting for some proposition brought into this body on the spur of the moment and which I know nothing about. I don't doubt Coun. Moriarty or any other member, but I want to be fortified as he feels that he is fortified. I want to read the Boston Post article. It may be one of the dreams that they indulge in frequently, and the gentleman himself has accused the papers of having dreams. I want something authentic. I want to know if there has been a protest upon this matter from the representative Jews of the community? If this is such a momentous matter as he claims why is it that there is not a delegation here to ask us to take some action? Why is there not somebody here with a remonstrance because of the newspaper reports he has referred to? I want also to know the father of the resolution, aside from the gentleman who introduced it. Who inspired it? That might be sufficient for me to scatter to the winds any possible objection I might have to taking action. I know as many of our citizens called Jews as any other member, and it is strange that nothing has been brought to my attention concerning this matter. But if it is one of those newspaper stories, worked up to increase circulation, I dont intend to be a tail to that kite. If it is a genuine movement, and has merit back of it, I will co-operate in any way I can. If there is the slightest attempt to discriminate against any of God's people, if such an institution as Harvard is becoming bigoted again as it was in the early days, I want to know it, and then if any vote of mine for a resolution will help create sentiment against such action, I will be the first one to take that step. But I do want to know something about it, and I am entitled to that knowledge. The member opposite (Coun. Moriarty) is not for one moment going to suggest that I hold any brief for Harvard College, because, considering the gentleman's limited education, mine was even more limited. I have I am sorry to say, a bigoted feeling towards Harvard College, but I do not intend to be used as a tool by any newspaper or newspapers to pass resolutions on their hearsay, when they may be interested in having action taken through ulterior motives. Mr. President, I trust that the member opposite will give me an opportunity to read and to consider this resolution, as well as the subject matter upon which it is based. The resolution, as I read it, does not seem to mean much and does not appear to me to want to read the Post article on which he basis this order of his. I want to see if it is what they state, if it is quoted correctly, and whether there has been any objection or reply from those attacked in response to what appeared in the Boston Post. I want to know more about it and I know the gentleman, with his usual fairness, is going to give me the opportunity to read the Post article, and perhaps after I have done so there will be no stronger supporter of his position than I.

Coun. MORIARTY—The councilor on the other side says he wants an opportunity. The matter was thrashed out on Beacon Hill last week and the Post said there was a conference. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House were in touch with Harvard officials and after a consultation the matter was postponed for a year. The councilor (Coun. Watson) has said that he has been where he could not read the newspapers. I believe the councilor, but I say that any other member of the Council who claims not to have seen anything about this matter in the papers, although he has been where he could have read the newspapers, must have been dead. I repeat the statement. This has been in the Boston newspapers for the last three or four days. I don't believe anybody here will accuse me of being in touch with any of the newspapers, because none of them are my friends. I feel, Mr. President, that the resolution should absolutely go on its passage.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, do I understand that the gentleman withdraws his motion to suspend the rule?

President BRICKLEY—The Chair understands that he does not.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, in order that my position on this proposition may be made clear, I want it understood that my desire that this be referred to the Executive Committee, for report back today, is merely so that I may get as much light as any other member of the body has on the subject, and for no other reason. I don't desire to have it tied up in a knot. I am not at all in the position of opposing the resolution, but I do desire an opportunity to look further into it, and I will then stand prepared to vote "yes" or "no" on it today. If I am compelled to vote now, I shall feel obliged to vote against suspension of the rule, in order that I may have at least an hour's time to read some of the newspaper reports. If that motion does not prevail, I shall refrain from voting on the resolution, because I have not sufficient information to vote even half intelligently.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I do not intend to enter into this controversy, but I think perhaps the matter may be straightened out to the entire satisfaction of all the members of the Council if action on Coun. Moriarty's resolution is postponed until the end of the calendar. If that meets with Coun. Moriarty's approval, I would make that suggestion. If that does not prevail, I am prepared to vote for the resolution now.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am satisfied to have that action taken, but I am not satisfied to have the matter go to the Executive Committee, where it can be laid over. In executive session it takes only five votes to lay the matter on the table, and they are not going to put that over on me. Of course, as a matter of courtesy, if a matter is laid on the table in executive session, you cannot have it taken up on the floor of the Council. I am not going to get into that trap.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman I will say that if the matter goes into Executive Committee, as far as my vote is concerned, it is going to be reported back here today, whether it is going to be voted upon favorably or to be licked. That is my position. You needn't worry about my vote.

The Council voted to defer action until the end of the calendar.

Later in the session President Brickley called the matter up, and the question came on suspension of the rule for the passage of the resolution.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I am going to ask Coun. Moriarty to consider a very mild amendment to his resolution which would remove the objection that I personally have to it. As I said in talking upon this matter before, the sentiments contained in the resolution meet with my entire approval. Paragraph 3, however, makes a very positive statement, to which I am not clear that I want to agree. I refer to the paragraph which says, "Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Boston City Council.' Now, it has come to the attention of the members of the Boston City Council through the press. I have read what has appeared, and I have read contradictions in other papers, and there is naturally a great deal of confusion in my mind. I don't want to make a positive statement or accuse these executives of doing something that they have no intention of doing. So my suggestion is that the good sentiment contained in the resolution might pass this body if the gentleman would agree to cross out of the first line in the third paragraph the words "It has come to the attention of the Boston City Council," and insert in place thereof the words "It has been stated in the Boston newspapers." That is a matter of fact. It has been stated in certain Boston newspapers, although denied in others. Nobody can take exception to our passing a resolution where we stick to the facts. I think my amendment is very mild, suggesting the words, "It has been stated in the Boston newspapers." I would like to vote for the entire resolution with the amendment in, but I cannot bring myself to believe that we ought to make a positive statement here in the form in which it is placed in this paragraph, convicting, as it were, the trustees and overseers of Harvard College of doing something, or intending to do something, when we don't know whether they intend to do it or not.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I am inclined to vote for the amendment, but I think it would be better to say "certain newspapers." I think that would express the situation more exactly, because I have seen it in more than one newspaper, if I remember correctly, although not in all of them. It may have been referred to in the others, but my recollection is that it was perhaps in not more than one, or possibly two.

Coun. HAGAN—Well, Mr. President, I will agree to that, I think it may have been in more than one paper.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, if I was as sure of my ground as the gentleman who introduces the resolution seems to be of his, I would gladly vote for the resolution without any amendment. In fact, I probably shall vote for it any way; but I think, in order to protect ourselves from possible criticism, it might be well to set forth the fact that the statement has been brought to our attention through the press. If Harvard College comes back and proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that nothing of the sort was ever contemplated, we might find that we had been placed in a ridiculous position, subject to criticism which we ought not to be obliged to bear. The proposed amendment does not change the sense of the resolution at all. The resolution as originally introduced says that it has come to the attention of the Boston City Council, and the proposed amendment would simply state that it has been stated in the press. I understand that all the information we have got concerning the matter has come from the press, that not a member has been approached concerning it. I have heard nothing to indicate that any member has been approached, apart from the information that has been in the papers. I understand simply that it has been brought to the attention of the members of the Council in the Post and perhaps in some other papers. It seems to me that the amendment ought to be sufficient, and I trust that it will prevail.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President I realize that, as far as the spirit of the resolution is concerned, my brother councilor's amendment is not going to change it one iota. But why put a cloak on? I don't care whether anybody knows where I got the information, whether I got it from the newspapers or any place else. I don't think I owe any apology to anybody as to where I got the information, or where any other member got the information. It has been drawn to our attention, whether by newspapers or any other source. But do you want to amend that so that it will appear that it has been brought to our attention by the newspapers? I feel that the resolution is perfect.

Coun. WATSON—With your usual modesty.

Coun. MORIARTY—I did not write it. Nevertheless, I think that the resolution is perfect, and I believe that everybody else thinks that it is perfect. But somebody got in a hole, and now they are trying to dig out, so that they will not have to pull the hole in after them. That is the situation. There has been some talk, and they might be criticized for being against the resolution. The member designated a certain newspaper, but I think it has been in all of them. I think perhaps the Telegram may have been referred to, and everybody was afraid to be with the Telegram. The Telegram has never done anything for me. But I feel that the resolution should go through. I feet that, if the matter had been taken up with me before we came back into our meeting from executive session, I might have agreed to an amendment, but I believe that it at least should have been taken up with me. That is the custom here, but it seems that I am not in on customs. I will say to Coun. Watson that I feel that it is just the same kind of a move that was used in connection with the Baldwin place station, that the same sharp politics are being played on this as have been played on the Baldwin place station.

Coun. WATSON—Altogether different.

Coun. MORIARTY—You will remember my words last Monday or two weeks ago, that the old whip would be cracked today. It has been cracked, and we have come near to feeling the lash, through sharp politics. I feel that this resolution should go through as presented.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I cannot permit the last statement of the gentleman concerning the lashing of the whip to pass without comment. I don't know whether he referred to me or not in speaking of the lash. But certainly if I heard the lash of the whip I did not obey very promptly. After all, however, as far as the Council is concerned, it is a matter of votes. If you get votes enough the thing passes; if not, it is defeated. There is no sharp practice in the matter. I certainly feel that if it were a very great and momentous question, if there was a great amount of public interest in it, it would have been brought to our attention in some clear and decided manner. The gentleman said that the Post had an article, and I read the Post through, he assisting me. I did not find much in my quest. I found an article by Rabbi Wise, but he didn't say anything about Harard College. He used a lot of words, and that was all. However, I am going to vote for the amendment. Of course, nobody believes more in liberality in matters of race, religion and color, than I, and I will vote for the resolution in any event, finally. But I prefer not to have it laid open to criticism. Perhaps if we do not properly amend it we will simply make ourselves a laughing stock. The representatives of Harvard may come out with a statement showing that all this talk about Harvard prescribing a particular race has nothing to it, so that we will simply have been shooting into the air. However, I am not against the resolution. I am simply against our unnecessarily placing ourselves in a false position.

Coun. FORD——Mr. President, I am going to vote for the amendmnt, but I really see no difference in the resolution as it is proposed to amend it and as it was originally offered. If the amendment prevails, I want to state that I would have voted for the original if it had remained before th Council.

The question came on the adoption of the amendment.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I think I ought to prolong this meeting just a few moments, asking unanimous consent to make a statement. If Coun. Ford, opposite, a lawyer and a graduate of Harvard, sees no difference between the resolution as it is proposed to amend it and as it is originally offered, I certainly see no object in adopting the amendment.

President BRICKLEY—Does the gentleman withdraw the amendment?

Coun. HAGAN—No, Mr. President.

President BRICKLEY—The amendment is not withdrawn.

The amendment was adopted, inserting in the third paragraph, in place of the words "it has come to the attention of the Boston City Council,' the words "it has been stated in certain newspapers," yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Lane, Watson—5.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty, Walsh—4.

The resolution as amended was adopted, Coun. WATSON asking for the yeas and nays, yeas 9, nays 0.

CLOSING OF REGISTRY OF DEEDS OFFICE.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the office of the Registry of Deeds and the Registry of Probate be closed on week days, except Saturdays, at four o'clock p. m. from July 1 to September 1, 1922, inclusive.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

8. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) transferring $327.42 from Reserve Fund to Public Buildings Department—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

9. Report on petition of Mt. Lebanon Cemetery Association (referred May 15) for land for burial purposes—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That permission be granted to the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery Association to use land on Baker street for burial purposes, said land being bounded, viz.: Northeasterly by Baker street eight hundred and sixty-nine and 6-10ths feet; southeasterly by Brook Farm, so called, now of the Association of the Evangelical Lutheran Church for Works of Mercy, five hundred and ninety-two and 7-10ths feet; southwesterly, by said Brook Farm, now of said Church, four hundred and thirty-two and 3-10ths feet; northeasterly, again, by said Brook Farm, now of said Church, twenty-three hundred and ninety-six and 7-10ths feet, (2396.7); southwesterly, again, by said Brook Farm now of said Church, six hundred and thirty-four (634) feet; to land set off to Smith and Orange, under partition proceedings; northwesterly, by said land, set off to Smith and Orange, twenty-four hundred and fifty-five feet (2455) to a stake and stone, and northwesterly, again, by said land set off to Smith and Orange eight hundred and eighteen (818) feet to said Baker street at point forty (40) feet southeasterly from Smith's own land, containing fifty (50) acres more or less, being the same premises set off to Gottlieb F. Burkhadt by decree of Norfolk County Probate Court, April 22, 1874, all of which, is more particularly shown on plan by Whitman and Howard, Civil Engineers, dated March 1919 hereto annexed.

The report was accepted.

Coun. Walsh moved a suspension of the rule that the order might be put upon its passage.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, it being necessary under our rules to give a public hearing, I am voting "no," because I think a public hearing ought to be given before granting such a permit.

The rule was suspended, yeas 6, nays 2 (Coun. Gilbody not voting):

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Hagan, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Ford—2.

The order was passed, Coun. FORD calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 6, nays 3:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Hagan, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Ford, Gilbody—3.

10. Report on order (referred today) to close offices of Registry of Deeds and Registry of Probate week days, except Saturdays,

Report accepted; order passed.

11. Reports on communications from Street Commissioners for hearings on petitions to store and keep for sale gasolene—that the same be placed on file, viz.:

12. Communication (referred April 17); communication (referred May 8); communication (referred May 15).

Reports accepted; communications placed on file.

BALDWIN PLACE PLAYGROUND.

Coun. LANE, for the Committee on Finance, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred April 10) for loan of $70,000 for playground, Baldwin place—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order. The roll was called, and the order failed of passage (six votes being necessary for its passage), yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Lane, Watson—5.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty, Walsh—4.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of that vote.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Lane, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Moriarty, Walsh—3.

Coun. Moriarty—Mr. President, I move that we now take a vote on No. 1 on the calendar.

(The No. 1 referred to by Coun. Moriarty was not the No. 1 appearing at the head of the calendar, appointments, under unfinished business, but appeared at the end of the calendar, as follows: "Recommendations by the Mayor,—The following matter has been recommended by the Mayor for adoption by the City Council and becomes effective as indicated, unless previously rejected or withdrawn. In effect after June 9, 1922.

"1. Order for a loan of $70,000 for playground, Baldwin place. Filed April 10, 1922. Referred to the Committee on Finance."

President BRICKLEY—The motion is not in order, on account of the Baldwin place matter being before the Council.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, that is what I want to bring up. It is now before the Council.

President BRICKLEY—The Council has reconsidered the action whereby it refused to pass the order with reference to the Baldwin place property as reported by the Committee on Finance, and that matter is now before the Council.

Coun. MORIARTY—And that is the matter on which I move that we take action, Mr. President.

President BRICKLEY—I am now putting it to a vote.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I move that we recommit the matter to the Finance Committe.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I move that further consideration be deferred until next week.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would like to know the purpose of reconsideration. I voted to reconsider. I want to know why the gentleman moved to reconsider.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I want it active before the Council.

Coun. WATSON—Well, it will be active through being sent in by the Mayor again, will it not?

President BRICKLEY—The question is on Coun. Lane's motion to assign to the next meeting.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I had made a previous motion that we take immediate action, before Coun. Lane was recognized by the Chair.

President BRICKLEY—But the motion is out of order.

Coun. MORIARTY—I wish to disagree with the Chair, Mr. President. I will say that when it was reconsidered it was still before the Council for action. It was in the same category as it was prior to the Finance Committee reporting. It was on the calendar and, Mr. Chairman, I believe it is a proper matter for me to bring before the Council at this time.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I voted for the order which we have just voted to reconsider, but if anybody wants to risk a question about my turning a somersault, I simply want to say that I will turn one at any time, legitimately. If it is a question of attempting to put this through by a technicality, by camouflage, or by a trick, I am against it absolutely. I voted for the proposition on merit. If it cannot get six votes in this body on merit, it should not be passed. If the matter is reconsidered and referred to a committee and the date of June 9 passes, in my opinion the order becomes effective. If that is so, I don't propose to be a party to any such action, and if the members of this Council, all or any, desire to say that I am taking a somersault on the matter, I am perfectly willing to wear the title; but it is no worse than attempting to pass something through here by a technical, cunning trick. I don't know whether or not it is a trick by arrangement, or whether we have fallen on it by accident. I am not accusing any member of being crooked in the proposition or trying to do anything crooked, but I am not going to be a party to it regardless of who may criticise me or why.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I think the councilor opposite (Coun. Watson) is exactly right. I just told my friend on the left that I was for the proposition if we could get the votes, but never since we have been here have we allowed a measure to get by with sharp parliamentary procedure. It is not fair or right. Coun. Moriarty knows the situation, and knows that the matter would come into force, as stated on the calendar after the lapse of sixty days. I really think we should take a vote on the merits of the proposition. Of course, Coun. Lane has the matter in a hole, because his motion to lay on the table takes precedence of any motion Coun. Moriarty may make, and has to come before the City of Boston. I think in all fairness Coun. Lane ought to withdraw the motion to lay on the table and let us vote on the merits; and if there are not six votes here on the merits I don't think we ought by parliamentary procedure to allow the matter to stand in this way, no action being taken, and letting it go into force because of that fact. I don't think anybody here wants to do that.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I withdraw the motion and trust that action will be taken at the present time.

The yeas and nays were called on the passage of the order, and the order was rejected (six votes being required for passage), yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Lane, Watson—5.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty, Walsh—4.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. FORD, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on communication from justice of the Dorchester Municipal Court (referred May 15) fixing salary of probation officer—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the salary of Reginald H. Mair, probation officer of the Municipal Court of the Dorchester District of the City of Boston, determined by the justice of said court at the rate of $2,500 per annum, to date from January 1, 1922, be and the same hereby is approved.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on order (referred May 22) accepting chapter 267, Acts of 1922, for pensioning of Michael F. Meagher—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

LOCKER BUILDING, BRIGHTON.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the sum of $30,000 be appropriated for locker building and improvements at Reservoir Playground, Brighton, and that to meet such expense the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor May 22, 1922, viz.:

1. Francis J. Tobin, John F. Petitti, Samuel Shain, John M. McGowan, John F. Campbell, Herbert D. Sawyer and Antonio Laureana, to be Constables.

2. William C. Cuthbertson, to be a Weigher of Coal.

3. Edward J. Bacon, to be a Weigher of Beef.

4. Robert J. Carmichael and Chester D. Burke, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ford and Donoghue. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

TRANSFER OF CITY LAND.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be authorized in the name and behalf of the city to execute, for a nominal consideration, a deed in form satisfactory to the Law Department conveying to Mary Doherty all the rights, if any, the city has in a triangular lot of land at the southerly corner of Snow Hill street and Sheafe street, containing 94 square feet, more or less, said lot being a portion of Snow Hill street, discontinued as a public way by an order of the Board of Street Commissioners approved October 30, 1914.

On May 22, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND TO BOSTON ELEVATED.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 6, viz::

6. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city and by a deed in form satisfactory to the Law Department, to convey to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars, a parcel of land on the northerly side of Spring street near the Charles river, containing about 50,000 square feet, with such reservations as he may deem necessary for public access to the bank of the river and any public landing which is or may hereafter be established thereon.

On May 22, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND TO COMMONWEALTH.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 7, viz.:

7. Whereas, The City of Boston by deeds from the executor of and trustee under the will of Benjamin Adams, dated April 30, 1883, recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Lib. 1595, pages 395 and 396, acquired titles to certain lands, beach and flats on Q street, now Farragut road, in the South Boston district, extending easterly and northerly to low water mark, "to be used for the purpose of a public park," and the said city by a taking recorded with said deeds, Lib. 1597, page 591, took the said land, beach and flats "as and for a public park"; and

Whereas, The Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Boston by the three following acts was authorized to make such excavations and filling and erect and maintain such structures in and over the area of tide water at or near Dorchester Point as the Board may deem necessary or desirable for the purposes of a public park: chapter 360 of the Acts of 1885, covering the area which lies southerly of the northerly line of East First street extended easterly to Castle Island and east of the westerly line of Q street, extending southerly into Old Harbor; chapter 427, section 1, of the Acts of 1887, covering the area which lies south of a line drawn parellel to and three hundred (300) feet northerly from the northerly line of East First street extended easterly to Castle Island and easterly of the westerly line of Q street, extended northerly to an intersection with said parallel line and southerly into Old Harbor; and chapter 438 of the Acts of 1889, covering the area which lies east of the westerly line of Q street and extending southerly into Old Harbor and northerly to the southerly line of the Reserve channel as established by the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners under chapter 46 of the Resolves of 1886, and south of the southerly line of the said Reserve channel; section 2 of said chapter 438 provides that "all lands of the Commonwealth which are occupied or enclosed under the provisions of this act shall be appropriated to' and used solely for the purposes of a public park"; and

Whereas, The location of the Reserve channel as established under chapter 46 of the Resolves of 1886 was changed under the authority of chapter 90, Resolves of 1911, leaving a large area of land belonging to the Commonwealth lying between the two locations of the southerly line of the channel adjacent to the said land, beach and flats owned by the City of Boston for a public park, and whereas in order to furnish approaches to, and properly develop this area it is necessary to use a portion of the said land, beach and flats which the city owns and was authorized to occupy for a public park; and

Whereas, By agreement between the Department of Public Works of the said Commonwealth and the Mayor and Park and Recreation Commissioners of the City of Boston, the Commonwealth in connection with the filling of the area lying between the old and new locations of the southerly line of the Reserve channel has in addition filled a portion of the flats adjacent to the land of the City of Boston used for a public park with the understanding that a portion of such area should be transferred to the Commonwealth in order to provide proper facilities for reaching and developing the land of the Commonwealth which has been filled; and, further, that the Commonwealth release any interest it may have in and to all land, beach and flats lying between Marine Park and Castle Island and extending southerly from the northerly side of the existing bridge that connects City Point with the said island; and that the Commonwealth agree to perform certain acts in regard to the filling of those flats and making a beach running into Pleasure bay, and in regard to the location and construction of a street one hundred feet wide, and to restrict a certain area.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized and empowered in the name and behalf or the city, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 748 of the Acts of 1911, to convey to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts all the rights, title and interest which the City of Boston has in and to the land and flats on the easterly side of Farragut road in the South Boston district, containing approximately forty-nine thousand and eight hundred (49,800) square feet of solid land, and three hundred eighty-seven thousand and one hundred eighty-three (387,183) square feet of flats to be devoted to commercial purposes, and forty-one thousand (41,000) square feet of solid land and one hundred and forty-eight thousand eight hundred seventy (148,870) square feet of flats over which the Commonwealth is to construct a street or way to be used in part for commercial purposes, all as shown on a plan made by Henry C. Mildram, real estate engineer, dated February 14, 1921, in exchange for conveyance by the said Commonwealth of all its rights, title and interest in and to the lands and flats lying between Marine Park, as now filled, and Castle Island, and extending from the southerly line of the said land and flats to be released to the Commonwealth southerly into Old Harbor, and the agreement by the Commonwealth that it will complete the filling of the flats from the southerly line of the flats to be released to it to the southerly side of the existing bridge that connects City Point with said island, the material dredged from the harbor making a beach sloping from the southerly side of the said bridge southerly into Pleasure bay, the beach being made at such slope as the material will naturally assume when placed by a hydraulic dredge; the said Commonwealth further agrees never to erect any building or buildings on the land or flats owned by it lying between Castle Island and the red line shown on said plan and marked "Restriction line, beyond which on the east side no buildings are to be erected," and within a reasonable time to locate and construct a street or way one hundred feet wide within the premises to be released to it and along the southerly line thereof extending from East First street easterly to the line of riparian ownership, using a strip twenty-three (23) feet wide for the location of two standard gauged railroad tracks to be used for commercial purposes, with branches leading into the areas on the northerly side of said street, the Commonwealth to pave and regulate the portion of said street northerly of the said twenty-three foot strip and agree that the city reserve the right to develop that portion of said street south of the said strip for park purposes.

Both conveyances and agreements referred to in this order are to be in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On May 22, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 2.

The preambles and order were given their final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. FORD and MORIARTY voting nay.

MONEY FOR STATION 2 BUILDING.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 3, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The City has acquired the plot of land at the corner of Milk and Sears streets, city proper, as a site for a new Police Station 2 building.

The Superintendent of Public Buildings estimates the cost of a building suitable for the police requirements will be $500,000. As the plans are practically completed, it is desirable that work be started on this structure as soon as possible. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Boston, June 3, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you that I have recently been in communication with Mr. James Purdon, architect on the proposed Police Station 2, to be located on Milk and Sears streets, and he informs me that plans are practically completed and will be wholly completed within two weeks' time. He estimates that the cost of a building suitable for the police requirements, and in accordance with the plans as drawn, will cost approximately $500,000, and I respectfully request that an appropriation in this sum be made in order to proceed with this work as soon as possible.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

City of Boston,
Police Department, June 5, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—I wish to state that I have thoroughly gone over the matter of the requirements for a new site for Police Station 2. I have gone over all the correspondence in this office which has passed between the former commissioner, Mr. Curtis, and your immediate predecessor, Mayor Peters, and I concur in the proposition arrived at by my immediate predecessor, Mr. Curtis, that the proper location for this new station house is at the lot on Milk and Sears streets, now owned by the City of Boston and purchased by the city for that purpose. This lot is nearly rectangular in shape, has a ground area of 5,795 square feet, and with the building built as called for by the plans submitted to this department by Mr. Purdon, the architect, I feel it will make an adequate station house for the purposes of this department.

Very truly yours,
Herbert A. Wilson,
Police Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the erection and completion of a new building for Police Station 2, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, at the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, on motion of Coun. FORD.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 4.55 p. m., on motion of Coun. DONOGHUE, to meet on Monday, June 12, at two o'clock p. m.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

POPULATION OF COUNTIES (U. S. CENSUS) WITH INCREASE OVER PREVIOUS CENSUS (STATE) RANKED FROM LARGEST.

(1) Suffolk (3 cities and 1 town) 835,522 or 8,721 over 1915; (2) Middlesex (11 cities and 43 towns) 778,352 or + 44,728; (3) Essex (9 cities and 25 towns) 482,156 or + 18,494; (4) Worcester (3 cities and 57 towns) 455,135 or + 24,432; (5) Bristol (4 cities and 16 towns) 359,005 or + 12,041; (6) Hampden (3 cities and 20 towns) 300,305 or + 37,361; (7) Norfolk (1 city and 27 towns) 219,081 or + 17,174; seven other counties (4 cities and 127 towns) 422,800 or — 3,905. Total for the 14 counties (38 cities and 316 towns) 3,852,356 or 159,046 (i. e., 4.3 per cent) over 1915. Of said total, 2,741,599 (i. e., 71.17 per cent) were in the cities and 1,110,757 (i. e., 28.83 per cent) in the towns. The four counties, Suffolk, Middlesex, Essex and Bristol contain 63 73 per cent of the state's inhabitants.

If the municipalities having a population of 5,000 or over are properly called urban, then the percentage of urban population in the entire state reaches the notable figure of 90, while the rural shows but 10 per cent.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

Samuel J. Tomasello, $4,925; J. C. Coleman & Sons Company, $6,250.

Public Works Department (Reconstruction and Repairs of Streets).

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the Mt. Pleasant Contracting Company for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Causeway street, from Portland street to Beverly street; and Beverly street, from Causeway street to Warren Bridge, city proper. The following bids, opened June 13, were as follows:

Mt. Pleasant Construction Company, $18,272.70; B. E. Grant Company, $19,441.80; S. J. Tomasello, $21,429; James H. Ferguson Company, $23,190.80; De Stefano Brothers, Inc., $23,559.60; Holbrook Construction Company, $24,191.60.

Public Works Department (Sewerage Works).

Upon June 16 the Mayor approved a contract with John Guarino & Co. for sewerage works in Ayr road, between Beacon street and Orkney road, Brighton. Bids for the work, opened June 12, were as follows:

John Guarino & Co., $1,800; M. DeSisto Company, $2,113; V. Barletta, $2,177.50; Antony Cefalo, $2,252.50; S. J. Tomasello, $2,264; General Construction Company, Inc., $3,207.50.

Upon June 16 the Mayor approved a contract with John Guarino & Co. for sewerage works in Martin street, between Wren street and Bellevue street, West Roxbury.

Incident to the award of this contract, Commissioner of Public Works Joseph A. Rourke made the following statement:

"There is a doubt as to the experience of the citizen member of the firm DeChristoforo & Brothers Company, the lowest bidders, having had sufficient experience in this class of work to properly carry it on under the terms of the contract, and therefore the award is made to the second lowest bidder."

Bids for the work, opened June 12, were as follows:

DeCristoforo & Brothers Company, $2,274; J. Guarino & Co., $2,391.50; West Roxbury Construction Company, Inc., $2,586.50; S. J. Tomasello, $2,614; A. Cefalo, $2,714; C. Capone, $3,138.75.

Upon June 22 the Mayor approved a contract with John Guarino & Co. for sewerage works in Cass street, from Powell street to Centre street, West Roxbury. Bids for the work, opened June 19, were as follows:

V. Barletta, $14,482; J. Guarino & Co., $15,896.55; J. H. Ferguson Company, $17,277.39; S. J. Tomasello, $17,921; M. H. Loonie, $18,314.30; A. Cefalo, $18,430.50.

V. Barletta, the lowest bidder, submitted an unbalanced bid for rock and also omitted to bid on an item in the auditor's copy; for these reasons the award to the second lowest bidder was recommended.

Upon June 22 the Mayor approved a contract with M. DeSisto Company for sewerage works in Warren street, between Woodstock avenue and point 190 feet southerly, Brighton. Bids for the work, opened June 20, were as follows:

Twenty-five One and One Half Inch.—Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, $32 each; Union Water Meter Company, $33 each; Gamon Meter Company, $30 each.

Ten Two Inch.—Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, $54 each; Union Water Meter Company, $50 each; Gamon Meter Company, $50 each.

Fifteen Three Inch.—Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, $105 each; Union Water Meter Company, $110 each.

Total.—Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, $38,506.50; Union Water Meter Company, $38,345; Gamon Meter Company, $35,280, "Watchdog."

Incident to the award of this contract, Superintendent Rock of the Supply Department made the following statement:

"The Gamon Meter Company bid on all sizes of water meters except the 3-inch size, and with their proposal attached a copy of their own specifications 'Watchdog' meters, which they made a part of their proposal. These specifications differed from those upon which the other bidders were requested to submit bids.

"I have consulted the Law Department and have been informed by them that the specifications furnished by the Gamon Meter Company invalidated their bid, and I therefore recommend that the contract be awarded to the Union Water Meter Company, the second lowest bidder."

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the Builders Iron and Steel Company for furnishing approximately 2,000 manhole irons to the Sewer Service, Public Works Department.

Bids for the supply, opened June 12, were as follows:

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with Frank J. Gallagher for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, June 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Frank J. Gallagher, 81 Benton road, Somerville, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with W. A. and H. A. Root for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, June 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to W. A. and H. A. Root, 1 Beacon street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and the abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

Upon June 16 the Mayor approved a contract with the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company for furnishing approximately twenty lengths of 20-inch high pressure pipes. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, June 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your approval is respectfully requested to award a contract, without inviting proposals therefor by public advertisement, to the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company to furnish approximately twenty lengths of 20-inch high pressure pipe to take care of the extension in Pearl street, from Franklin street to end of present high pressure pipe in Pearl street, near High, at a price of $48.95 per ton of 2,000 pounds delivered, which is approximately $6.05 higher than the cost per ton of the pipe now being delivered from this company under another contract. The total amount of this extra pipe will be approximately $2,000.

If this order can be placed at once the pipe will be included in a water shipment on the next boat at a saving of $4 a ton by rail.

The present contract with the C. & R. Company utilizes all the high pressure pipe of this size we have in the yard; hence these additional lengths are urgently needed, as the completion of the line in Pearl street will reinforce the system by having a direct line from the Edison station up Pearl street into the "gridiron."

Yours very truly,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for furnishing and installing complete oil-burning apparatus in the High School of Practical Arts, Roxbury. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, June 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for furnishing and installing complete oil-burning apparatus in the High School of Practical Arts, in the sum of five thousand seven hundred and four (5,704) dollars. The reasons for making this request are as follows:

One of the members of this Board has spent much time in investigating oil-burning plants in and around Boston, and has seen several of the 200 installations made in this city by the above-named company, which are operating very satisfactorily in various types of heating and power plants, firing various kinds of boilers, carrying pressures from one to fifty pounds. Investigation has also been made of oil-burning apparatus installed by this company in several schools in Pawtucket, which were found to be operating successfully and economically. The Board feels that while oil burning is beyond the experimental stage, still it is an experiment as far as this Board is concerned, and the Board is therefore desirous of installing in this building apparatus which has been installed and successfully operated in many plants in this section. The Board has received figures from other concerns for installing the concrete tank in connection with the apparatus in the school named, but the figure given by the Petroleum Heat and Power Company is lower than the other figures submitted.

* Awarded contract.

Since no advantage would be gained for the city by publicly advertising this work, the Board, as above stated, requests your approval of its vote awarding the contract to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn, Chairman.

Supply Department.

Upon June 16 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for furnishing two automobiles to the Fire Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, June 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the Boston Buick Company, without publicly advertising for same, for furnishing to the Fire Department one Buick runabout, $1,495; one Buick five-passenger touring car, $1,525, total, $3,020; less allowance for one Nash touring car, $400; one 1916 Buick roadster, $150; total allowance, $550; net amount, $2,470.

As the Fire Department has standardized on the Buick type of car as being the one best suited for its requirements, I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Transit Department.

Upon June 16 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Elevated Railway Company for removing existing stringers under tracks of the corporation and furnishing crushed stone and roll trench upon Boylston street. A communication from Thomas F. Sullivan of the Transit Department was as follows:

Boston, June 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to have the Boston Elevated Railway Company remove the existing stringers under the tracks, furnish crushed stone in place and roll trench on Boylston street, from east of Arlington street to west of Berkeley street, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $3,000.

This work will have to be done between midnight and the operation of the first car in the morning, and the railway company alone is equipped to do this work within these hours.

Respectfully,

Thomas F. Sullivan,
Chairman.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

Boston, June 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—In June, 1920, a contract was awarded by the city to John Kelly & Co. for the construction of 4,712 square yards of concrete sidewalk on Ashfield, Congreve, Hastings and Walk Hill streets, West Roxbury. A bond of the contractor, executed by the Maryland Casualty Company as surety, was given to the city as security for carrying out the provisions of the contract and for keeping the artificial stone in good condition for a period of five years from the date of the completion of the contract.

The specifications of the contract required:

1. A foundation of broken stone, screened gravel, rubble, cobblestones, or soft coal cinders, thoroughly rammed to a thickness of 12 inches;
2. A concrete base 3 inches in thickness, composed of one part cement, two parts sharp sand, and five parts broken stone, to be laid on the foundation; and
3. A wearing surface of artificial stone 1 inch in thickness, consisting of mortar made of one part cement, one part fine trap or granite rock, or Newburyport sea sand, to be placed on the concrete base.

The sidewalks were built during the summer of 1920. The contractor was paid in full for the work the sum of $21,283.13.

In the early summer of 1921, or less than a year after the completion of the work, the surface of these sidewalks began to break up. Under the direction of the Public Works Department the contractor replaced the broken parts at his own expense.

In the spring of 1922 the Finance Commission was notified by a resident of the district that these sidewalks were again beginning to break up in several places on three of the streets covered by the contract. An examination by the Finance Commission verified this information. In three of the streets the pavements were fractured in many places, exposing the sub-surface or base. A further examination showed that little or no cement had been used in the base. Not only was there no cement found, but the greater part of the material used in the base was unscreened bank gravel.

The wearing surface, which was specified to be at least 1 inch in thickness, was in most cases much less than 1 inch and in some places barely a quarter of an inch in thickness.

The contractor has been replacing the portions of these sidewalks that have crumpled, and while this work of repair was going on the Finance Commission had a representative present. Work was begun each day at seven o'clock a. m., but no representative of the Public Works Department was on the work until eight o'clock or after, until such absence was the subject of comment by the Finance Commission. An examination of the concrete base by the representative of the Finance Commission while the repairs were going on confirmed the former examinations of the commission in every respect. Wherever the wearing surface was removed, no cement was found in the base except a small amount in scattered spots. The surface layer was usually less than 1 inch in thickness.

Although a total of about two hundred thirty blocks or squares have thus far been replaced, including the work done in 1921, the work of repairing the sidewalks is not yet completed. Some of the blocks that are being replaced this year are those that were laid last year to replace the original work. Many of the replacements made last year were as faulty as the original work.

Part of the cost of these sidewalks is borne by abutting owners. One abutter interested has been assessed and has paid about $400.

These sidewalks, if built according to the specifications, ought to last fifty years. The contractor has now suspended work, stating that it is too costly to mix the concrete by hand, but that when other work now in progress is finished he intends bringing his mixing machine to the work and to continue the replacement.

The commission examined the officials of the Public Works Department in charge of the work, viz., the two inspectors assigned to the work, James A. Keveney and Henry J. O'Neil; the chief inspector, John J. Crowley; the assistant engineer, Edwin T. Hoisington; the engineer in charge, Joshua Atwood; and the division engineer, James H. Sullivan. Of the two inspectors, James A. Keveney was on the work practically all the time while the concrete base and wearing surface of the sidewalk were being constructed. He testified that in his opinion the specifications were not being followed; that there was not enough cement being put in the concrete base or in the wearing surface; that some of the work was done before he arrived in the morning and after he left in the evening; that his hours were from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.; that he informed both the foreman on the job and the chief inspector that he believed the specifications were not being followed, but no improvement followed, nor did the chief inspector take any action.

The chief inspector testified that he was on the job once every day and never saw any departure from the specifications; that he never was informed by Mr. Keveney of any irregularity in connection with the contract or departure from the specifications.

The engineer in charge also testified that he visited the work for a short time almost daily and had no cause to believe that the contract was not being performed according to the specifications.

The daily written reports of the inspector sent to the division engineer's office contained no complaints. The inspector explained the absence of complaints in his written report as due to his custom of making complaints orally to the chief inspector or his other superiors when they appeared on the job.

The Kelly Company admits that the materials specified in the contract were not used in the sidewalks and that the specifications were not followed.

Thus, while the contractor himself admits that the sidewalks were not built in accordance with the specifications, the city's representatives—with the exception of the inspector on the job—assert that they visited the work almost daily and found it progressing in accordance with the specifications.

A more flagrant neglect of the city's interests by those employed to guard those interests could hardly be possible.

One of the principal causes of unnecessary expenditures by the city is the neglect of the inspection force and their superiors to require contractors to fulfill the specifications of their written contracts. Many times in the past ten years the Finance Commission has reported upon the inefficiency of officials charged with the supervision of construction work. When it has been pointed out that the contractors have failed to comply with the specifications in a contract, the city officials charged with the duty in the matter appear more anxious to defend the position of the contractor than to protect the interests of the city.

Some of the cases illustrating this neglect and disposition on the part of the supervisory officials have been published in reports of the Finance Commission as follows:

In Volume XIII., page 186, of the Finance Commission's Reports is a report on the catch-basin cleaning contract. In this case the evidence was conclusive that the city's inspector had certified that catch-basins had been cleaned thoroughly when, in point of fact, in many cases only part of the material had been removed, while in other cases no material at all had been removed, and in still other cases it was certified that basins had been cleaned that did not exist. The only result of this investigation was that the money thus falsely certified to be due to the contractor was withheld by the city. No penalty was visited upon any employee of the city. All the officials who neglected their duty in this case, except those who have died or who have resigned for causes in no way connected with this case, are still employed by the city, and at present the contractor is trying to have the city pay him the money falsely certified by the city's inspectors as due him.

In Volume XV., pages 196 and 232, and Volume XVI., page 164, of the Finance Commission's Reports will be found reports on the paving of Smith and Conant streets, Roxbury. In this case the city authorities permitted the contractor to construct an asphalt pavement in the fall of the year, during storms of rain and snow. The matter was brought to the attention of the officials charged with the duty of inspection in the matter but nothing was done. As a result the pavement went to pieces almost immediately after being laid.

After a second report of the Finance Commission regarding the condition of the pavement on these streets, officials of the Public Works Department endeavored to relieve the contractor from bearing the expense of repairs, by attributing the cause of the defects in the pavements to a source outside the obligations of the contractor under his contract. This attempt, however, was not successful.

No penalty has been imposed on any of the city officials responsible for the faulty construction or for their attempt to relieve the contractor from liability after the pavement went to pieces.

In Volume XVI., pages 243 and 250, of the Finance Commission's Reports are two reports regarding a departure from the specifications in the construction of the pavement on Centre street, West Roxbury. The findings of the Finance Commission at that time were later verified by a board of experts convened by the then mayor. These experts went even further than the Finance Commission in condemning the departure from the specifications in the contract.

All the evidence in this case indicated gross negligence on the part of all ranks of the supervisory force of the city, yet no one was discharged, demoted, or disturbed in any way in the position which he held with the city.

In Volume XVII., page 137, of the Finance Commission's Reports will be found a report on a departure from the specifications for the construction of a fence around the ballfield on Boston Common. This case presents an instance of gross negligence on the part of the inspection force of the Park Department. The Finance Commission protested the payment to the contractor of a substantial part of his contract price, because of his failure to perform his contract in accordance with the specifications and payment has been withheld. No punishment was imposed on any of the three officials of the Park Department who were shown to be grossly negligent in their duty to protect the city's interest. The immediate superiors of these three officials defended their negligence upon the ground that they had too much to do.

As regards the withholding of a portion of the contractor's money, it has been proposed recently by the contractor that the matter of withholding the money be submitted to arbitration. The contract expressly provides that the engineer of the Park Commissioners shall be the sole arbitrator in matters of that kind.

The action of department heads and the higher ranks of the supervisory force in refraining from imposing any penalty upon inspectors who are found negligent and indifferent in respect to the city's work has had a demoralizing effect upon the inspecting force of the city. This demoralization appears at its worst in connection with the matter which is the chief subject of this report, viz., the construction of the sidewalks on Ashfield, Congreve, Hastings and Walk Hill streets.

The manner in which this sidewalk contract was performed has resulted in a loss of thousands of dollars to the City of Boston. In addition the abutters are put to a money loss besides the inconvenience they will suffer during the time continued repairs are being made on these sidewalks.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That the position of chief inspector in the Paving Service of the Public Works Department be abolished.
2. That all inspectors assigned to contract work in the Paving Service of the Public Works Department be required to insert in daily written reports to the division engineer any departure from the specifications or irregularities in connection with any work being done under the contract.
3. That the contractor be required to begin work immediately and replace all defective areas of sidewalk on the four streets included in his contract.
4. That your Honor refuse to allow John Kelly & Co. to do any more work for the City of Boston, except under such contracts as are now in force between that company and the city, including replacement of defective work.

Respectfully submitted,

Michael H. Sullivan,
Chairman,
Courtenay Guild,
John F. Moors,
James M. Morrison,
J. Waldo Pond,
The Finance Commission.

ZONING PLAN FOR CITY.

Mayor Curley has issued an invitation to the following groups: Associated Industries of Massachusetts, Boston Central Labor Union, Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston Real Estate Exchange, Boston Society of Architects, Boston Society of Landscape Architects, Boston Society of Civil Engineers, Master Builders' Association, Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, Master Teamsters' Association, United Improvement Association, to designate one member of each of their organizations to serve upon a Zoning Advisory Commission to work in co-operation with the City Planning Board in the preparation of a zoning plan and ordinance for the City of Boston.

This action has the cordial indorsement of Mr. Nelson P. Lewis, recently retained as general consultant to the City Planning Board, who feels that zoning is an essential part of a city plan. Without zoning, Mr. Lewis declares that it might be impossible to realize some of the best features of a comprehensive plan, while a zoning scheme, worked out independently of such a plan, was quite likely to prove a misfit in some important particular.

Mr. Lewis recognizes that Boston was the first city in the United States to attempt the protection of its residential districts by the adoption of a comprehensive height of building law in 1905, but he agrees with his Honor that there should also be limitations as to the area built upon, and the use of property as permitted under Article LX of the Constitutional Amendments.

In adopting this constitutional amendment in 1920, Massachusetts was among the foremost of the states to pass such enabling legislation. It is in line with the action of the Federal Government which has recently made an appropriation of $50,000 to be expended under the direction of the Division of Building and Housing of the Department of Commerce. In requesting this appropriation, Secretary Hoover stated it as his belief that the government should not permit the building of homes, of which there was reported to be a shortage of 1,000,000 in the country, without the protection afforded by city planning and zoning, and an advisory committee on zoning was accordingly appointed by him.

In a recent report issued by this committee the statement is made that zoning is in effect in more than sixty cities throughout the United States at the present time, and that more than one hundred and ten cities have zoning ordinances in preparation. It has been the experience of those cities which have already adopted zoning plans, or regulations governing the industrial, residential, and commercial development of the municipality, that such regulations have served to stabilize property values, to encourage the orderly enlargement of business centers and industrial zones, and to render possible great enconomies in the installation of public improvements.

Incident to his visit in Boston, Mr. Lewis declared the Stuart-street widening and project will, in his opinion, eventually pay for itself as a trade artery, linking the retail store area with the residential section and stimulating business in the entire Park square section.

Mr. Lewis is of the opinion that the Exeter street freight yards should be shifted to the South Bay waterfront or else to Allston or Brighton. The railroads pay taxes to Boston on an assessed valuation of more than $6,500,000 for this tract, making it one of the most costly railroad yards in the world, and he declares that this high cost must be reflected in railroad fares. That the New York Central system might well depress its tracks and make possible such a thoroughfare as Park avenue, in New York, is another of his beliefs. He favors the electrifying of steam railroads as they enter cities like Boston.

A central union station would, in his opinion, not be practical but he believes that the North and South terminals should be linked by an underground way. He approves the plan of widening Court and Cambridge Streets, beginning at City Hall Annex, so as to provide a broad highway for traffic to and from points north and west of the city proper.

Mr. Lewis is the official head of the bureau financed by the Russell Sage Foundation, which is conducting a physical survey of New York City and its environs with the idea of providing for its growth. He was long chief engineer of the New York board of estimate and apportionment.

Miss Elisabeth M. Herlihy, secretary of the Boston Planning Board, has nearly completed the organization of a committee of one hundred citizens who are to consider plans similar to those of the Sage Foundation. She will present these names to the Mayor, and about July 1 Mr. Lewis will visit Boston to consult with this committee.

SHIPMENTS OF RUBBER.

Direct shipments of rubber from Java to Boston to the extent of 15,000 tons a year have been arranged by Mayor Curley through his Bureau of Commerce and Industry, following conferences with George P. Birnie, who has large rubber plantations in Java, and who has been looking over shipping facilities on the Atlantic seaboard for several months.

Mr. Birnie, who has been traveling over the United States for several months, came to Boston after visiting and inspecting facilities for handling shipments of rubber at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. After being shown the facilities at the Army Base Pier, arrangements were completed for establishing an office here and for having the rubber handled at the pier, from which place it will be distributed to all manufacturing centers for rubber goods.

Shipments of rubber will come from Java direct to Boston by way of the Dollar Line vessels, arrangements having been made by Mr. Birnie for the handling of his products while in San Francisco on his way east. The Dollar Line ships will also call at South American ports for rubber shipments to be brought direct to Boston.

DEMOLITION OF BUILDING.

The Mayor has approved the demolition of the building at 77 Lucas street, city proper, under the provisions of Section 5, chapter 550, Acts of 1907 as amended; the same being in an unsafe and dangerous condition.

POLICE STATION.

The new Police Station 2 to be erected at Milk and Sears streets, for which Architect James Purdon has just completed plans, will be a novel combination of a progressive police business building, armory, barracks and garage, with a population of 400 policemen to start. Upon completion it is claimed it will be the finest structure of its kind in the land.

By September 1 work upon the lower section of the building will begin it is hoped. The building will be ready for occupancy a year hence.

The plans calls for a ten-story granite and red brick building resting on 5800 square feet, fronting on Milk street, the street floor four feet above the sidewalk level.

The entire basement will be given over to a practice range where the police may perfect their marksmanship by revolver shooting at moving targets, and where they may also familiarize themselves with the efficient handling of machine guns with which the force is equipped.

A subbasement will house the oil-burning engines which are to heat the building. Above the fourth story the structure will have natural light, since surrounding buildings are low.

Station 2's force will have its business quarters on the street floor, with the official desk at the front of the building, the remaining floor space being divided between the spacious guard room, captain's private office, lieutenants' offices and special rooms devoted to sergeants and special policemen.

A room on this floor is to be fitted out as an emergency hospital; previously, all medical work in emergency cases has had to be executed in the public guard room without any other equipment than the attending doctor's kit. There is also to be a kitchen on this floor, where policemen may prepare food for themselves in emergencies. Fifteen cells are to be set up on this floor.

In the rear will be the garage for the housing of the station's motor patrol. The wagon is to be driven into the garage and the prisoner brought hence through a special door to the desk, to be registered and placed in a cell.

On a mezzanine floor overlooking the guard room will be set up the signal chamber where an operator will be in touch with all men on their routes, and here will be the switchboard linking up all departments in the building.

The second floor will accommodate dormitory facilities for captain and lieutenants and a few for patrolmen. There also will be a storeroom for seized liquor. The third and fourth floors will be given over to dormitories for privates.

On the fifth floor Capt. Bernard Hoppe and his Traffic Squad will have their business headquarters, with commodious guard room for the 250 members of the squad, and the sixth floor will afford them locker and shower bath accommodations, also a drying room for their uniforms.

The seventh floor will contain a large refrigerator chamber, where will henceforth be stored annually, the winter uniforms of the police, at a large saving over the present system of private storage. Part of the seventh and all of the eighth and ninth floors will be taken over by Capt. C. W. Searles and his property clerks, for the recovery, tabulation, display and restoration of stolen property.

The entire tenth floor will be devoted to a large drill hall, where all recruits are hereafter to be drilled in detail work as policemen. This work has previously been done at various armories about the city.

Architect Purdon has visited the large Eastern cities for a study relative to all new types of police stations.

EXTENSION OF ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Commission upon the 17th instant:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held Friday, June 16, 1922, regarding the development of athletic sports in the public parks and playgrounds, it was voted to appoint a committee consisting of Honorary Chairman James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston; Commissioner Myron P. Lewis as chairman and Deputy Commissioner William P. Long as secretary, with the following members as an advisory committee:

James L. Walsh, physical director; George E. Frazer, instructor; Joseph J. McNamara, instructor; William M. Mullen, instructor; Maurice R. Smith, instructor; Fred E. Burns, instructor; Edward J. Fischer, instructor; John A. Lane, instructor; William H. Cronin, instructor; Thomas Hines, instructor; James J. O'Brien, instructor; Samuel Smith, instructor; Nathaniel J. Young, Boston School Committee.

Mr. Prescott of the Traffic Squad represented the Police Department, and it was also voted that three members of the Police Department be asked to join the committee and also members from the Fire Department—this department being represented by Mr. Powers of Ladder 8. It was also voted that John J. Hallahan of the Boston Globe be added to the committee.

The following gentlemen have been invited to attend a later conference:

John Lane, athletic secretary of the American Legion; George Collins, secretary of the Soccer League; William Cuddy, president of the New England Amateur Athletic Union; R. A. Williams, 2d, of the Longwood Cricket Club; William C. Prout, secretary of the Knights of Columbus; H. R. Hardwick, of the Bankers' Association; Edwin E. Stone, of the Bank Officers' Association; representatives of the Post Office Employees' Association; representatives of the Insurance League; Linde Fowler, of the Boston Transcript; William H. McMasters, publicity agent for the City of Boston; David J. Brickley, president of the City Council.

It is the intention of the Park Commission to form a permanent organization to develop athletic sports and a more extensive use of the playgrounds in the City of Boston.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea, Chairman.

FOURTH OF JULY PROGRAM.

A patriotic demonstration will feature the City of Boston celebration on the Fourth of July.

The general program will open with an official flag raising by the Mayor at 9.30 a. m., and end with a great community demonstration at the Frog Pond, starting at 8 p. m., having for its finale the first Fourth of July display of fireworks by the City of Boston since the war. The fireworks will start at ten o'clock.

The Mayor has selected Superintendent of Schools Jeremiah E. Burke to deliver the annual oration at the Faneuil Hall meeting, the selection being partly in honor of the convention of the National Educational Association, which will be in session in Boston at that time. The chaplain of the day will be Rev. Frederick W. Fitts, designated by Bishop Lawrence, at the Mayor's invitation. The public school officials have selected Orazio Ercole Vaccaro of the Boston Public Latin School to read the Declaration of Independence in Continental costume, from the balcony of the Old State House where the original document was read to the people of Boston in 1776.

Arrangements are being perfected by which the oration and other exercises at Faneuil Hall will be broadcast by radio.

In addition to the main celebration and band concerts in various parts of the city in the evening, exercises of a patriotic nature will be held in the various districts for the children. The district committee chairmen are:

Brighton-Allston, Francis J. McLaughlin; Dorchester, Michael J. Norton; East Boston, John J. Sullivan; Forest Hills, Dennis M. Shields; Hyde Park, Dr. J. P. Rattigan; Jamaica Plain, Thomas J. Kelly; Metropolitan Hill, John J. Reidy; Neponset, Matthew Cummings; North End, John A. Scanga; Roslindale, John W. Reth; Roxbury, John F. Dowd; South Boston, Hector K. McInnis; South End, Patrick J. Mellody; West End, P. Edward Fardy; West Roxbury, Richard J. Cronin.

The program for the day was arranged under the supervision of J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations, by a committee of which Charles T. Cahill was chairman and John J. Keenan, secretary.

VISITORS FROM PITTSFIELD.

Over 1,500 members of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society of Pittsfield have written Mayor Curley through their secretary, George E. Haynes, that they will visit Boston upon July 4th.

Mayor Curley has sent them an invitation extending the freedom of the city and inviting them to share in the program which the city is providing for that day. The Commercial and Industrial Bureau has furnished the Association with maps of the city, pamphlets describing the historic places and how to reach them and will also provide guides for the excursionists.

CHANGE OF STREET NAME.

The name of the public way known as Walnut street, Charlestown, from Bunker Hill street to Medford street, has been changed to and will hereafter be known as Chappie street.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT REPORT.

Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, Commissioner of the Health Department, has presented the following report for the month of May, 1922:

Boston, June 8, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the provisions of your Honor's circular letter of March 13, 1922, I have the honor to submit herewith the report of the activities of the Health Departmnt for the month of May, 1922.

Food Inspection.

A new departure in the way of handling a certain class of negligent restaurant keepers was noted during the past month. A persistent offender against sanitary regulations was caused to appear before the Licensing Board upon formal complaint by this department charging the offender with failure to conduct his licensed business in a proper manner. After a hearing the Board suspended his license as a common victualler until his premises were put into a satisfactory sanitary condition. The lesson was so salutary as to cause the offender to clean and paint his premises to such good effect that his license was restored to him within forty-eight hours.

A decision was handed down this month by the Supreme Court upholding a fine of $50 imposed in the lower courts upon a corporation charged with violation of the Health Department regulations concerning the handling of rot and spot eggs. This defendant contended the commissioner had no authority to make a ruling so broad as to compel the denaturing of such eggs with a carbolic solution or its equivalent, and refused to comply therewith. The present Supreme Court decision dispels any doubts in this regard.

The question of fumigating large quantities of raisins by a treatment of carbon-tetrachloride generated to a gas at 91 pounds pressure at 80 degrees F. was made the subject of an important hearing before the Health Commissioner during the past month. Suitable samples of the raisins thus treated were procured by an inspector present at the process for bacteriological examination.

The inspectors in the Food Inspection Division were this month placed on the same absolute field duty basis as the sanitary inspectors. All food and sanitary inspectors now report directly to their assigned district in the field each morning instead of first reporting to their office in City Hall Annex.

Laboratory Division.

All of the 877 rats examined for bubonic plague were found to be negative.

Outside of 4,548 routine examinations (3,862 in duplicate and 686 in quadruplicate) there were also made 658 special examinations for diphtheria in connection with work now being forwarded on the Schick test, of which 21 were positive. Virulence tests done to date on these positives have shown 5, completed, to be negative. Closer supervision of swimming pools with the advent of the hot weather will be carried on.

Medical Division.

Although measles is quite prevalent, though low for this time of year, communicable diseases generally have shown a remarkable falling off. Apart from an occasional report of a case of encephalitis lethargica, and one case of trichinosis during the month, no unusual diseases appeared in the city. Under the immediate direction of the newly appointed epidemiologist, Dr. John A. Ceconi, the work of Schick testing and immunization has been actively pushed during the month, with special effort to do as many immunizations as possible before the closing of the schools. The medical inspectors have also been given instruction and practice in this procedure. Miss Sophia R. Raport, nurse, has been relieved of her regular duties as district visiting nurse and assigned to assist in the Schick testing work. Miss Julia Moynihan, nurse, began her duties in the Health Department on May 22. 1922.

Vital Statistics.

Slight increases appeared in reported cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever and varicella during the month as compared with a year ago; but decreases are indicated in the reported cases of the more uncommon diseases, i. e., anterior poliomyelitis, encephalitis lethargica, pulmonary tuberculosis and influenza.

Total deaths showed a decrease as compared with the month of April, 1922, as did also deaths of children under one year of age.

Sanitary Division.

In co-operation with the Mayor's office this division of the Health Department has actively interested itself in the matter of the demolition of old buildings. A city-wide campaign for the removal of such old structures is now being waged. Under a law passed in 1897, and amended in 1899, the Health Department is empowered to order these old buildings vacated when occupied, and then demolished. At present the removal of about thirty is being considered with a view to recommending their demolition. With one exception all are vacant, and all are in a very dilapidated and offensive condition, and a distinct fire menace to adjoining buildings. They are also a serious detriment to the value of adjoining properties and make it impossible to get the right kind of tenants to occupy houses which face or adjoin them. The majority of them are open to the public and are used for the purpose of committing nuisances.

Respectfully,

F. X. Mahoney,
Health Commissioner.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the following construction work:

A 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer and an 18-inch pipe surface drain in Warren street, between Woodstock avenue and a point 190 feet southeasterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $2,387.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 22-inch, 20-inch, 12-iinch and 10-inch earthen pipe and ten catch-basins in Cass street, between Powell street and Centre street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $7,712.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Ainsworth street, between 140 feet southeast of Centre street and 90 feet northwesterly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $450.

Sixteen catch-basins and 200 feet of minor drain in Blue Hill avenue, between Dudley street and Warren street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $5,467.

A sanitary sewer and surface drain of 10-inch and 12-inch earthen pipe, respectively, in Parker Hill avenue, outlet for Copenger street, between the northerly line of Hillside street and Copenger street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $1,160.

A sanitary sewer and surface drain of 10-inch and 18-inch earthen pipe, respectively, in Warren street, between Woodstock avenue and a point 190 feet southeasterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $2,387.

A 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, a 22-inch, 20-inch, 12-inch, 10-inch pipe surface drain, and ten catch-basins in Cass street, between Powell street and Centre street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $7,712.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 2-feet 3-inch concrete and 22-inch, 20-inch, 18-inch, 15-inch earthen pipe, three drop inlets and eight catch-basins in Washington street, between Auburn street and Beech street in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $20,700.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch and a surface drain of 12-inch earthen pipe in Copenger street, between Parker Hill avenue and end of street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $1,488.

VISIT OF MAYOR COUZENS, OF DETROIT, MICH.

Mayor James M. Curley sent the following telegram to Mayor Couzens of Detroit, Mich., upon the 23d instant:

To Hon. James Couzens, Mayor of Detroit, Detroit, Mich.:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I sincerely trust that the City of Boston may have an opportunity of welcoming you personally with Miss Couzens, your daughter, upon the occasion of the dedication of the cruiser "Detroit" upon Thursday, 29th instant. I have been very pleased to advise the officers of the Fore River Corporation that I shall be delighted to extend a dinner in your honor and that of your daughter and supplemented by arrangements for attendance at the concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra later in the evening, and which is the finest instrumental musical organization in the world. We shall be delighted to receive your daughter but the visit will be far more eventful if we can have for the first time the pleasure of welcoming your good self. I sincerely trust that I may be honored by your early acceptance and shall have the pleasure of greeting you upon Thursday, 29th instant, in Boston.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

There will be about thirty in the official party accompanying Mayor Couzens of Detroit. Mayor Curley will entertain the guests at dinner at the Copley-Plaza Hotel upon the evening of the 29th instant at 6.30 o'clock. After the service of dinner the Mayor of Detroit and official party will be the guests of Mr. W. H. Brennan, manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Symphony Hall.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDER.

General Order No. 47.

The commanding officer of Division 6 has brought to my attention a most meritorious piece of police work recently performed by Patrolmen Ralph A. Cote and Daniel J. McDonald of that division.

About one o'clock of the morning of May 14, Patrolman Cote and Patrolman George A. Patterson, of Division 6, noticed smoke coming from a second story window of a lodging house on West Broadway. Patrolman Patterson immediately rang in an alarm of fire while Patrolman Cote went to arouse the occupants of the house. Receiving no response to his repeated knocking, Patrolman Cote forced the front door and proceeded to the second floor where he was joined by Patrolman McDonald, who had also noticed the smoke and had come to investigate. Together they forced the door of the room where the fire was, and entering, found a man lying unconscious on a bed, which was a mass of flames. At great risk to themselves the officers lifted the unconscious man, bore him downstairs and placed him in the police ambulance which hurried him into a hospital. Patrolman Cote had his right hand, and Patrolman McDonald both hands, badly burned in effecting this rescue.

I have learned of this courageous act on the part of these two patrolmen with great pleasure and I heartily commend them not only for their bravery, but also for their presence of mind and the promptness of their action which made this rescue possible. In recognition of their excellent service I hereby grant Patrolman Ralph A. Cote and Daniel J. McDonald each one day's leave of absence from duty with pay, these days off to be arranged by the commanding officer of the division.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

RENEWAL OF LEASE.

The City of Boston has renewed a lease of the premises 286 Congress street, occupied by the Printing Department, from September 1, 1922, to January 31, 1923.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Parole Agent (Male), Boston Institutions Department, July 10, 1922.

The salary is $1,600 per year. It is desirable that applicants be married men and have children, have had at least one year's experience in family relief work, have a knowledge of a trade or trades, be familiar with labor conditions and labor organizations and leaders, so that they may be of assistance to a prisoner when paroled, or help him find work and advise him in problems in connection with his work. The duties of this position include investigating circumstances of arrest, social investigating with a view to prisoner's release, supervision of home environment and church affiliations.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; report, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 3; personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview, 2; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and in the oral interview.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Physical Instructor (Male), Boston Park Department, July 10, 1922.

The salary is $1,500 per year. There are three vacancies at the present time. The duties of this position are as follows: From October 1 to June 1, instruction by classes in all gymnasiums maintained by the department, including class drills and exercises, calisthenics and aesthetic dances, apparatus work and games. From June 1 to October 1, instructors are required to give service either on beaches or playgrounds. Beach work demands ability to give instruction in swimming to bathers of all ages and sexes, to act as life-guard, and to operate a boat for life saving purposes. Instructors detailed to playground work must understand and apply playground theory in organization and instruction, teach and supervise field and track sports, baseball and small games.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; special questions on the duties of the position, 3; personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview, 3; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and in the oral interview.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Assistant Inspector of Castings, Boston Public Works Department, July 10, 1922.

The salary is $4.50 per day. It is desirable that applicant be acquainted with foundry practice by experience in the actual preparation of the moulds. He is required to inspect castings and be able to determine whether any faults or defects exist, and if so, what the cause may be.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 1; total, 2.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

BATHING BEACH, CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 12, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In response to your communication of March 13, I beg to submit herewith report received from the Park Department.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, June 7, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of March 15 relative to the City Council order to consult with the Metropolitan District Commission on the matter of a bathing beach in Charles River Basin, this order having passed the Council on March 13.

In answer I will say that after deliberation with the officials of the Metropolitan District Commission, and considering our past experiences in bathing beaches, this Board is opposed to the establishment of any bathing beaches in the Charles river.

For many years the Bath Department of Boston maintained a floating bath at Spring Street Bridge, at Charles river. Many deaths were caused in the neighborhood, none of which occurred in the floating bath, but the bathing in the vicinity was very dangerous, notwithstanding the fact that attendants at the floating bath were always on hand to assist.

Very truly yours,
James B. Shea, Chairman.

Placed on file.

INVESTIGATION OF EDISON ELECTRIC ILLUMINATING COMPANY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 12, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Investigation of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, which has been in progress for some time, should, in my opinion, be continued until a decision is reached, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum not exceeding $25,000 be authorized to be expended for the purpose of meeting charges for expert services, stenographic services, additional legal assistance and other necessary and proper expenditures in connection with the hearing on the request for arbitration under the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, and under the petition for a reduction in the prices of electricity filed by the Mayor with the Public Utilities Commission, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund. All expenditures shall be subject to the written approval of the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFERS FROM RESERVE FUND.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 12, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith various requests for transfers from the Reserve Fund and respectfully request the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Clerk's Office,
Superior Court, Suffolk County,
Boston, June 9, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the provisions of chapter 454 of the Acts of 1922, Mary M. FitzSimmons, an employee of this office, was retired June 7, 1922.

The mount required for her pension for the balance of the year is $592.64.

I request an appropriation for that amount under item F-7.

Respectfully,
Francis A. Campbell, Clerk.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund $592.64, to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session, Clerk's Office, F-7, Pensions and Annuities, $592.64.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
May 24, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request that the following addition be made to the appropriation for Public Buildings Department (County Buildings), the same being occasioned by the retirement of Michael Bath, fireman, dated May 17, 1922:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $613,25, to the appropriation for F-7, Pensions and Annuities, $613.25.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $613.25, to the appropriation for Public Buildings Department (County Buildings), F-7, Pensions and Annuities, $613.25.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF HOUSE, HYDE PARK.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 12, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication and believe that a fair price for the wooden house located on plot of land at River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park, would be an amount halfway between that recommended by the Board of Street Commissioners and the assessed valuation, namely, $900.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
June 10, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with an order of the City Council, approved by your Honor May 24, 1922, the Board of Street Commissioners offered for sale, at a public auction held on Friday, the 9th instant, a wooden house located on a lot of land at the junction of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park district, the same having been taken for municipal purposes by an order of this Board dated January 16, 1922. In accordance with the aforesaid order of the City Council this building was offered for sale at a minimum price of $1,500 and no bids were received.

The Board is of the opinion that it will be impossible to dispose of this house at the upset price indicated in the Council order and believes that it would be advisable to adopt another order authorizing a sale at a minimum price of $300. The auctioneer, Mr. Edward W. Foye, is in accord with the Board in this opinion.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph F. Sullivan, Secretary.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be authorized to sell at public auction at a price not less than nine hundred ($900) dollars a wooden house located on plot of land at the junction of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park, which was taken for municipal purposes by order approved January 16, 1922.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WALTER SCOTT MEDALS.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 12, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Upon April 26, 1922, Walter Scott of 495 Broadway, New York, presented the City of Boston two solid gold medals to be known as the "Walter Scott Medals for Valor," the design of which has been approved by the Boston Art Commission.

One of the medals is to be presented by the Police Commissioner and the other by the Fire Commissioner to the member of either department who, during the calendar year, had especially distinguished himself for valor in the performance of duty.

In addition to the medals, two 7½ per cent bonds of the Government of the French Republic, numbers M55853 and M55854, maturing June 1, 1941, in the sum of $1,000 each, were likewise presented, to be held by the City Treasurer in perpetual trust, the annual income therefrom to be used in the purchase each year of two solid gold medals.

The medals for the current year have been turned over as per request by the City Treasurer to the Police Commissioner and the Fire Commissioner, while the two bonds have been placed in the city treasury, and that the wishes of the donor may be complied with, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That the gift of bonds of the par value of two thousand dollars ($2,000) made by Mr. Walter Scott, formerly of Boston, now of 495 Broadway, in the City of New York, be and the same is hereby accepted by the City of Boston to be held in perpetual trust, and the annual income therefrom to be used in the purchase of solid gold medals to be known as the "Walter Scott Medal for Valor."

It is further provided that the said gift is to be held by the city in perpetual trust and placed in the hands of the City Treasurer to pay the net income thereof annually as follows: One-half thereof to the Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston for the purchase of such solid gold medal to be presented by him to the fireman who in his judgment has during the calendar year specially distinguished himself for valor in the performance of his duty as a fireman; and to pay the other half thereof to the Police Commissioner of said city for the purchase of such gold medal to be presented by him to the policeman who in his judgment has during the calendar year specially distinguished himself for valor in the performance of his duty as a policeman. If in any year the Fire Commissioner or the Police Commissioner or both of them, be respectively of opinion that there is no fireman or no policeman entitled to receive such medal, or if there be surplus income above what is required to purchase such medals as may be awarded, the unexpended or surplus income of the said fund shall be added to and become a part of the principal.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

CITY OF BOSTON.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Painting Contractors.

The Schoolhouse Commissioners of the City of Boston invite sealed proposals for painting the interior of the Winship School, Dighton street, Brighton district, Boston, and giving bond of a surety company approved by the Commissioners in the sum of 45 per cent of the entire contract price. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Room 1009, City Hall Annex, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock m. of Friday, June 30, 1922, at said office, with a certified check of $500, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. The proposal shall be made in duplicate, the one with the check to be submitted as indicated above and the other to be deposited with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening proposals. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all proposals. A deposit of $5 in cash or by certified check will be required for a set of specifications, said sum to be refunded on return of specifications. Mutilation of specifications will be deemed sufficient cause for the forfeiture of the said deposit.

Thomas P. Glynn,
James J. Mahar,
Commissioners.
John H. Dunn,

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Claflin Street, between C and D streets, South Boston.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sewerage works in Claflin street, between C and D streets, South Boston. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of three thousand (3,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Claflin Street," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Wednesday, July 5, 1922, with a certified check for six hundred (600) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or law, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, June 22, 1922. (June 24.)

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford,. Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492,524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

DELINQUENT TAX SALES.

CITY OF BOSTON.

CITY COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The owners and occupants of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Boston, in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified that the taxes and assessments thereon severally assessed for the years hereinafter specified, according to the lists committed by the assessors of taxes of said City to me as collector of taxes for said City, including assessments for the suppression of gypsy and brown-tail moths, remain unpaid, and that the smallest undivided part of said land sufficient to satisfy said taxes and assessments, with interests and all legal costs and charges, or the whole of said land if no person offers to take an undivided part thereof, will be offered for sale by public auction at the City Collector's office, on the second floor of the City Hall Annex on Court street, in said City of Boston, on Thursday, July 6, 1922, at 9.30 o'clock a. m., for the payment of said taxes and assessments, with interests, costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged.

The sums set against the following descriptions of the several parcels of land show the amounts due thereon respectively for the taxes and assessments for the nonpayment of which each of said parcels of land is to be sold, but do not include the cost and interest thereon and costs and charges incident to this sale:

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of contract made with A. Cefalo for building sewerage works in Rockland avenue between Grampian way and Caspian way, Dorchester, from June 3, 1922, to August 19, 1922, seventy-seven days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that on account of the nature of the rock excavation, and proximity to the water pipe and dwellings, the progress of excavation is necessarily slower than anticipated.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of contract with D. M. Biggs & Co. for surfacing the beach on the Strandway, at the foot of M and N streets, South Boston, from December 15, 1921, to July 20, 1922. When this contract was approved by the Mayor it was expected that the work would be completed by the date specified. It was decided by the city, after the contract was made, to install a lighting system. The work of the Biggs Company was delayed thereby, hence the reason for the extension requested.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of contract made with the Rowe Contracting Company for asphalt concrete pavement in the Arborway from Forest Hills street to Morton street and Morton street from Forest Hills avenue 1,200 feet easterly, from June 15, 1922, to August 15, 1922. This extension has been granted on account of the unavoidable delay to the contractor in the procuring of materials which he had to furnish.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 27 the Mayor approved a renewal of the deck, sheathing and a portion of the stringers upon the Chelsea Street Bridge with the department force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 26, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to renew deck, sheathing and some stringers on Chelsea Street Bridge with department force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,100. This is regular maintenance work and, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 27 the Mayor approved a renewal of the deck, sheathing and a portion of the stringers upon the Dover Street Bridge. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 23, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to renew deck and sheathing and some stringers on Dover Street Bridge draw span with the department force of this division, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,900. This is regular maintenance work and, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 28 the Mayor approved a contract with the George A. Fuller Company for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 27, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to the George A. Fuller Company, Board of Trade Building, Boston, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and the abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

Upon June 23 the Mayor approved a contract with H. S. Rudnick for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to H. S. Rudnick, 206 Harold street, Roxbury, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and the abutters; also, because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 29 the Mayor approved a contract with the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for installing oil burning apparatus in the Roxbury High School, Roxbury. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT,
June 27, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for furnishing and installing complete oil-burning apparatus in the Roxbury High School, in the sum of five thousand eight hundred and forty-five (5,845) dollars.

The reasons for making this request are as already set forth in our letter to you of the 20th inst. relative to a similar contract for the High School of Practical Arts. One of the members of this Board has spent much time in investigating oil-burning plants in and around Boston, and has seen several of the 200 installations made in this city by the above named company, which are operating very satisfactorily in various types of heating and power plants, firing various kinds of boilers, carrying pressures from one to fifty pounds. Investigation has also been made of oil-burning apparatus installed by this company in several schools in Pawtucket, which were found to be operating successfully and economically.

The Board feels that while oil-burning is beyond the experimental stage, still it is an experiment as far as this Board is concerned, and the Board is therefore desirous of installing in this building apparatus which has been installed and successfully operated in many plants in this section. The Board has received figures from other concerns for installing the concrete tank in connection with the apparatus in the school named, but the figure given by the Petroleum Heat and Power Company is lower than the other figures submitted.

Since no advantage would be gained for the city by publicly advertising this work, the Board, as above stated, requests your approval of its vote awarding the contract to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN, Chairman.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 23 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for furnishing an automobile for the Assessing Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the Boston Buick Company for furnishing to the Assessing Department one five-passenger Model 22-45 Buick touring car, $1,525; less allowance on old E45 Buick touring car, $300; net cost, $1,225

The Assessing Department has used the Buick touring car for several years, and find that it is the one best suited for their requirements.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon June 26 the Mayor approved a contract for furnishing to the Boston Sanatorium, one new five-passenger touring car. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 26, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising for same, for furnishing to the Boston Sanatorium, one new five-passenger Buick touring car, 1922 model, at a price of $1,525; extra tire and tube, $6.50; wheel chains, $6.50; bumper, $23.50. Total amount of contract, $1,591.50. The Boston Sanatorium has used the Buick type of car in the past and finds that it fulfills all requirements necessary and in a satisfactory manner.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon June 26 the Mayor approved a contract with the U. S. C. I. Pipe and Foundry Company for furnishing to the Water Service, Public Works Department, approximately 20 lengths of 20-inch high pressure pipe. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 26, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the U. S. C. I. Pipe and Foundry Company for furnishing to the Water Service, Public Works Department, approximately twenty lengths of 20-inch high pressure pipe at a price of $48.95 per ton of 2,000 pounds delivered.

This pipe is needed to complete the extension of the high pressure system in Pearl street, from Franklin street to end of present high pressure pipe in Pearl street near High street, and if the order can be placed at once with the above mentioned company, it will be included in the water shipment on the next boat at a saving of approximately $4 per ton over the cost of rail shipment. As these additional lengths are urgently needed to complete operations in Pearl street, I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon June 29 the Mayor approved a contract with the Addressograph Company for an automatic addressograph, 80,000 card index plates and 532 steel filing drawers. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

MEMORIAL TO SAMUEL CARR.

The Board of Trustees of the Boston Public Library, at their meeting on Friday, June 23, passed the following resolution:

The Public Library of the City of Boston,
In Board of Trustees,
Friday, June 23, 1922.

"By the death of Mr. Samuel Carr, May 29, 1922, the Board of Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston has lost its oldest member. Mr. Carr was appointed a trustee June 24, 1895, to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. S. A. B. Abbott who had resigned. He served until April 30, 1896, and in June of that year the trustees placed upon record the following resolution:

> "As Mr. Samuel Car has ceased to be a Trustee of the Public Library by reason of the expiration of his term of office, his associates on the Board desire to express and record their appreciation of his valuable services; it is therefore
> "Resolved, That Mr. Carr, by his faithful and successful discharge of his official duties, is entitled to the gratitude of the citizens and friends of the library.
>
> "Always manifesting deep interest in his trust, he was constant in attending our meetings and ready at all times to perform his share of the work. To the many important matters specially referred to his consideration he gave faithful attention, exhibiting therein excellent judgment and great executive ability.
>
> "His thorough knowledge of business principles and methods enabled him to render valuable assistance to the Board, and made his work useful and beneficial.
> "Resolved, That the Trustees gratefully accord to him the freedom of the alcoves, with the customary privileges.

"Mr. Carr was again appointed a trustee of the library May 1, 1908, and served continuously from that date to the time of his death. In February, 1917, he was elected vice president, which office he continued to hold through the remainder of his career. His term of service therefore extended over twenty-seven years, almost the lifetime of a generation.

"The city which can command a service like this of a man, prominent in the financial and business world, burdened with many responsibilities, who gladly gave to the work of the library the benefit of his business ability and wise judgment, may indeed count itself fortunate. To his fellow trustees the death of Mr. Carr means not only a loss to the city, but a personal sorrow.

"Always courteous and considerate, singularly modest and self-effacing, it is not too much to say that Mr. Carr through his long term of service endeared himself to every member of the Board. With all his gentleness of manner and speech there was also a quiet courage in standing always for what he felt to be the highest interests of the library. He has left to the City which he loved a fine example of unselfish and efficient service and to his friends of the Library Board a happy memory which they will ever cherish.

"Resolved, That this minute be placed upon our records, and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Carr and also to the press."

ORGANIZATION OF NAVAL RESERVE.

Lieutenant Edward F. Sullivan of the United States Junior Naval Reserve is now in Boston at the Army and Navy Club, 10 Park square, for the purpose of organizing posts and recruiting membership for the United States Junior Naval Reserve, which is already flourishing and functioning in thirty-four states. The purpose of the Junior Naval Reserve is to work along lines similar to the Boy Scouts in organization and discipline and devote its energies to training boys in the work and tradition of the American marine, with a view of giving the America of tomorrow a trained force from which our maritime marine may draw in peace and our military marine in war.

The services of the members of the Junior Naval Reserve now and hereafter are purely voluntary; and it is designed to educate these boys along lines calculated to develop habits of discipline and obedience, a fine spirit of patriotism and devotion to the flag, to give them a knowledge of American naval history, the traditions and achievements of our navy and impress upon them during their impressionable age the need and purpose of an American military and merchant marine, the wisdom of building up a potential personnel for it and its relation to development, expansion and prosperity of American commerce and industry.

The United States Junior Naval Reserve and its purposes are warmly indorsed by President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of the Navy Denby and other dignitaries; and here in Massachusetts, Governor Cox, Mayor Curley, Admiral Wiley and other public men are keenly interested in the project. Up to date some thirty-four states have organized posts of the Junior Naval Reserve and it is felt that Massachusetts, the mother of the American marine, and with whose name its greatest glories are associated, should be up and doing and placing herself in the forefront of the movement. Lieutenant Sullivan intends to get recruits for the Junior Reserve and to have a post organized and functioning before he returns to New York. Mayor Curley has placed himself on record in its favor and will do all he can to make the movement successful, as he feels the organization has in it just the spirit and purpose that will restore our maritime supremacy and bring back to Boston the commerce and industry she is now endeavoring to reestablish in all its former vigor and permanency.

THE GARBAGE CONTRACT.

Coleman Brothers, Inc., began upon the 1st instant the operation of the plant at Spectacle Island for disposal of city household garbage for the ensuing ten years at payments that will aggregate in all $3,789,000.

To familiarize themselves with the condition of the plant which this corporation inherits from the Boston Sanitary and Development Company, which has conducted the plant through the ten years now ending, Mayor Curley, Public Works Commissioner Rourke, Health Commissioner Mahoney and Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan went to the island upon the 30th ultimo upon an inspection trip.

It will be the Curley administration's aim, the Mayor said, to end the obnoxious odors at the plant, which has caused many complaints from South Boston residents and dwellers in other waterfront communities.

To realize this, the city must spend at least $50,000 over the agreed contract price for improved machinery designed to obliterate odors, and the inspection was with this end in view.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of Appleton road, Brighton district, as a highway, northwesterly from Lake street, with the name of Undine road or some other distinctive name.

A highway named Undine road is hereby laid out, northwesterly from Lake street, and ordered constructed.

The said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Lake street, fifty-one and 41/100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, by three measurements, eighteen and 6/100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius, two hundred forty-seven and 67/100 feet and four hundred eight and 72/100 feet; again southwest by the boundary line between the City of Boston and the city of Newton, forty and 24/100 feet; northeast by the northeasterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, three and 62/100 feet; west by the westerly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, ninety-one and 18/100 feet on a curve of eighty feet radius; northeast by the northeasterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, thirty feet; east by the easterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, one hundred one and 75/100 feet on a curve of fifty feet radius; northeast by the northeasterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, by two measurements, three hundred sixty-nine and 69/100 feet and two hundred fifty-nine and 84/100 feet; and northwest by the northwesterly line of said Undine road as hereby laid out, thirteen and 36/100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly and southwesterly sides of Undine road, within a maximum depth of one hundred feet on both sides of Undine road as hereby laid out, and the lots of abutting land at the northerly and southerly corners of Undine road and Lake street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein.

	Amount.
John H. Sullivan	$1,225 55
John H. Sullivan	1,125 00
John H. Sullivan	616 48
Daniel F. Sullivan	329 07
Ellen M. Gifford Sheltering Home Corporation	1,846 75
Annie Sullivan	834 19
Total,	$5,977 04

The Board determines that the undermentioned estates sustain damages by the making of the public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of Undine road, Brighton district, as a highway, northwesterly from Lake street, for the amounts respectively set against them herewith and awards said amounts therefor.

	Amount.
John H. Sullivan, 3,730 square feet	$186 50
Daniel F. Sullivan, 381 square feet	30 48
Annie Sullivan, 1,836 square feet	220 32

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the orders of the Board of Street Commissioners for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Ainsworth street, between 140 feet southeast of Centre street and 90 feet northwesterly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $450.

Sixteen catch-basins and 200 feet of minor drain in Blue Hill avenue, between Dudley street and Warren street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $5,467.

A sanitary sewer of ten-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 2-foot 3-inch concrete and 22-inch, 20-inch, 18-inch and 16-inch earthen pipe, three drop inlets and eight catch-basins in Washington street, between Auburn street and Beech street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $20,700.

LETTER FROM COMMISSIONER ROURKE.

The following communication was addressed by Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department to the Finance Commission, under date of the 23d instant:

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
June 23, 1922.

Hon. Michael H. Sullivan, Chairman, Boston Finance Commission, 413 Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I desire to acknowledge receipt of your report dated June 20, relating to defective work and materials in the construction of granolithic sidewalks on Ashfield, Congreve, Hastings and Walk Hill streets, West Roxbury.

I appreciate the solicitude with which your commission regards any considerable work done for the City of Boston that proves to be so unsatisfactory as that referred to. Without doubt your letter was intended only to illustrate, for the benefit of the present administration, glaring inefficiencies on the part of the previous administration in its awarding and enforcing certain city contracts. Unfortunately, however, when published in the newspapers it was susceptible by the casual reader of an interpretation that gave it the appearance of well-merited criticism of the present administration, and, indeed, some of our newspapers were inconsiderate enough to give it head lines carrying that very impression. It is not necessary for me to assure you that I do not believe that you, personally, had any intention of doing me or any other official of this administration an injustice. I cannot help feeling, however, that the detailed references in your recent letter, addressed to me and published in the local papers, might have been of greater immediate benefit to the citizens of Boston had it been published earlier, since the work you criticise was done under a contract with the John Kelley Company, which contract was approved by Mayor Peters in June, 1920, and the defective conditions resulting from the poor quality of this accepted work were apparent in the early summer of 1921.

Your report indicates that there was a lack of proper supervision over a certain catch-basin cleaning contract, and this observation was given wide publicity immediately preceding the election of mayor in 1917, when the present Mayor was a candidate for re-election.

During the entire four years of the present Mayor there was no criticism from your commission of the construction of pavements or sidewalks, either with regard to workmanship, materials or methods, with the single exception of a small job on Birch street, West Roxbury. In that instance some of the abutters claimed that the work was not done entirely in accordance with the specifications, but after a hearing given it appeared that there was little or no cause for just complaint.

Your recent report to me would seem to indicate that in your judgment there was very grave negligence during the Peters administration, in the matter of street construction on Smith and Conant streets, Roxbury, and on Centre street, West Roxbury, and that your criticisms and recommendations respecting these instances appear to have been given very little corrective attention by the officials of that administration. It is not entirely improbable to expect that there may later be disclosed many other examples of poor workmanship or materials which have been inherited by the present administration from faulty work, poorly inspected, under the previous administration. In such an event, should it become necessary for you to publicly address me respecting such matters, I trust that there will be no uncertainty as to the particular official or administration which should bear the blame therefor.

The particular work of the John Kelley Company done in 1920, and accepted by the city, and mentioned in your report, was above ground and easily to be inspected; it is not easy for me to say what we may expect of the underground work which was covered up as rapidly as completed, and not now capable of easy inspection.

With respect to the city's Paving Service, referred to in your report, it is undoubtedly true that this branch of the Public Works Department during the past four years has become demoralized; and it appears at times almost impossible to hope for immediate improvement without the removal of the various officials who are wholly or partly responsible for such complete breakdown. Considerable progress, however, has been made by this administration in greater efficiency and better methods within the Paving Service. This is due partly because its employees now expect that there will be no outside influence interfering with the conduct of its work and that the Mayor and Commissioner of Public Works will back up any proper action by the employees that is taken to carry out the specifications and requirements of all contracts.

It has been reported that the proper fulfilling of contracts during the previous administration was prevented by orders originating not in the Mayor's office or that of the Commissioner of Public Works, with the result that the contractors often did their work without proper or adequate inspection or supervision. This particular sidewalk built by the John Kelley Company may be a striking example of a contractor being permitted to do as he pleased.

It was this same John Kelley Company which, toward the close of the Peters administration and when it was expected in certain quarters that his successor would be one more acceptable to him perhaps than the present Mayor, without protest from anyone, accepted and paid for a shipment of soilamis cement to be used as a substitute for Portland cement in the paving contract for North Beacon street, Brighton. I am reluctant to believe that it was regarded by any official of that administration that, as a favor to this company, the city was obliged to accept the soilamis cement even though it was an irregular proceeding on the part of the city official assenting thereto.

The present chief inspector of the Paving Service has been known to the Commissioner of Public Works for many years; his reputation for integrity and conscientious discharge of public duties assures us that he is capable of exercising proper supervision of the inspectors, if backed up by his superiors. The present Commissioner of Public Works early gave instructions to immediately suspend any inspector found lax in supervisory work and has insisted that the specifications on all contracts be carried out. The chief inspector is privileged to appeal directly to the Commissioner, if necessary, to obtain proper results. He has been instructed that if these directions were not followed to the very letter, he, himself, would be dismissed from the service.

Replying more specifically to your several recommendations:

1. That the position of chief inspector of the Paving Service be abolished: For the present it seems unnecessary and inadvisable that this recommendation be adopted or that the present incumbent should be superseded by another, unless his work under this administration should prove to be unsatisfactory. It is expected that under the present administration his work would be subject to as little criticism by the Finance Commission as it was during the former administration of Mayor Curley, under whom for practically a year and a half he held his present position. During that time some of the very best and most durable paving in the city was laid.

2. That daily reports of inspectors specify any departure from the specifications of the contracts or other irregularities on the part of the contractors: All inspectors are now required to do this very thing. Apparently, in the instance of the John Kelley Company job, referred to in your report, this was not required of the inspector in charge, whose word, by the way, seems to have had a great influence on the findings contained in the commission's report, although there was no mention in his current daily reports of any violation by the John Kelley Company of the contract specifications. Under the policy of the present administration this neglect would be inexcusable if so long continued.

3. That the contractor be required to replace the defective areas at once: It is understood by the present administration that this contractor has already made arrangements with a subcontractor to do this corrective work, which has been interfered with by weather conditions.

4. That the John Kelley Company be permitted to do no more work for the city: This suggestion of right should and shall be given serious consideration. Indeed, it has been the policy of the present Commissioner of Public Works, in awarding contracts, to eliminate, so far as it is legally practicable and without provoking the reasonable objection of your commission, contractors whose work in the past has proved defective or otherwise unsatisfactory.

In conclusion I beg to state that I have conferred with his Honor the Mayor relative to your communication and it is his most earnest desire that a definite program be determined upon which will serve to protect the city from unscrupulous contractors and venal inspectors, both of which in all human probability will be a heritage to municipalities until the end of time.

With that end in view he has requested me to extend an invitation to your commission to confer with him at the office of the Mayor, City Hall, on Wednesday, June 28, at 11 a. m., and has expressed a wish that an agreement may be made with your commission whereby they may appoint an inspection force independent of that now in the employ of the Public Works Department to check up the work of the inspection force now employed, so that those alone who are desirous of serving the city honestly and efficiently be permitted to continue in the employ of the city.

His Honor further directs me to say that he is prepared to submit to the Council a recommendation for the appropriation from Reserve Fund of such sum as may be required by the Finance Commission to render this most necessary service.

Respectfully submitted,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of an extension of Homes avenue, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Draper street to Mt. Ida road.

An extension of the highway named Homes avenue is hereby laid out, from Draper street to Mt. Ida road, and ordered constructed.

The said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwest by Draper street, forty and 6/100 feet; northwest by the northwesterly line of said extension of Homes avenue as hereby laid out, one hundred sixty-two and 70/100 feet; northeast by Mt. Ida road, forty feet; and southwest by the southeasterly line of said extension of Homes avenue as hereby laid out, one hundred sixty-four and 90/100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northwesterly and southeasterly sides of Homes avenue, from Draper street to Mt. Ida road, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein:

	Amount.
David Johnson, Christina Johnson	$106 24
Annie O'Donnell, Christina Johnson	15 30
Louis Sissenwine, Eva Sissenwine	188 64
Louis Sissenwine, Eva Sissenwine	114 80
Florence A. Sullivan, Nora M. Sullivan,	112 72
Louis Sissenwine, Eva Sissenwine	273 00
Arthur H. Douse	330 00
Total	$1,140 70

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of an extension of Homes avenue, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Draper street to Mt. Ida road, and awards no damages therefor.

LAND-TAKING IN ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Copenger street, Roxbury.

The property in the Roxbury district is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Copenger street, bounded:

East by Parker Hill avenue, six feet; south by another part of Copenger street, eighty feet; west by land hereinafter described as taken from Beatrice C. Russo, six feet; and north by another part of Copenger street, eighty feet; containing four hundred and eighty square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Beatrice C. Russo, bounded:

East by land hereinbefore described as taken from owners unknown (Copenger street), six feet; south by other land of said Russo, one hundred and twenty feet; west by land supposed to belong to William E. Lichfield, six feet; and north by other land of said Russo, one hundred and twenty feet; containing seven hundred and twenty square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 178 linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer and 178 linear feet of 12-inch pipe surface drain, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Copenger street, leading westerly from Parker Hill avenue and private land.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of said easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northerly and southerly sides of Copenger street, now or formerly owned by Beatrice C. Russo, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against them herein:

	Amount.
Beatrice C. Russo	$200
Beatrice C. Russo	200
Total	$400

A LESSON IN PATRIOTISM.

A patriotic American of the old school, a manufacturer and a resident of Boston, writes to Mayor Curley to ask if something cannot be done to bring about a minor reform that is a practical bit of Americanism and an object lesson for young America.

He has noted the number of children in the streets whose sailor hats and caps have a band bearing the name of some foreign ship such as "H. M. S. Duke," "H. M. S. Prince," and the names of war vessels of other countries. He makes the suggestion that department and other stores should make it a duty to carry hatbands bearing the names of American vessels such as "U. S. S. Yorktown," "U. S. S. Trenton," "U. S. S. Saratoga," which carry certain patriotic significance. He believes American fathers and mothers and school authorities should help this work along, since it is eminently practical and patriotic and not any more expensive than the alien habit.

The Mayor believes the idea is a good one and well worth practising and passes it along for adoption.

CITY HALL OPEN MONDAY.

Though usually generous in his orders permitting leaves of absence for city employees, Mayor Curley declined to sign the City Council's resolution that all employees who can be spared next Monday have that day, as well as July 4, away from City Hall.

The Mayor says he will work on Monday, as on any other day, and does not see why the entire city force should not be prepared to do the same. The public, he declares, will want to transact business as usual and City Hall departments should be fully manned.

POLICE ORDERS.

General Order No. 48.

A new police badge has been adopted by this department and will be sent to all stations for distribution among the officers.

Each badge is numbered on the back and when the badges are given out, each officer will be charged up with the badge given to him and will be held responsible for the same. These numbers will be recorded in the "Directory of Officers Attached to Divisions."

A list of the names of the officers with the numbers of the badges charged against them shall be forwarded immediately to the office of the property clerk; a duplicate list will be retained at each station for future reference.

Each officer, upon receiving the new badge, will deliver the old badge, or badges if he has more than one, to his division commander.

After all the old badges have been collected they will be counted at each division, placed in one package, tagged and plainly marked on the outside with the number of badges and the division from which they come, and forwarded immediately to the property clerk.

The new badge will be hereafter the official badge of the Police Department and no other badge will be recognized as official or will be worn by a police officer, whether on or off duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 49.

The following meritorious piece of police work has been brought to my attention by the commanding officer of Division 1:

On the afternoon of Wednesday, June 21, one Frederico Spirito was shot and killed on North Margin street by a man from Watertown. Patrolman Hazen A. Chalmers of Division 1 was on Endicott street at the time, heard the shots, immediately ran to North Margin street, and seeing the man running away with a revolver in his hand, pursued and caught him.

I heartily commend Patrolman Chalmers for his courage and good judgment in making the above arrest, and in recognition of his excellent police service I hereby grant him one day's leave of absence from duty with pay, said day to be arranged by the commanding officer of the division.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 50.

The commanding officer of Police Division 11 has brought to my attention an act of unusual efficiency on the part of Patrolman Albert R. Elwood of that division.

While patrolling his route on Washington street on the afternoon of June 22, Patrolman Elwood saw two strange men coming from a doorway with bundles under their arms, and knowing that there had recently been several breaks on the division, he started towards the men for the purpose of questioning them. The men, seeing a police officer following them, threw their bundles to the sidewalk and ran in opposite directions. Patrolman Elwood gave chase to one of the men, firing his revolver and calling on him to stop, and after pursuing him for a considerable distance, overtook and arrested him.

I am much gratified to learn of this excellent piece of police work and take pleasure in commending Patrolman Elwood for the quickness of observation and promptness of action which enabled him to make this arrest.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

LIBRARY SERVICE.

The year 1921 proved the banner year for book circulation through the Boston Public Library and its branches. The total number of books issued was 2,672,646, or 3.6 to each inhabitant of the city. But this increased use of the library will require larger appropriations and an increase in the staff and in the number of books, or a curtailment of some kind must result. For at present the resources of the library are taxed beyond capacity. Even now it is not able to give the service demanded.

The annual library report shows that immediate financial attention is necessary if it is to fulfill its purpose in the community. At the close of the fiscal year there were very nearly 110,000 cards out—cards which permit people to take books to their homes.

It is a curious fact that during the past year 53,175 persons allowed their borrowing privilege to lapse, but during the same time there were 49,371 new registrations and 8296 renewals, so that the total gain for the year is 4,492. An analysis of the registration shows that the female readers over sixteen years of age who take out books outnumber all the others, as do the females under sixteen. There have been issued to females over sixteen years of age 29,310 cards; to females under sixteen there have been issued 26,720; to males over sixteen there have been issued 23,699 cards, and to males under sixteen years of age 26,077. This analysis was made for the period between August 1, 1919, to July 31, 1921.

From February 1, 1921, to February 1, 1922, there were added 77,881 volumes to the library—18,150 more than in the preceding year—bringing the total in the Central Library and its 31 branches and 820 deposit stations up to 1,258,211.

Among the books acquired have been 31,000 for young readers, including 6,000 educational text books, at a cost of $25,000. For reference books, including encyclopedias, dictionaries and atlases $10,000 was spent; for a specially selected collection of technical books, $2,000, and for a collection in the fine and industrial arts, $1,200. There were added 5,219 volumes of new fiction, comprising 443 titles, of which 87 were in foreign languages. The fiction books averaged $1.65 a volume.

It is getting more and more difficult to provide for the attendance at Bates Hall in the Central Library. Last year 251,141 books were brought from the library station to readers in this hall, mostly students. All this has led to an unusual wear and tear on the reference books, especially the encyclopedias and dictionaries.

The need of books and of an increased appropriation to allow the appointment of additional assistants is so great the trustees say that, "in making up the budget they have felt it unwise to allow for any increase in salaries other than those due to grade increases. The Board has come to this conclusion with regret because they still feel the desirability as a matter of justice of increased appropriations in order that chiefs of departments, first assistants and librarians of branches and reading rooms especially may be paid salaries for service rendered.

The library has total appropriations of $741,993 for the present year, $5,127 less than the previous year.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 50.

I. Change in Location of Fire-Alarm Box.

Fire alarm box No. 1424, located in the John Hancock Building, 178 Devonshire street, has been moved into the Massachusetts Trust Company building, 200 Devonshire street. It has been taken out of circuit No. 5 and connected into circuit No. 10.

Company commanders will see that the necessary changes are made in assignment cards.

II. New Fire-Alarm Box.

Box No. 3626 will shortly be established at Adams and Franconia streets. The assignment of apparatus will be the same as for Box 3642. The new box will be connected into circuit No. 38.

III. Fire-Alarm Box Taken Out of Service.

Fire alarm box No. 3232, formerly located in St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Jerome street, has been removed from service for an indefinite period. The building in which the box was located is being demolished to make room for a new structure.

IV. Correction in Assignment Cards.

The following change in covering of apparatus is hereby ordered:

Box 2575, Engine 37 to Engine 28, on fourth alarm.

Company commanders will see that this correction is made in assignment cards.

V. Gasolene.

A contract to supply gasolene to the various departments of the city has been made with the Colonial Filling Stations, Inc., 156 Sixth street, East Cambridge. On and after Monday, June 26, 1922, until further notice, gasolene will not be accepted at fire stations unless delivered by the Colonial Filling Stations, Inc.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner.

John O. Taber,
Chief of Department.

LARGE GRAIN SHIPMENTS.

With the grain being loaded in steamers in Boston this week there will have left Boston in less than two weeks nearly 1,000,000 bushels of grain as the result of the activity of Mayor Curley for increased port traffic.

During last week there were loaded and departed two ships with 500,000 bushels of grain, consisting of wheat, corn and oats, while this week there are two vessels loading with a total of 411,845 bushels. Of the grain loading this week 280,000 bushels are being loaded into the "Alcyone," of a Dutch line of steamers chartered for this trip by Rogers & Webb, and 131,845 bushels being loaded into the United States Shipping Board ship "Homestead." This cargo consists of corn and oats consigned to Southampton.

These shipments are increasing rapidly and the prospects for shipments to the extent of a million bushels a week are very bright according to Mayor Curley.

MAYOR SECURES SHIPS.

Through the efforts of Mayor Curley and those working with him for port development, the Dollar Line has agreed to make Boston a regular port of call for a year. News of the decision came to the Mayor from Robert Dollar upon the latter's arrival at San Francisco following a visit here and a trip through the Panama Canal.

Mr. Dollar, in his letter to the Mayor announcing his decision, says: "I can assure you it is a great pleasure to me to find that the big men of Boston are so much interested in the commerce of the port, and I can assure you that we will do our best to develop and increase the trade.

"I have decided to run our steamers for possibly one year's time and do our very best and that will, I feel confident, develop the fact that it is possible for us to operate out of Boston permanently."

"Without commerce industrial progress and expansion are impossible, and without the loyal co-operation of the manufacturer, merchant, shipper and carrier commerce cannot be made to function successfully. This spirit of loyal co-operation, of civic patriotism, is neither as ardent nor as evident as Boston and New England need," was the comment of Mayor Curley, when making known the decision of the Dollar Line to call at Boston.

"It is necessary," he added, "that the advent of the Dollar corporation should be made a permanent and successful venture. The success of the Dollar Company will attract others to us; and if we will all unite for the commerce, industry and welfare of New England, and by our conduct and effort show that our slogan 'Ship Through Boston' is our creed we will see the former power, prosperity and prestige of Boston restored. Unity in purpose and co-operation in effort will put Boston on the map of the world's commerce."

PARKING SPACES ESTABLISHED.

New parking spaces have been established in the middle of State street, between McKinley square and Atlantic avenue, where automobiles may park for not more than one hour at a time, and the new rules became effective upon the 26th instant.

In connection with the establishment of this new parking space, the Street Commission has ordered that no cars be permitted to park at the curb on either side, except vehicles with loads that they are delivering or taking on, and then only a sufficient time to load or unload.

The reserved space for parking is 21 feet wide at the McKinley square end and 26 feet wide at the lower end. It is not continuous because openings are left opposite hydrants and back of the Elevated tunnel station. On each side of the new reserve space there is a 21-foot driveway.

This change comes as the result of the Street Commission's heeding the protests of the firemen and merchants in the vicinity against the use of the middle of the street for trucks to stand while they were exchanging loads or gathering up new loads by means of canvassing merchants in the neighborhood.

IMPORTANT LEGAL RULING.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, has issued an important legal ruling relative to the privileges to be extended to licensed victualers in Boston.

Mr. Sullivan's ruling is as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department, June 21, 1922.

Re Bakeries Act, Chapter 418 of the Acts of 1920, and Its Application to Thompson's Spa.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Honored Sir,—Your Honor's letter to me of June 16 I have received, together with a letter of Tyler, Tucker, Eames & Wright, counsel for Thompson's Spa, addressed to your Honor under date of June 12. Both communications have received my serious consideration and I have examined the instant statute.

There is no doubt in my mind that the intent of the Legislature was not that this particular act should apply to such a place as the Thompson Spa restaurant.

All the former acts, of which the instant act is an amendment, related to the sale of bread and other food products as merchandise. Other acts intended to protect the quality of the food served in restaurants or hotels are definite in their application to such places.

There is no food exposed on the counters at Thompson's Spa that is either displayed or offered for "sale" within the terms of chapter 418 of the Acts of 1920, now incorporated in the General Laws.

Such food as is to be found on the counters at Thompson's Spa is not for "sale" but is there for immediate service, and this distinction is an essential one even though the price of such service is charged a la carte. When food is furnished by a restaurant or hotelkeeper to be consumed by his guests or patrons on the premises, it is not a sale of merchandise but of service only. The customer is expected to consume only so much of that which is served as he desires, the remnants thereof still remaining the property of the restaurant keeper.

The earlier statutes, of which the instant statute is an amendment, clearly indicate that the intention of the Legislature was to regulate the "sale" of food and not the disposition of food immediately before it was served.

There is no food "displayed" in Thompson's Spa restaurant within the terms of the instant act. It does not follow, however, from this that there are not restaurants to which this word "display" would apply. There are many restaurants where bakery products, together with other food products, are "displayed" in large quantities and in great variety for the very purpose of attracting the attention of possible patrons. Such food as is to be found upon the counters at Thompson's Spa is not displayed to attract attention. It is there temporarily and remains there for only so long as it serves the immediate convenience of the waitress and the customer, and usually as the result of some special order from a customer.

Such bakery products and other edibles as are sold at Thompson's Spa, not to be consumed on the premises but to be taken out from the place, are never displayed and are packed in boxes in the kitchen.

The application of this statute, therefore, to the Thompson's Spa restaurant is, in my opinion, an absurd "McCaffreyism" and the instant prosecution begun against this restaurant should be abandoned. I shall, with your Honor's permission, so advise the Health Commissioner, to whom I shall forward a copy of your letter, together with the letter of Tyler, Tucker, Eames & Wright, attorneys for Thompson's Spa, addressed to your Honor under date of June 12.

Respectfully yours,

E. Mark Sullivan,
Corporation Counsel.

PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES.

City Collector William M. McMorrow announced the establishment in each ward of the city of a branch agency where, at a designated time during the day or evening, the $5 poll tax may be paid by those men who have received bills within the past week.

These branches will be maintained at some time during the day, with one of the deputy collectors in charge, until July 15, after which date those who have not paid must pay at the Collecting Department windows in City Hall Annex, or mail a check and their bill to that office.

Reasonable time will be given in which to settle this bill, and there will be abatements where destitution can be proved. But, after a date to be announced later, the unpaid bills will be turned over to the constables and the face of the bill will begin mounting at a pace corresponding to the difficulty the constable has in collecting each. For flat refusal to pay finally, the alternative is a stay in jail.

Partial exemption is to be extended to all veterans of the World War and the Spanish War, but, to secure it, the individual must file formal application with the Board of Assessors in their office, City Hall Annex, third floor. After each has proved his right to the abatement, the $5 bill will be marked down to $2, the normal poll tax. The city must pay to the state $3 per head for every man upon whom this poll tax is assessable; this $3 is the city's share of the state's disbursements two years ago of $100 bonuses to all the state's veterans, including those of Boston residence.

REJECTED CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved six claims against the city in which no amounts were specified. They are classified as follows:

Against the Fire Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Police Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Public Works Department, four, in which no amounts were specified.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

L. DeSisto & Co. have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Ogden street and Wilmington avenue, Dorchester; Ashfield street, Berry street, Conway street, Dunbar street, Fairview street, Maple street, Orange street, Primrose street, South street, Walter street, Weld street, Westover street and Willow street, West Roxbury.

CONGRATULATIONS UPON LAUNCHING.

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram of congratulation to Mayor Couzens of Detroit, upon the 29th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
June 29, 1922.

Hon. James Couzens,
Mayor of Detroit, Detroit, Mich.:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I pray you will accept the congratulations of the City of Boston upon the launching of the magnificent cruiser "Detroit" and which makes not only a notable accession to the United States Navy, but finely honors the fourth city of our nation. I regret beyond measure that your illness prevented the formal extension of the freedom of the City of Boston. I sincerely trust that at some later day I shall have the honor of greeting you upon the deck of the "Detroit" when in New England waters. With many assurances of esteem,

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

INSPECTOR KEVENEY SUSPENDED.

As punishment for negligence of duty in examination of the West Roxbury concrete sidewalk work performed by John Kelly & Co., contractors, Chief Paving Inspector James A. Keveney will be suspended for thirty days by Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke. After his suspension Mr. Keveney, according to the Commissioner, will be transferred to work in a city yard, a demotion which will not affect his $1,600 salary.

The contractor complained of will be barred from further bidding on any city contract for one year and the Finance Commission will create a staff of three inspectors of its own to check up the inspection work of the city Public Works Department.

This step was originally suggested by Mayor Curley. The decisions arrived at were made at a conference attended by the Mayor, Chairman M. H. Sullivan and two other members of the Finance Commission and Public Works Commissioner Rourke.

The Kelly Company is now performing an asphalt surface paving contract for the city in North Beacon street, Brighton, and since it will eventually be forced to abide by the specification of the contracts covering the faulty concrete work in Ashfield, Congreve, Hastings and Walk Hill streets, the year's suspension from bidding is considered sufficient punishment.

SHIPMENTS OF RUBBER.

Official confirmation of an arrangement recently entered into between the largest shippers of crude rubber in Java and the Boston Commercial and Industrial Bureau has been received in a letter to the Mayor's office from Borgemeister and Birnie, of New York, American agents.

It has been the custom of the big rubber growers of Java to ship rubber to Holland and England and there await forwarding instructions. The house of Birnie determined to save time and a long haul by shipping direct to the United States and sent J. Birnie, Jr., head of the firm, on an investigating tour to determine what port offered the best facilities for handling, storing and shipping rubber.

Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia and Boston were all given consideration and Boston was finally selected as offering by far the most expeditious and at the same time economical facilities.

The first shipment of rubber has already been routed from Java and will be sent via the Dollar Line, which will discharge at the Army Base Pier. The shipment is expected to arrive in about three weeks.

TREE FOR COLONEL FOLEY.

Col. Thomas F. Foley of Worcester, Commander of the 101st Infantry, is to have a tree planted in his honor upon Oliver Wendell Holmes Mall, Boston Common, commemorative of his visit to Boston.

Colonel Foley called at City Hall to confer with Mayor Curley. The Park Department was requested to honor him by attaching a brass plate bearing his name to the tree which will be planted within a few weeks.

IMPORTATION OF COAL.

England has begun to ship coal to Boston. The first cargo to come to this city in twenty years reached this city from Newcastle and is being discharged at the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad docks in South Boston. This announcement was made by Mayor Curley as he explained that in the event of trouble at the coal mines in this country Boston would not be forced to freeze this winter.

"This consignment of coal," explained the Mayor, "is to be followed by others from this same district, though this coal is for the use of the New Haven road. The presence of this coal in Boston is explained by officials of the road as due to the shippers with whom the road has contracted for its supply.

"The shippers, I am told, felt that in order to keep their contract with the road they had to secure their coal abroad. To be able to do this and to make money speaks none too well for the coal trade conditions in this country nor for the price arrangements. However, the big thing in connection with the presence of this coal is that it can be brought from outside the country at a price that shows the coal barons are still robbing the people and profiteering."

The boat bringing the coal is the "Harsley Wood," of the Wood Line, and has on board 3,707 tons. When unloaded she will go to Mobile for a return cargo of lumber.

EXTRA TIME ON CONTRACT.

An extension of two weeks' time has been granted the William H. Ellis and Son Company, contractors, in which to complete the work of replanking Eastern avenue Wharf, Boston.

There are two reasons why it has become necessary for this firm to request an extension of time:

1. There was an extremely high tide which interfered with the electric lighting system to such an extent that it had to be repaired. This, of course, delayed the contractor, as his men could not work while the repairs were being completed.

2. It is necessary to keep the wharf open for traffic and this fact interrupts the contractor's work.

ARBITRATION SUGGESTED BY MAYOR.

Mayor Curley tendered his services as arbiter in an effort to forestall a threatened ruinous rate war among the intercostal lines operating from Boston, in the following telegram to the head of the United States Shipping Board:

A. D. Lasker, Chairman, United States Shipping Board, Washington, D. C.:

Threatened rate war and dissolution of the Atlantic Intercostal Conference menaces the upbuilding of the Port of Boston, now in a state of continuing improvement. I offer my personal services and the assistance of the Boston Commercial and Industrial Bureau in bringing about a complete understanding and suggest an immediate conference of all operating intercostal lines be called by you to be held at the Mayor's office.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

RUSSIAN RELIEF FUND.

A million cans of condensed milk for Russian babies, who are said to be dying for lack of proper nourishment, have been asked of Boston by the Russian Babies' Relief Association. Mayor Curley has authorized a tag day, Saturday, July 22, to raise money for the undertaking.

The city will pay for a concert at the Parkman bandstand from noon until two o'clock of that day, and during the concert collectors will pass through the crowd. Each auditor will be expected to contribute the price of from one to one hundred cans of condensed milk. Mayor Curley says that philanthropic Boston women are members of the association conducting the campaign.

NO VACATION EXTENSION.

Mayor Curley has vetoed the proposal that the forty-two attaches of the Public Welfare Department may be allowed a three weeks' vacation this summer instead of the customary two weeks. He informed the officials of the Department yesterday that the movement must go no farther.

Mayor Curley's position is that if the employees of this department are given a three weeks' vacation workers in other departments would be after him to obtain a similar privilege. He thinks that this custom, if once established, would cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars yearly.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

BOSTON TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS.

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, February 1, 1921, for various purposes, 128, representing a total value of $10,025,490. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, the income from which (about $195,000 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,377,877; next in amount, $907,894, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Public Welfare; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $766,808; (4) 41 Public Library funds, $674,533; (5) Public School Teachers' Retirement, $665,568; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $609,839; (7) Permanent School Pension, $380,516; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,936; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $97,750; 18 others, $166,219. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Two other funds are held by incorporated members of the Fire Department and Police Department respectively, viz.: Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting to $240,000 and Police Relief Fund, $232,005.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees. A loan of $150,000 for this object has been authorized but not yet issued.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Salt Creek Brook Conduit, Under Boston & Albany Railroad, Brighton.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sewerage works in Salt Creek Brook Conduit, under Boston & Albany Railroad, Brighton. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of six thousand nine hundred (6,900) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Salt Creek Brook Conduit," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Thursday, July 13, 1922, with a certified check for thirteen hundred and fifty (1,350) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, June 29, 1922. (July 1.)

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492,524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

DEMOCRACY AND EDUCATION.

AN ORATION DELIVERED AT FANEUIL HALL, BOSTON, JULY 4, 1922, BY DR. JEREMIAH E. BURKE, SUPERINTENDENT OF BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Your Honor and Fellow Citizens:

Loyalty to the Past.

The Irish people among many beautiful legends have this: That the great O'Donoghue, though he died and was buried far from his native land, was brought back by angels to home and fatherland, there to rest in an unfrequented glen nearby his dear Killarney, awaiting the time when his country demanding his splendid services, he shall arise from the grave and lead his embattled hosts once more to victory.

Strange and fantastic though this legend appears, it is nevertheless true. Our great ones lead us from the grave. The spirit of the past abides with the present and controls the destinies of the future.

And in these stirring post-bellum days of restoration and readjustment the American people must not confound reconstruction with revolution. We must be loyal to the traditions of the past. We must adhere to whatever is best in the past, adapt it to the changed conditions of the present, and in the light of the present and the past anticipate the demands and the needs of the future. That is statesmanship and patriotism.

France broke with the past at the time of the French Revolution. Following Rousseau, the precursor, France attempted to reorganize everything anew. The old order was overthrown. The revolutionists revised the Gregorian calendar. They began with the year "1." They changed the names of the months and of the days of the week. Since the creation of the world seven days had constituted a week. According to the revolutionists the week should comprise ten days, based upon a decimal system—a desecration against which even the beasts of burden uttered protest. They overthrew the past, and the logical result was the Reign of Terror.

In more recent times another nation has broken with the past. Upon the battlefields of Sadowa and Sedan, Prussia, sated with power and greed, determined to establish a military despotism. The Prussian militarists disregarded the lessons of Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar and Napoleon. They would establish an absolute state. Bismarck proclaimed that the schoolmaster was abroad in the land, but the schoolmaster was not free. He was an officer of the state, obedient to the state, compelled to do the bidding of the state. What he should teach and how he should teach was prescribed by the state. All the agencies within the state became subservient to the military clique. Government existed for the favored few. In fifty years the thought of the people was distorted and malformed in conformity with despotic theories.

The state was apotheosized. The German people came to associate kaiser with deity; were led to believe that militarism was a blessing, that the hands of all the world were raised against them, and that Germany was justified on patriotic grounds in committing outrageous acts of sacrilege and brutality.

All of this wilful perversion of a people's mental and moral perspective was manifestly the result of a system of false education.

The Fathers of the Republic.

The forefathers of the American Republic did not break with the past. They built upon the past. The Pilgrim Fathers proclaimed allegiance to the past in the covenant to which they subscribed in the cabin of the "Mayflower." The uprising in '76 was an evolution as well as a revolution. And when the patriotic fathers met at Independence Hall on that immortal Fourth of July they declared no newly found principles, but they revoiced old truths. They assumed and they asserted that all men are created equal; not a few men but all men, not a clique or a faction but mankind everywhere.

This equality proclaimed by the fathers has never meant uniformity or similarity. Men differ in personal appearance, in intellectual power and in spiritual graces. What the fathers meant was that all men are equal before the law, and this idea implies equality of privilege and equality of opportunity. It means that every human being is entitled to an opportunity for development to the utmost of his capacity.

The framers of what Abraham Lincoln used to call that "immortal emblem," the Declaration of Independence, furthermore specifically declared that all men are endowed "with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Endowed by whom? By a czar, by a kaiser, by a party, by a military clique, by an absolute state? No! The forefathers were very explicit. They said, "All men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights." These rights, then, are inalienable, irrevocable, indefensible, God-given. I cannot forfeit them; that would be slavery. I must not usurp them; that would be tyranny. No one can deprive me of these rights but the Being who gave them to me. No man, no government, no human institution can deprive me of my inalienable, God-given rights.

The fathers have passed away, but they have bequeathed to us a stewardship, the safeguarding and the perpetuation of the rights and privileges which they have transmitted. For these blessings we are indebted to all the past; for their preservation and extension we are beholden to all the future. We, then, must keep faith with the past, with the present, and with the future. In the world's highest court of chancery we have been appointed guardians of these great eternal principles of popular sovereignty. This guardianship, this trusteeship, imposes tremendous responsibilities. These rights and privileges placed in our keeping are not ours to use or disuse as we may. They are in our custody today in order that we may put them at usury so that when the future demands an accounting we, worthy of our trust, will transmit them to posterity not only undiminished but more exalted than when they were bequeathed to us. And as faithful stewards we must safeguard this glorious heritage and stand prepared at all times to defend it, even at the sacrifice of our lives.

The Rights of Children.

We hear much in these later days about the rights of men—and of women—and all this is hopeful and commendable. But there are still too few to proclaim the rights of children. And yet children also possess rights, inalienable and irrevocable.

It is the right of children and youth to grow and develop; to acquire correct habits, physical, intellectual and spiritual; and under the most competent guidance to be educated to the highest possible extent compatible with their capacities and endowments; to the end that as individuals and as members of society they may occupy those stations in life for which they are best qualified by nature and by training, and that therein they may discharge duties, perform services and enjoy the blessings of liberty more abundantly than they could in any other place or sphere in life.

Physical Habits.

By the cultivation of correct physical habits one prepares for individual service. He thereby becomes capable of performing well his daily tasks; he may secure promotion or preferment; he experiences the bounding joy of health; he is cheerful and optimistic; he enjoys life and the pursuit of legitimate happiness. "Give us, oh, give us," says Carlyle, "the man who sings at his work."

Likewise one becomes the better equipped for patriotic service. Vitality is a national asset; conservation of health is a national responsibility. Courage to dare and power to do are essentials of personal security and national stability. A nation must have strong men in days of peace as well as in times of strife. There must always be brave mothers of heroic sons and daughters.

Battlefields are often won upon playgrounds. Here is treasured up that splendid reserve power—those Blucher forces—so indispensable to all great achievements, moral as well as physical.

Finally and chiefly there is a spiritual reason for the formation of proper physical habits. The body is the tabernacle of the soul, and as such should be made a worthy habitation for the indwelling of an immortal spirit.

Intellectual Habits.

Are developed in order that the individual may possess clarity of thought; that he may think straight; that he may have intellectual and moral courage; that he may form his own opinions and convictions; that he may think dispassionately and arrive at independent conclusions; that he may acquire the power of suspended judgment; that he may distinguish with judicial candor between the true and the false between the spurious and the genuine; that he may become a seeker after truth, truth in its moral loveliness—and the truth shall make him free!

Spiritual Habits.

Ideas rule the world but ideas must be inspired by ideals. Things of the mind are infinitely more to be treasured than things that are material. Likewise, the spiritual transcends the purely intellectual.

We are committed in this country, because of the composite character of our people, to the maintenance and support of a system of non-sectarian public schools This implies that within these schoolrooms there shall be permitted no partisan, racial or religious propaganda; that there shall not be introduced the tenets of any political party, or of any creed or of any race. These exclusions, however must not preclude the development of spiritual habits—the inculcation of great cardinal virtues such as obedience, industry, sobriety, thrift, probity, integrity, reliability, straightforwardness, trustworthiness, incorruptibility.

Indeed, the statute law of Massachusetts is mandatory and unequivocal in its insistence upon moral training in our schools. It reads as follows:

> The president, professors and tutors of the university at Cambridge and of the several colleges, all preceptors and teachers of academies and all other instructors of youth shall exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction the principles of piety and justice and a sacred regard for truth, love of their country, humanity and universal benevolence, sobriety, industry and frugality, chastity, moderation and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded; and they shall endeavor to lead their pupils, astheir ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution and secure the blessings of liberty as well as to promote their future happiness, and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices.

It is therefore, the child's right—it is his educational heritage—to possess these virtues as a touchstone to which all his thoughts and all his actions may be subjected. If he has these qualities deeply imbedded in his heart, if he possesses them as a vital part of his very being, then he may err for a time and wander far afield, but drawn back inevitably will he be by an irresistible impulse, by a centripetal force back to safe, spiritual anchorage. Controlled by these great spiritual influences, the private life of the individual will be safeguarded and his civic conduct assured. The welfare of child and the welfare of society, therefore, equally demands the cultivation of these moral and spiritual virtues.

But these physical, intellectual and moral qualities are not acquired overnight. They do not come in a morning dream. They do not fall into one's idle lap like windfalls from the clouds. They are the result of exercise continuously and persistently repeated and finally becoming automatic, habitual and reflexive. There needs to be incessant training in health culture, in right thinking and in moral purpose at every step in the child's career, from early childhood through adolescence into youth. complete and symmetrical education, which is the birthright of every American, requires a long probationary period. It imperatively demands that all boys and girls remain in school and under the influence of highly competent instructors until they are at least sixteen years of age, with a part-time attendance upon some sort of extension or continuation school for at least two years thereafter Thus there would be maintained an impersonal and a legally sanctioned stewardship over children and youth to protect, defend and direct them during the impressionable years of their minority, wherever they may be found, whether at work or at play, whether within or without the schoolroom.

Denial of this privilege is to defraud children and youth of their indisputable educational heritage. It is to deprive democracy of the fulfillment of its destiny.

Universal Education.

"And also point out the evil tendency of the opposite vices," urges the statute on moral instruction. It is insufficient that good habits be inculcated; vicious habits must be inhibited Gladstone in the beautiful essay which he wrote on his dear friend, Henry Hallam, the subject of Tennyson's "In Memoriam," gives expression to an idea which hitches in one's mind. Gladstone among other things says that the progress of the nineteenth century is described by two simple words, "Unhand me."

These two words, "unhand me," tell the whole story about education. Education—"unhand me"—means the removal, so far as possible, of all obstacles, restraints, impediments, whether they be physical, intellectual or spiritual, in order that free, untrammeled, all handicaps removed, I may work out my complete destiny—temporal and eternal; that as an individual I may enjoy the blessings of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and that, moreover, as a citizen I may become socially competent—a self-respecting, self-supporting coworker with my fellows in the life of the community and the Commonwealth.

Nature is not lavish in the distribution of her gifts. Nature revels in variability and diversity. One person has beauty of form, another brilliancy of intellect, a third magnanimity of soul. Rarely are all these gifts the possession of any single individual. Nature is inhospitable of the superman; she is prodigal of the average of the species. "God must love the common people," sagely remarked the incomparable Lincoln, "He creates so many of them."

There are radical differences in all the qualities that go to make up the normal child. Humanely and sanely these differences and peculiarities are becoming recognized in the life of the school. In place of rigid and uniform courses of study, curricula are being modified and reconstructed to satisfy the varying aptitudes and capacities of boys and girls, of groups of children, all equally deserving, all endowed with equality of rights and entitled to equality of opportunity.

Any discussion of plans and purposes is incomplete which fails to emphasize the twofold objective of education. Popular education subserves a twofold purpose: It should enable every boy and every girl—yes, every man and every woman—to rise to the very heights of his capabilities and endowments; and then, to become a citizen of power in the service of the Commonwealth. There must be provided in a democracy freely and fully equality of opportunity for personal improvement and success. But that is only one side of the shield. Running through all systems of education—like the ichor that courses through the veins of the gods—must be the throbbing impulse of service. Equal opportunity must be afforded every boy and girl to develop to the very utmost all his capacities and endowments; but when this is realized, when these heights are attained, then he or she in all humility and gratitude should dedicate all his achievements and successes not to self-glorification or self-aggrandizement, but rather to the service of his fellowmen and the welfare of the country. There should come into the lives of our future American citizens the exalted spirit of the craftsmen of the Middle Ages whose souls were in their tasks. And whatever they constructed—whether it were a simple product of metal from the locksmith, or the cathedral of many architects with its myriad of spires—everything they did was for the service of their fellowmen and for the glory of God.

All this implies that nation, state, city, town, all must unite in furnishing unlimited educational, recreational and vocational facilities for our children and our youth. There must be provided generously normal schools and colleges; junior colleges; state universities; part-time schools; continuation schools; industrial, prevocational and vocational schools; agricultural schools; textile schools; evening schools; Americanization classes; extension and collegiate courses, to meet the recurrent personal needs of innumerable groups of young people. We must popularize the school. We must make it attractive. We must place it directly in the pathways of our boys and girls, as so many ladders whereby they may climb upward and onward.

An ambitious and expensive program, I hear you protest. My reply is this: Democracy is expensive. It has been secured through infinite toil and sacrifice. It has cost the world its best blood and treasure. Our greatest national assets are first, education—free, universal education; and, second, its resultant, the highest possible degree of personal, civic and national intelligence and righteousness.

On the other hand, democracy's greatest national liability is ignorance. Parsimony in education means bankruptcy. In education we must spend freely that we may save. Education is more than insurance. It is our assurance against tomorrow's ills. Intelligent citizenship is the future's hope. Let us not forget. And let us be unyielding and insistent about the supereminence of education in a democracy.

Contemplate for one moment the cost of the world's great war. We are told that in round numbers the war cost the nations three hundred billion dollars. Take all the wealth of these United States, realty and personalty, of every conceivable kind, and roll it all up into one great mass and you will find it estimated at about three hundred billion dollars. Without mentioning the ineffable loss of human lives, horresco referens, the expense of the great war was commensurate with the property value of our entire country. And never forget this: The war was caused by the materialistic philosophy and the false education of the leaders of the German people.

And realize, further, that all property, whether personal or real, is worthless unless the people's will has been properly trained to respect and safeguard it in days of stress and storm.

Years ago in the Senate of the United States, while championing the cause of Greece and pleading for her independence, Henry Clay, quoting from the eternal law, exclaimed, "'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his own soul?' Or what shall it avail a nation to save the whole of a miserable trade and lose its liberties." We must save our soul at any cost. The soul of this nation is ideal education. Let us guard it as something sacred. Material things must pass away—the soul is for immortality. Our heritage is divine!

Liberty Under Law.

"To make a government," says Edmund Burke in his treatise on the French Revolution, "requires no great prudence. Settle the seat of power; teach obedience; and the work is done. To give freedom is still more easy. It is not necessary to guide; it only requires to let go the rein.

"But to form a free government, that is, to temper together those opposite elements of liberty and restraint in one consistent work, requires much thought, deep reflection, a sagacious, powerful and combining mind."

Having secured their independence, the patriot fathers of the Revolution were confronted with the sublime task of organizing a form of government that should "temper together those opposite elements of liberty and restraint." And with providential foresight they formed and ratified the Constitution of the United States, which has been truthfully characterized as "the most remarkable document ever struck off at one time by the ingenuity of man."

And in the preamble to that document these nation-builders among other things announced that "to insure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, we do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States." The forefathers were not only patriots and statesmen; they also had the gift of prophecy. They foresaw the necessity of safeguarding liberty. And the wisdom of the forefathers was very soon revealed. Only a few years after the adoption of the Constitution, the French Revolution broke forth. Temples were destroyed, shrines desecrated, holy places profaned, all in the name of liberty. In the name of liberty the streets of Paris were crimsoned with the purest blood in Europe. The revolutionists took the best of the Bourbon kings and led him out to execution. They took Marie Antoinette, the friend of America, the friend of Benjamin Franklin, tore her from the embraces of her family and gave her to the guillotine. And then, acme of effrontery and sacrilege, they took a woman of the street and, before the sacred altar of Notre Dame, they crowned her as the goddess of reason and of liberty. And across the century comes the cry of Madame Roland from the scaffold, "Oh, Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!"

Liberty is not an armed warrior, Liberty is a goddess. Liberty is cloistered. Liberty is delicate, sensitive, refined. The forefathers, therefore, determined to shield Liberty and to provide her with a champion. And so they placed liberty under the protection of law, and thus liberty under law has become an organizing principle of our American government.

But how solicitous were the forefathers! They knew that law might be remiss—that law might become neglectful of its trust.

Accordingly they created three agencies to guarantee the proper defence of liberty by law:

a. Legislative.—To give law its credentials. If law becomes unfaithful, then a better servant must be substituted in its place.

b. Executive.—To give law its mandate: To compel law to be more dutiful or to rebuke it for non-performance of its duties.

c. Judicial.—To review law's qualifications and, if necessary, to revoke them.

These three distinct constitutional agencies, legislative, executive and judicial, are established by the people; they reflect the will of the people. The will of the people, therefore, is the supreme law. But all just laws are from a source higher than man; they are derived from God. Hence our purpose should be to justify the expression, "The voice of the people is the voice of God."

These three instruments were fashioned by the fathers for making, correcting, amending or changing laws. And so long as law remains the reflection of the people's will, to that extent it is sacred and to that extent obedience to law is liberty. And whoever raises his hands against laws properly and justly made and against authority duly constituted, such a one defies the will of the people and the will of God. He is, therefore, a traitor to himself, to his fellow man, to his country, and to the Sovereign Lawmaker of the universe.

To train the will of the people, therefore, is the most serious business in a democracy. To educate the individual will, to indicate its relation to the collective will, and to bring all into harmony with the Eternal Will, this is a task well-nigh divine. To train then is to govern. The teacher is the true leader. The teacher is the real lawmaker. The educator is the molder and the conservator of democratic society.

Thus all the forces of the school must be directed toward the proper development of the will, to the end that pupils may comprehend the significance of law, of respect for law and of obedience to law; and, furthermore, that they may ever regard justly constituted law as the blazing sword that defends the palladium of liberty.

Loyalty to the Past.

Permit me in closing to express again my conviction that we must not break with the past. Upon this, the natal day of the republic, the birthday of the Declaration of Independence, we reaffirm our indebtedness to Adams and Hancock and Franklin and Paine and to all that matchless Spartan band who on July 4, 1776, gave to us our "Charter of Human Liberties." Likewise, we acknowledge our gratitude and our obligation to every patriot—every noble soul—who at any time, anywhere, raised his voice or struck a blow in defence of American liberty or American institutions. Thus may we all become teachers and educators—training the will of the people, clarifying and dignifying public opinion, inculcating by example and by precept the highest ideals of American citizenship.

It is said that for three hundred years after Thermopylæ the children in the schools of Greece were taught to recite from memory, "by heart," the names of the immortal three hundred who fell in defense of the Pass. For nearly a hundred and fifty years our children have been narrating in our schools the heroic deeds of our Revolutionary sires. For more than sixty years they have been singing the praises of the devoted, valiant boys of '61.

In later years they have been recounting the exploits of those who served so faithfully in foreign wars. Now they will add to these recitals the splendid achievements of our soldier boys in khaki and our sailor boys in blue. With hearts exultant with pride in years to come they will tell how cheerfully and eagerly these noble fellows went forth, how bravely they fought, how mightily they triumphed, how they, too, kept the Pass, how in the world's most critical hour they defended humanity and rescued civilization; and finally, how peacefully many are sleeping upon the hillsides of Flanders. In legend and story these crusaders of ours, also, will be numbered among the immortals. A greater honor still, they will be beloved of little children. And upon the altars of the class room the fires consecrated to their memory shall be kept blazing in perpetual vigil, fires fed by innocent hands; and these same hands shall grasp the torch and pass it onward to successive generations of free-born American children, that the fires of civil and religious liberty may continue to burn in undimmed brilliancy, that an educated American democracy may continue to be the beacon light of the world, and that a government of the people, for the people and by the people shall endure. What a splendid idealism! What a glorious heritage! May we catch its full significance lest the gleams may vanish, make it a benediction unto ourselves, and an inspiration unto all those whose lives are in the molding.

Lord of the Universe, shield us and guide us,
  Trusting Thee always, through shadow and sun!
Thou hast united us, who shall divide us?
  Keep us, oh keep us the MANY IN ONE!
    Up with our banner bright,
    Sprinkled with starry light,
  Spread its fair emblems from mountain to shore,
  While through the sounding sky
  Loud rings the Nation's cry,—
UNION AND LIBERTY! ONE EVERMORE!

EXTENDED SHIP SERVICE.

Mayor Curley received the following communication upon the 1st instant:

United States Lines,
45 Broadway, New York,
June 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—United States Lines is much interested in the experiments we are making in having two of our ships call at the Port of Boston during the height of the busy season.

You will appreciate the fact we have refused in our New York office transportation to a great many more passengers than are being booked in Boston. We were endeavoring to show Boston our interest in their problem.

It would have been less expensive to the lines not to have had these two ships call at Boston, and as I have stated before, we could have secured more than full bookings in our New York office, as we are compelled to turn passengers away every day.

Having been a resident of Massachusetts for several years, I am fully appreciative of what you say regarding the possibilities of Boston Harbor as a source of steamship business.

Very truly yours,
E. E. McNary,
Passenger Traffic Manager.

THE BOSTON HERALD AND THE WORLD WAR VETERAN.

The following editorial, published in the Boston Sunday Herald of June 18, 1922, as the leader in its first column of the editorial page, was such a malicious, untruthful and unwarranted attack upon the character and physical ability of the World War veterans employed on the East Boston Tunnel extension that it was deemed necessary to send protests to the editor, Robert Lincoln O'Brien, for publication, that the truth might be given to the public which supposedly had read the slander.

The correspondence of protest printed here was refused publication by the Herald and in order that the World War veterans may be fully acquainted with the incident and understand the slanderous and malignant character of the warfare against them being waged by the Boston Herald, the whole matter is now published in the City Record.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

Following is the editorial:

"In the Precious Name of American Patriotism.

"It is an unpopular assignment for a newspaper to venture the slightest criticism of any public expenditure undertaken in the name of patriotism, or specifically in recognition of the services of our veterans in the World War. But there are phases of the subject which invite some scrutiny.

"The City of Boston is now spending a million dollars a year in veterans' relief, through a system of disbursement which leaves much to be desired. The man at the head of it—and Mayor Curley has just nominated Timothy Kelly—is in pretty complete control of the expenditures. He is his own judge of merit and need, with the result that every occupant of this office is relentlessly pursued by politicians to give money to weak and improvident people. A former occupant of this office has testified that the biggest loafers and rascals regularly brought the strongest political pressure to bear upon him. Thus goes one million dollars a year.

"Over in East Boston, the Mayor has directed the hiring of otherwise unemployed veterans in certain tunnel extension work, the cost to be borne by Transit Commission bonds, and ultimately charged to the patrons of the Elevated road, or else lodged in general taxation, and so becoming a part of the cost of living of everybody. And this Elevated charge has already proved a factor in the lives of the people.

"If we wanted to do this East Boston work economically, we should give it out by contract. If we wanted to do it at only double that cost, we should give it to city laborers, who were accustomed to such work. If we wanted to do it at four times that basic cost, we should give it to city laborers unused to the work. It we wanted to do it at eight times that cost, we should give it to city laborers, not only unaccustomed to the work, but knowing that they could not be discharged for loafing or for incapacity.

"Such persons are now doing it. They are veterans; they are, for the most part, not strong enough for this work; they are not physically equipped for it. They know they cannot be discharged, except by processes which, in our political system, amount to an absolute prohibition. Imagine the Boston municipal council refusing the appeal of a World War veteran who had been discharged! Imagine anybody discharging him!

"The question may sometimes arise whether these are the best methods of showing our patriotic purpose. Meanwhile, boys who have returned from the other side, suffering from shell shock, tuberculosis and other infirmities, are still experiencing serious neglect."

The following letters to the editor of the Boston Herald were written and mailed to that functionary with the request that they be published in the paper as a protest against the unjust and misleading spirit of the editorial and as a refutation of the inaccuracies and slanders contained therein.

Boston Commercial and Industrial Bureau,
City Hall, Boston, June 20, 1922.

Editor of the Herald:

It is sometimes difficult to avoid imputing lack of good faith to the Herald's editorial deliverances: yet in answering the amazing ebullition of last Sunday's issue under the caption of "In the Precious Name of Patriotism," I wish to repress the retort discourteous and let truth and fact speak for themselves. The editorial merely represents a distribution of poison gas intended to put the present municipal administration on the disabled list; and while your admirable intentions have not quite accomplished their purpose you have succeeded most comprehensively in slandering the veterans of the World War, the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission, the Municipal Soldiers' Relief Bureau, the State Aid Commission for Soldiers, and a number of federal bureaus and officials; and for good measure you have exhibited a rather surprising lack of knowledge of economics, mathematics and good judgment.

I have no doubt that most of these objects of your attack are amply able to take care of themselves: I will content myself with a statement of conditions as they are and let your readers judge for themselves the difference between prosaic fact and fevered fancy.

The veterans, for the purposes of public aid, are divided into two classes, (a) those entitled to soldiers' relief because of unemployment, and (b) those who, because of physical disabilities, are entitled to military aid. The former is a municipal utility, the latter a mixed municipal and state utility; and both are duly regulated by law. Military aid is divided in disbursement between the state and city and can only be given after the veteran's claim has been approved by the State Aid Commission and the veteran's physical disabilities have been tested by the surgeon general of the Commonwealth.

Boston has appropriated $1,100,000 for both these purposes, 80 per cent of the expenditures hitherto being caused by veterans out of work. In order to arrest this drain the Mayor established the Municipal Employment Bureau whose function was to obtain work for unemployed veterans and thus take them off the soldiers' relief rolls. Veterans applying for relief were required to register with the Employment Bureau and when they began to earn wages they ceased to collect relief. If the work found for them was rejected on the ground that the veteran was physically unable to do it he was subjected to a medical examination to test his refusal to work. If his excuses were found to be valid, he received relief; if it were found he was fit for work and refused to do so he was sent adrift.

The fact that the disbursements for soldiers' relief in May were $30,000 less than in April is proof that employment is increasing and the Bureau is functioning well and wisely.

The Herald, with affected seriousness, claims employing veterans on the East Boston tunnel work is eight times as expensive as contract workers and that the veterans so employed are not strong enough to do the work since they are not physically equipped for it. Here comes a plain question of veracity between the Herald on one side and the Civil Service Commission on the other.

Before any man can get even unskilled work on a municipal enterprise like the East Boston tunnel he must apply to the Civil Service Commission to be enrolled and his name will not be listed until he has passed an examination of physical tests which are supposed to demonstrate his fitness for the work. All the laborers on the East Boston tunnel passed such an examination, veterans or otherwise, and in sending lists of names to the Transit Commission, veterans got a preference according to law. If these workers, which run about 60 per cent veterans and 40 per cent civilians, "are not physically equipped" for the work, as the Herald asserts, the Civil Service Commission must be violating the law; if they are the Herald is —well—not telling the truth.

I imagine even the Herald will hesitate to question the veracity and competency of Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, the Transit Commissioner in charge of the tunnel work. Here is an excerpt from his report for May: "The construction work on the Maverick Square Station of the East Boston tunnel has progressed satisfactorily. The rate of progress which has shown that the work has been proceeding ahead of our schedule and below our estimate of cost, is being maintained."

This statement shows that like the Civil Service Commission the veteran is being misrepresented and slandered by the Herald but presumably the veteran will look after that himself.

It is good fun, presumably, to tell fibs about people you dislike, but it is very embarrassing to get found out; and doubtless the man who spent his best days in the trenches and on the battlefields of France will enjoy the fun of the Herald and be glad to learn that his market value is just one eighth of that of the contract maker.

It is very possible the contractor might do the work cheaper than city day labor; and yet why should he grow fat on the profits of his contract while the veteran grows shabbier and leaner in idleness? Why this extraordinary sympathy for the contractor and the "L" road? The Herald should control its emotions. The profits that a contractor would pocket can go to feed the veteran and his children. The public of Boston, the men and women with human feelings, are probably more interested in the men who risked their all in France than in the shirkers and swivel-chair patriots who risked their dollars in the "L" road.

I am afraid the "Precious Name of American Patriotism" and the "predaceous game of American finance" are synonymous in the Herald's bright lexicon. You have most scandalously and unwarrantably reflected on the soldiers who served us so well; you have out of the mouth of an imaginary commissioner of relief called them "loafers and rascals"; and then you conclude an editorial as destitute of truth as a milestone is of milk in this fashion: "Meanwhile boys who have returned from the other side suffering from shell shock, tuberculosis and other infirmities are still experiencing serious neglect."

It would be pretty difficult to duplicate the impudence and hypocrisy of this interesting editorial tailpiece, for no publication in New England has so constantly vilified the veteran, flouted his claims, impugned his motives, denied his good faith, misrepresented his activities and distorted his utterances than the Boston Herald, or worked more zealously to have the Government repudiate its pledges and forget its promises. It may be well to serve your masters well, but it is perilous sometimes to overdo the thing.

You started out to give the city administration a black eye. The facts appear to be against you. You close by innuendo, by seeking to convey the impression that the City of Boston is responsible for the "serious neglect" of the United States Government. When a Boston Sunday paper starts its editorial page with a violation of that ancient mandate "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," it comes perilously near time for it to go out of the Sunday business and all other business until it makes amend for its sins.

It is up to the Herald to make apology as deliberately and prominently as its assault on the city and its work "In the Precious Name of American Patriotism."

Joseph Smith,
Director-Secretary.

City of Boston,
Transit Department, June 24, 1922.

Editor of the Boston Herald:

The attention of the Boston Transit Department has been called to an editorial in your issue of Sunday, June 18, headed "In the Precious Name of Patriotism." The statements therein referring to the work now in progress at East Boston are so unwarranted as to create the impression that the writer was contributing to an ivy oration.

In the first place, there will be no increase to the car rider nor to the community in taxation by the construction of this underground terminal. On the contrary, the public trustees, the Board of Directors and General Manager Dana of the Elevated have stated to the Department of Public Utilities that this work will not only eliminate the existing intolerable congestion, but will actually reduce expenses through increased operating efficiency.

It is not true that public work is always done most economically by contract. During the present week the writer attended a conference in Washington of leaders in the construction industry which was called by Secretary Hoover. In his opening address, Mr. Hoover warned the contractors that the public had lost confidence in them on account of their dishonest and unethical practices and stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of creating a new organization to be headed by Hon. Franklin Roosevelt to "clean house" in the construction industry. Practically every speaker representing associations of architects, bankers, engineers, manufacturers and labor agreed with Mr. Hoover that a radical change in policy was necessary to regain public confidence.

However, let us bring this situation nearer home. We have on file in this department copies of the briefs filed in a recent case of a contractor against the City of Boston for tunnel work done under the supervision of the former Transit Commission, and which is comparable in size with the East Boston job. The contractor's books, when produced in court, showed the handsome profit of $468,020.85 on a piece of work costing $1,806,903.83 or approximately 26 per cent left after paying premiums amounting to $82,600 for bonding and insurance. In addition to the above, the master hearing this case recommended a further award of $135,000 for extras.

Under the method adopted by this Board, there will be no profit squeezed out by padrone labor; there will be no fat premiums paid to bonding and insurance companies; there will be no extras; nor will there be large fees paid to lawyers for working up claims for extras.

Despite the fact that we have had to pass through the most difficult portion of the work, the costs are appreciably less than our engineer's estimates which were very carefully checked by the engineering force of the Elevated before the lease for this station was signed by the trustees and directors.

Relative to the type of men engaged in this work; a large percentage of the employees, despite your statement to the contrary, are men who have had considerable experience in subway and tunnel construction, and the mere fact that many of them faithfully served their country in time of war should not act to prevent them from securing employment for which they are qualified in times of peace. Your positive statement regarding the physical qualifications of these men is a serious reflection on the professional character of the examining physicians of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission who have certified these men as fit for laborious work with pick and shovel underground. But even a superficial examination of the employees at work would convince the most skeptical of the absurdity of that statement.

Regardless of the insidious propaganda and the yelping of the disappointed contractors, insurance brokers, et cetera, who have been resorting to every unfair means to discredit this work, we are demonstrating that the Transit Department through its highly trained engineering force, under the capable direction of our Chief Engineer, Major Springer, supported most loyally by several hundred willing and enthusiastic ex-service men, are constructing the largest and most difficult work of this kind attempted by day labor forces in this part of the country with credit to themselves and to their employer, the City of Boston.

Your editorial will not have been without value, however, if it gives us an opportunity to lay before the public a correct statement showing the splendid accomplishments of this municipal undertaking.

Respectfully,
Thomas F. Sullivan, Chairman.

EXTENDED SCHOOLHOUSE PLANS.

Mayor Curley has signed papers leasing the old Noble & Greenough school building, 100 Beacon street. The city must spend $10,000 upon the building to put it in proper shape for the new demands upon it. The rental is at the rate of $5,000 a year, though the first lease covers only a seven-months' period, with an option on renewal at the same terms. William S. Spaulding and Dudley L. Pickman are trustees of the property.

It is the belief of the Schoolhouse Department that the Beacon street building will have to be maintained as a Girls' High School Annex for at least three years, or until provisions can be made to accommodate the entire school attendance at the East Newton street building.

Mayor Curley has signed contracts for the drafting of plans for $1,118,80 worth of the School Committee's $5,000,000 building program for the year. The buildings for which plans will now be drawn include a $436,000 twenty-room buiding in the Mather District which will serve as an intermediate school; a $310,000 structure in the Endicott District, Dorchester, to contain sixteen rooms, and an annex to the Roxbury High School, containing eighteen rooms, laboratory, lunchroom and gymnasium, to cost $372,000. O'Connell & Shaw will design the first two structures and H. H. Atwood will prepare the plans for the Roxbury building.

Incident to the award of this contract Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department made the following statement:

"The work to be done under this contract is difficult and expensive, involving continuous contact with dense traffic and with business houses, and is exactly similar to high pressure fire work. Experienced oversight, an experienced force of men, a complete equipment and a reasonable expectation of profit is essential if the work is to proceed with the minimum of delay and inconvenience to the public.

"In my opinion the interests of the city will be best served by awarding the contract to the C. & R. Construction Company, the fourth lowest bidder, for the reason that this company has been engaged for several years past on high pressure fire work, is now laying high pressure fire pipe in Pearl street, and is fully equipped for the work."

Schoolhouse Department.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon July 6 the Mayor approved a contract to relay granite block paving, with grout joints, in Dorchester avenue, between Seventh street and Andrew square, with division forces. A communication from Commissioner Joseph

A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 3, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to relay granite block paving, with grout joints, in Dorchester avenue, between Seventh street and Andrew square, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $3,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 6 the Mayor approved a contract to lay asphalt pavement upon existing macadam base in Cambridge street, from Charles river to Boston & Albany Railroad, West End, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 3, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to lay sheet asphalt pavement, upon existing macadam base, in Cambridge street, from Charles river to Boston & Albany Railroad, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $15,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 1 the Mayor approved a contract with the Department of Correction, Prison Commission, for furnishing coats, vests and pants to the Infirmary Division of the Institutions Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 29, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the Department of Correction, Prison Commission, without publicly advertising the same, for furnishing the following to the Institutions Department, Infirmary Division:

Twenty-five dozen coats at $5 each, $1,500; 25 dozen vests at $1.50 each, $450; 33 dozen pants at $3.50 each, $1,386; total amount of contract, $3,336.

The Infirmary Division of the Institutions Department has notified this office that the suits furnished by the Prison Commission are in price and quality the best suited for the needs of its department, and for this reason this permission is requested.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon July 6 the Mayor approved a contract with the Metropolitan Coal Company, for furnishing approximately 500 tons of semi-bituminous coal to the Public Buildings Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 5, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without public advertisement of same, to the Metropolitan Coal Company for furnishing approximately 500 net tons of semibituminous coal to the Public Buildings of the City of Boston from July 1 to August 1, 1922, at $7.50 per net ton, which was the lowest price received as per bids listed below:

Metropolitan Coal Company, $7.50 per ton; 14,600 B. T. U. per pound; 6½ per cent of ash.

John A. Whittemore's Sons, $8.20 per ton; 14,250 B. T. U. per pound; 6 per cent of ash.

East Boston Coal Company, $8.40 per ton; 14,300 B. T. U. per pound; 6½ per cent of ash.

City Fuel Company, $8.10 per ton; 14,600 B. T. U. per pound; 6⅓ per cent of ash.

Glendale Coal Company, $8.93 per ton; 14,300 B. T. U. per pound; 5.5 per cent of ash.

The B. T. U. per pound as delivered, which is the guarantee by the Metropolitan Coal Company, is 14,600 and the ash is 6½ per cent, which brings the quality of the coal up to the usual standard of the City of Boston specifications.

In view of the threatening conditions due to strikes, etc., at the present time, I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

The Simpson Patent Dry Dock Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under their contract for repairing main engines and auxiliaries upon ferryboat "John H. Sullivan." Items ordered: Rewood two stern bearings, $335; lift two rudders, fit new pintle bushings and secure one sleeve, $215; clean five strainers, overhaul two seacocks and repair blowbacks, $56; plane two low pressure valves and true up seats, $200; install two reducing valves for steam steerers (valves furnished by city), $30; feed water heater repaired and covered, repairs to regulating valve and piping, $95; repairs to boilers, four new crowfoot braces, $130; 5-foot girth seam on each boiler welded, $60; one stay bolt welded and calked, $3; four rivets welded, $6; attaching new zincs on both ends, $60; all at agreed price. Repairs to one armature, agreed maximum price, $220. The estimated cost of extra work being $1,410. This company is well equipped and experienced in this kind of work and is well able to accomplish these repairs as economically as any other company. These prices, as quoted, are given on the assumption that if the order is given it will be given at once in order to eliminate lay charges, since the boat is now in the dry dock. The work called for is largely requested by the United States inspectors and the rest strongly recommended.

George J. Regan has been directed to perform the following extra work under his contract for building sewerage works in Morton street, from West Selden street to summit about 90 feet southeast of Fairmount street, Dorchester. Items ordered: Remove cesspool at 960 Morton street in line of trench; maintain flow from two houses and refill two cesspools, the estimated cost of extra work being $120.

John T. Shea, Jr., has been directed to perform the following extra work under his contract for paving Berkeley street, from Providence street, across Columbus avenue, Back Bay. Items ordered: Bar out, recut and relay granite blocks on a six-inch concrete base with cement grout joints, the track area of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, in Berkeley street, between Columbus avenue and Providence street, the estimated cost of extra work being $5,348.75.

The Holbrook Contracting Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for paving Northampton street, from Washington street across Albany street, South End. Items ordered: Bar out, recut and relay existing granite block pavement on a concrete base in the track area of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, the estimated cost of extra work being $3,344.25.

The Mt. Pleasant Contracting Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for paving Causeway street and Beverly street, city proper. Items ordered: Bar out, recut and relay existing granite block pavement in the track area of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, the estimated cost of extra work being $2,088.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

Dora G. Gorman, 16 Neptune road, East Boston, in the amount of $50, as compensation for damage to property on said road, caused by leak in water pipe, November to February, 1921 and 1922.

Anna F. McTernan, 196 Walnut avenue, Roxbury, in the amount of $38.98, as compensation for damage caused to property at 176 and 178 Hyde Park avenue, West Roxbury, by defective sewer, March 1, 1921.

I. W. Crozier, in the amount of $1,000, for recovery of a money deposit as security on contract for plumbing for Samuel Adams School, East Boston, September 13, 1921.

Louise M. Sweeney, 119 Berkeley street, Boston, in the amount of $200, as compensation for personal injuries caused by defect in sidewalk at corner of Boylston and Clarendon streets, Back Bay, November 28, 1921.

Blanche Congdon, in the amount of $75, as compensation for personal injuries caused by break in the sidewalk on Boston Common, opposite West street, city proper, December 9, 1921.

David J. White, in the amount of $1,500, as compensation for personal injuries and damage to automobile caused by unguarded hole in bridge upon Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, December 14, 1921.

Prime Tea Company, in the amount of $60, as compensation for damage to truck caused by overhanging branches of tree on highway in front of premises, numbered 15, on Chester street, Allston, March 3, 1922.

ABANDONED CONTRACTS.

Mayor Curley addressed a communication to Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, under date of July 6, making an important recommendation in the matter of abandoned contracts awarded by the preceding municipal administration.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
July 6, 1922.

Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke,
Public Works Department:

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of your communication directing my attention to the fact that Angelo Grande because of possible loss in connection with contract awarded him on November 15, 1921, for sewerage works in Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, abandoned the contract. I am in hearty accord with your recommendation that the work as readvertised, even though the readvertising bid represents a substantial increase to the bid of Grande, be awarded and that unless the bonding company is agreeable to paying the amount of the bond it will be well to notify them they can do no more business with the city and also notify Grande that his name will be stricken from the list of contractors. In the event of the bonding company failing to fulfill the terms of this bond, you are directed to notify the Corporation Counsel to proceed against them.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Charles F. D. Belden, Librarian of the Boston Public Library, has submitted the following report of the activities of the Library Department for the month of June, 1922:

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Activities during the month of June, 1922.

During the month 1,017 books have been ordered for the Central Library, its branches and reading rooms; during the same period 6,103 volumes have been received and accessioned. Periodicals to the number of 2,558 have been received and recorded. Gifts numbering 13,060 volumes and 581 serials have been received and acknowledged to 642 donors. Five cases of book importations have been received from abroad—two from England, two from Germany, and one from Holland. Two auctioneer catalogues have been examined and bids sent to two Philadelphia sales.

During June the grounds of the East Boston Branch have been put in thorough order at considerable expense. The grounds of the new West Roxbury Branch Library have been graded and planted with shrubs and the approach to the lecture halls finished.

Dr. Thon of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital gave a lecture on mental hygiene on June 13 under the auspices of the Tyler Street Reading Room in the hall of the Municipal Building, Tyler, corner of Oak street.

The month of June has been marked by a slackening of activities in the reference hall of the Central Library and in the specials libraries department. The closing of the schools and the oppressive weather of the month have combined to lessen the use of the libraries by students, as is to be expected this season of the year. The summer stream of visitors, research students and ancestry hunters from the South and West has begun.

The roof garden reading room at the North End Branch was reopened on June 26, after having been closed for several years.

In Bates Hall the relabeling of the reference books is going steadily forward. Many replacements are being asked for and many books are making their customary visit to the bindery for needed repairs. A good number of the books ordered from foreign countries for the Commercial and Industrial Bureau at City Hall have arrived and have been deposited at the Bureau. During the past month considerable time has been given by certain assistants to the preparation for the library exhibits to be made during the convention of the National Educational Association, in the entrance hall of the library and in the Teachers' Reference room.

The Board of Trustees, at a meeting held on June 23, extended formally to the members of the National Educational Association and their friends the hospitality of the library during their convention, and especially invited an inspection of the Library Building, Copley square, on Thursday afternoon, of July 6, between the hours of four and six o'clock.

During the past month the Boston Centennial Exhibit has occupied the Exhibition Hall, but has been partially replaced by an exhibit of early school texts and other material of potential interest to teachers.

A revised edition of the handbook published by the benefit association under authority of the trustees has appeared during the month. A revision of the pamphlet, "How to Find or Procure a Book," has also been made. Appended may be found the usual reports and lists of publications issued, copies of which are inclosed.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT OFFICE.

According to the records of the Massachusetts Public Employment Office, 23-25 Pearl street, the month of June shows decreases in orders from employers, people wanted by employers and in the number of positions reported filled, as compared with May. This may be accounted for by the inclement weather which curtailed out of door industrial activities considerably for several days. The month opened propitiously and it was not until the middle of the month that the decrease began to be noticeable. The figures show that there were 6 per cent less orders from employers, 5 per cent less people called for by employers and 3 per cent less positions reported filled. In comparison with June, 1921, the figures show that June, 1922, had 2 per cent more orders from employers, an increase of 13 per cent more people wanted by employers, also an increase of 15 per cent in the number of positions reported filled.

The attendance of applicants for employment shows a decrease of 12 per cent from May and a decrease of 33 per cent from June last year.

A comparison for the first six months of 1921 and 1922 shows there were 10 per cent less orders from employers than in 1921, an increase of 3 per cent in the number of people wanted by employers over 1921 and an increase of 10 per cent over 1921 in the number of positions reported filled, while the attendance of applicants for employment fell off 22 per cent in 1922.

During the month 1,826 service men (1,265 soldiers, 561 sailors) visited the office in search of work and 196 (130 soldiers and 66 sailors) were given introduction cards to employers and 146 (94 soldiers and 52 sailors) secured positions.

In the men's skilled department a slight falling off in the demand for machinists was noticeable as well as a falling off in the demand from the printing industry, while the demand for electricians, plumbers and sheet metal workers showed a slight increase. The demand in this department during the month embraced machinists, tool makers, electricians, pipe fitters, sheet metal workers, power press operators, blacksmiths and molders in the metal trades, plumbers, sheet metal workers, carpenters, bricklayers, stonemasons and painters in the building trades, engineers and firemen in the steam trades, upholsterers, factory help and cotton ring spinners in the general trades and a few orders from the printing trades.

The demand for able-bodied laborers in the men's unskilled department continues to be heavy with a decided scarcity of first-class applicants. The wet weather checked the demand for farm labor somewhat, but there are positions open for farmers who can milk. There are hundreds of applicants looking for positions as janitors, porters, watchmen and casual work, with little or no demand for their services. The summer resorts have thinned the ranks of culinary workers in hotels and restaurants and there is some difficulty in securing experienced men to meet the local demand.

The outpouring of boys from the city schools for the summer vacation has caused the demand for boys for errands, factory and office work to slump considerably and the few orders we are now receiving are for boys who will accept permanent positions.

In the women's skilled department the demand for summer hotel work has predominated, the larger hotels filling their quotas early in the month while the smaller ones secured their help in the latter part. Factory work is very quiet with an overabundant supply of school girls looking for positions. There is no demand for help for girls who are under 16 years of age. The demand for attendants for state institutions has been fair with a small supply of experienced help. The demand in the needle trades has been good with only a fair supply of experienced stitchers.

The demand for housework girls far exceeds the supply and many orders remain unfilled. There are hundreds of women looking for day work cleaning buildings and homes with very little demand for their services.

The daily average demand was 70 as compared with 61 in 1921; 103 in 1920; 117 in 1919; 107 in 1918; 111 in 1917; 107 in 1916; and 64 in 1915.

The average daily number of positions filled was 53 as compared with 40 in 1921; 64 in 1920; 68 in 1919; 73 in 1918; 72 in 1917; 74 in 1916; and 54 in 1915.

REPORT OF CONVENTION.

Mayor Curley is in receipt of the official report of the City Planning Board, relative to the recent assembly of the Fourteenth Annual Meeting of the National Conference on City Planning, held in Springfield, Mass., June 5-7, 1922.

The report is presented by Miss Elisabeth M. Herlihy, Secretary of the City Planning Board of Boston.

THE CITY PLANNING BOARD,
BOSTON, June 30, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—We, the undersigned, members of the City Planning Board and of its office staff, submit herewith our joint conclusions with regard to the proceedings of the Fourteenth Annual Meeting of the National Conference on City Planning, held in Springfield, Mass., June 5-7, 1922.

There were about two hundred delegates in attendance at the conference, representing twenty-three states and Canada. Although the delegates from Massachusetts and New York naturally predominated in number, the representation was very general from all parts of the country. There were present the mayors from eight municipalites, representatives of the Federal Government, city planners, landscape architects, engineers, architects, lawyers, and others interested in various phases of municipal improvement and development.

The local press was very generous in its news columns and editorials, most of the papers presented being reproduced verbatim and the discussions freely commented upon. A complete file of clippings has been preserved, as well as detailed notes and comments upon many of the subjects considered. It is not thought necessary to go into these at length in this report, therefore, but merely to touch briefly upon some of the outstandng features of the conference.

It is our opinion that one of the foremost advantages of such a conference is the opportunity it affords for personal contact with others in the same line of work. The interchange of experiences with delegates from the East, West, North and South, is in many cases inspiring and in all cases enlightening. While the formal papers and discussions are in themselves educational, the informal conferences and the more definite expression of ideas have an even more direct and satisfying value.

The conference was particularly fortunate in its choice of speakers at the different sessions. All were specialists in their respective lines, men qualified to submit authoritative opinions on the various subjects under discussion, fortified by wide experience and unquestioned ability.

It is worthy of note in the beginning that Springfield, a city covering nearly forty square miles, with a population of 129,563 persons, has already completed a preliminary city plan. It also lays claim to having appropriated more money, in proportion to its size and population, than any other city in the country for city planning work. It is the first time the conference has been held outside of the larger cities, and the second time it has been held in Massachusetts, Boston being the convention headquarters in 1912.

The first session was devoted to factors controlling the distribution of parks and other recreation areas, and the school building program, as important parts of the city plan.

The necessity for supervision of playgrounds was emphasized, as was also the desirability of locating such recreation areas near school buildings, and the economic advantages of a twenty-four, thirty-six, or even forty-eight room school building over a sixteen-room building. An appeal was made for closer co-operation between recreation and school authorities and the opinion was expressed that the entire responsibility for children of school age, academic and recreational, should be vested in the Department of Education.

The second session, devoted primarily to a discussion of a possible treatment of Springfield's waterfront along the Connecticut river, was accompanied by lantern slide views, showing what has been done in American and foreign cities in the way of river front development, submitting recreational areas as the most successful treatment. In this connection numerous Boston views were shown, including Muddy brook, Fenway, Parkway, Riverbank and the Esplanade, Charles river. It is worthy of comment that with the possible exception of Harrisburg, Penn., it is doubtful if any city in America, in the views presented, surpassed Boston in the attractive features of its river front development.

The third conference session, devoted to a consideration of "City Planning in its Relation to Transportation and Street Traffic," consisted largely in the first place of the presentation of a series of graphic charts, diagrams, curves and tabulations upon which future growth was predicted. The second speaker declared that municipal ownership was essential if city transit facilities are to be developed and utilized in the best public interest, but that private operation was its equally essential concomitant.

Representatives of the various cities were called upon for three-minute outlines of work accomplished during the past year. These reports, coming from all parts of the United States and from Canada, showed that many cities have made surprising and gratifying progress in putting through or extending city planning campaigns. The announcement that Boston had made its initial appropriation for the preparation of a comprehensive city plan, that a Zoning Commission was being organized and that the services of Mr. Nelson P. Lewis, formerly president of the conference, had been engaged as general consultant to the City Planning Board was received with general commendation and enthusiasm.

The automobile tour of the city and West Springfield was not only pleasurable, but was arranged particularly with a view to presenting as many concrete examples as possible of city planning problems, solved and otherwise.

For the first time in its history the conference devoted an entire session to a consideration of "The Place of the Beautiful in the City Plan." Beauty was declared to be an invitable by-product of a proper city plan, and speakers frankly stated that American towns and cities, if they are to fulfill their purpose satisfactorily, must be beautiful. It was further stated that ugly structures do not last as long as those that have intrinsic beauty; that the perhaps unconscious but inherent demands of the people for beauty will in some way or other cause that which offends to be replaced or destroyed.

The constructive interest which was manifest throughout the three days of the annual meeting was emphasized when practically the full membership of the conference attended the question box session which occupied one entire morning. The fact that, with one exception, all of the questions submitted related to the subject of zoning is indicative of the phase of city planning uppermost in the minds of the various communities today. The questions discussed included the relative merits of zoning under the police power as compared with zoning under eminent domain or condemnation; the feasibility of extending or eliminating nonconforming uses; the effect of zoning upon blighted areas; the establishment of set back lines; and the control of property previous to actual acquisition by the city.

Further opportunity for the exchange of ideas on this subject was afforded by the establishment of a "Zoning Table" presided over by Mr. Edward H. Bassett, counsel for the Zoning Committee of the City of New York, at which various phases of the zoning question were discussed at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

"Ways and Means of Winning Public Support for a City Planning Program" were discussed at length, including methods adopted by Springfield, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Cleveland, Worcester and other cities. The progress from apathy to enthusiasm in different communities was traced through the medium of the press, public meetings, citizen groups, churches, motion pictures, and particularly through the schools.

Two of the statements made at this session are well worth repetition here. One of the speakers, in deploring the conditions under which children grow up in the tenement districts of our large cities, minus air and sunshine, affirmed, "We haven't any right to ask children to grow where you can't grow flowers"; and again, speaking from his own experience in organizing similar campaigns in various cities, he declared, "People are almost as hungry for beauty as they are for bread."

The meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards, which was held in conjunction with the conference, was devoted to the question of billboard regulation and control. It developed at this meeting that Massachusetts by constitutional amendment and legislative enactment has led the way in the comprehensive regulation and restriction of billboards. Details were submitted with regard to ordinances adopted in Springfield, Newton, North Adams, Brockton, Attleboro, and other communities throughout the Commonwealth.

At the closing session and banquet Mr. Walsh was called upon to speak in the absence of Hon. B. Loring Young, Speaker Massachusetts House of Representatives. Of this, we quote from a more extended article in the Springfield Republican. "His address was sincere and happily phrased in the presentation of the high ideals of city planning, with which he has been actively connected at Boston for the past eight years."

The city planning exhibit held in the Public Library in connection with the conference was a most successful assembling of maps, charts, diagrams, plans and photographs. The exhibition was representative of all types of cities in the United States, from the oldest to those not yet constructed, like the proposed model village of Mariemont, near Cincinnati, Ohio. Included in the exhibit were comprehensive surveys and plans, zoning maps, main thoroughfare studies, street widenings and extensions, existing and proposed. A striking feature of the zoning maps was their lack of uniformity in the establishment of residential and other areas. It is to be hoped that the United States Bureau of Commerce, through its recently organized Zoning Advisory Commission, will work out some standard and generally acceptable basis for regulation.

At the business session which was held during the closing hours of the conference, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Lawson Purdy, New York (re-election); vice president, George B. Ford, New York (re-election); secretary and treasurer, Flavel Shurtleff, Boston (re-election); directors for three years, Alfred Bettman, Cincinnati, Ohio; Andrew W. Crawford, Philadelphia, Pa.; Charles H. Cheney of California; Frederick Law Olmsted of Brookline, Mass.; Bertram H. Saunders of Paterson, N. J.; L. V. Sheridan, Indianapolis, Ind.; J. W. Shirley, Baltimore.

It was also voted to hold the next annual meeting of the conference at Baltimore, Md.

The total expense of representation at the conference from this office, as shown by itemized statement submitted to the City Auditor, was $102.40.

In submitting this report the members of the City Planning Board and of its office staff who were present at the conference, desire to express their appreciation of the opportunity afforded them, and at the same time to voice the opinion that such attendance will react to the distinct and ultimate advantage of the municipality.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary A. Barr, Member.
John J. Walsh, Member.
Elisabeth M. Herlihy, Secretary.
Henry L. Whitney, Investigator.

DEMONSTRATION OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

Mayor Curley received the following letter upon the 6th instant:

National Physical Education Service,
Washington, D. C., July 5, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mayor Curley,—Through the generous assistance of the Physical Training Department, Boston School Committee, and the City of Boston Park Department, it has been possible to arrange a physical education demonstration for the benefit of the visiting delegates of the National Education Association convention.

The activities will start with a water basketball game on Frog Pond, Boston Common, at 3.30 o'clock on Thursday, July 6, 1922. If convenient I hope that you may be present.

It is hoped that the pictures and story of this event will be carried widely throughout the nation and will be of value to other cities in their efforts to promote the physical fitness of the youth.

Sincerely yours,

E. Dana Caulkins, Manager.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Orders No. 51.

I. Promotions.

SWIMMING AT FROG POND.

The children of Boston who live in the congested districts of the North, South and West Ends will have a chance to learn to swim this year, for Mayor Curley has just announced the appointment, through the Park Department, of a swimming instructor for the boys and girls who patronize the Frog Pond, the instructor being Patrick J. Splaine of South Boston.

The Mayor has long felt the need of some such instructor for the children, being of the belief that every boy and girl who can should learn to swim as soon as possible, and has been planning something of this kind for the children for sometime.

Mr. Splaine is a veteran of the World War and began his duties on the Common on July 5. His hours will be from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., and in order that the plan of instruction may be carried out with success the children who desire swimming instruction will have to enroll their names with Instructor Splaine and classes will be formed.

A medal is to be awarded the first hundred children who show the greatest progress, the medal to be known as the James M. Curley Swimming Medal and will be presented at the end of the season.

The Frog Pond has been recently drained and cleaned. Swimming will be the order from now on.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

An extension of time for the completion of the contract made with the C. & R. Construction Company for building sewerage works for Dorchester brook sewer, east fork, in Norfolk avenue, for about 240 feet northwest of Franklin court to East Cottage street, Dorchester, dated March 14, 1922, has been granted from July 29, 1922, to September 15, 1922 (48 days).

This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that on account of the difficult nature of the work it will take the additional length of time requested to complete the work.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 51.

I desire to call attention to the fact that the Rules and Regulations on Fireworks of the Department of Public Safety are being violated in the City of Boston to a dangerous degree in the keeping and exposing for sale of fireworks.

There are three vital points to be observed in relation to the storage and keeping for sale of fireworks in this city, namely:

1. Loaded pieces of fireworks must not be exposed or kept in store windows.

2. All fireworks in retail stores must be kept in tight wooden cases with hinged covers, which must be kept closed at all times, except when gaining access thereto.

3. Not more than 350 pounds of fireworks can be allowed on any retail permit, in any retail store, at any one time.

I desire to call attention to the provisions of section 34 b and d; section 40; section 41; section 44 b, c and f; sections 46, 50, 51, 52, 57, 59, 63, 66, 68, 69 and 74 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Public Safety. I am forwarding copies of these regulations to all divisions and these sections will be read to the members of the department at roll calls.

I want the fullest co-operation with the Fire Department of this city in the enforcement of these regulations in order to prevent accidents and fires from the storage and sale of fireworks.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

LAND-TAKING IN EAST BOSTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Maverick street, East Boston.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Maverick street, bounded:

Northwest by Maverick street (highway) ten feet; northeast by another part of Maverick street, four hundred eighty and 3-100 feet; east by the same, thirty-nine and 27-100 feet on a curve of twenty-five feet radius; southwest by land hereinafter described as taken from George C. Fitzpatrick, ten feet; west by another part of Maverick street, twenty-three and 56-100 feet on a curve of fifteen feet radius; and southwest by the same, four hundred and eighty feet, containing fifty-one hundred and sixty-four square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to George C. Fitzpatrick, bounded:

Northeast by land hereinbefore described as taken from owners unknown (Maverick street), ten feet; southeast by other land of said Fitzpatrick, five feet; southwest by the same, ten feet; and northwest by the same, five feet, containing fifty square feet, more or less.

The sewarage works to be constructed are as follows: 522 linear feet of 4-feet 3-inch circular concrete overflow, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Maverick street, from Jeffries street five hundred feet southeasterly and private land off Maverick street.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of said easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

ADDED SHIPPING FACILITIES.

After two months of negotiations and a careful survey of conditions surrounding the cocoa bean importations into the United States the Commercial and Industrial Bureau, through W. H. McMasters, has definitely arranged for a new line to be known as the Boston–Caribbean Steamship Company, to handle the trade. Direct monthly sailings will be made between Boston and Caribbean seaports.

At present about 300,000,000 pounds of cocoa beans are imported into New York each year where they are stored, at considerable expense. Approximately 75 per cent of these beans are shipped by rail to Boston, where they are converted into chocolate and chocolate coatings.

At a conservative estimate, the excess cost to the chocolate industry in Boston and vicinity through New York as opposed to the direct to Boston importing is more than one cent per pound, over $2,000,000 per year. The establishment of this new line will not only effect this direct saving but it will keep the cocoa bean market out of the hands of New York speculators.

In addition to cocoa beans, the new line will bring coffee beans and other products. Arrangements for return cargoes of manufactured goods are being made. The new line expects to begin operations during the month of August and will do business from the Army Base Pier.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commissioners announce examinations as follows:

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Assistant Inspector of Castings, Boston Public Works Department, July 10, 1922.

The salary is $4.50 per day. It is desirable that applicant be acquainted with foundry practice by experience in the actual preparation of the moulds. He is required to inspect castings and be able to determine whether any faults or defects exist, and if so, what the cause may be.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 1; total, 2.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

INDEPENDENCE DAY CEREMONIES.

The observance of Independence Day in Boston was particularly notable and successful this year, despite the inclemency of the weather.

The anniversary program was as follows:

Chairman of Committee, Charles T. Cahill.

Master of Ceremonies, J. Philip O'Connell.

The oration of Doctor Burke is published verbatim upon page 751.

Mayor Curley said in part:

"The spirit which made possible the Boston of 146 years ago is still alive in the Boston of today. The spirit which gave Faneuil Hall and the Republic of this nation the most worth-while emblems of freedom the world has ever seen, the spirit of service and sacrifice, still is, and let us pray to Almighty God always will be, the directing inspiration and ideal of our country.

"The enduring principle, without which it would have been impossible to found the American Republic—equality for all men without regard to race, creed or color—without that principle and inspiration and the appeal of that ideal, it might have been impossible to achieve victory in the World War.

"Our soldiers crossed 3,000 miles of ocean untrained and unused to the profession of arms to join not a successful army, but armies which for three years had known only defeat and retreat. They had no greater physique, their training was not so good, but they went as living protests against the school of thought that considered the right to rule as divinely held by certain monarchs.

"Fortified by that belief, without thought of fear or retreat or of consequence they advanced and made victory possible where only defeat had been evident. Thus they upheld the principles for which Washington fought and for which Lincoln and McKinley gave their last full measure of sacrifice—the right of equality of opportunity for the individual.

"Every age and generation of Americans have been true to the principles of the founders, who by their labor and sacrifice brought forth the American flag and the Republic it represents. Let us hope that we will remain true to our trust and never permit, so long as God gives us life, any faction to rear its head in opposition to any race, creed or color, but only measure the usefulness of the people by their devotion to principles of the United States."

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of Pinckney road, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Columbia road to Normandy street, with the name of Pasadena road.

The said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Columbia road, forty and 2-100 feet on a curve of twenty-one hundred and ten feet radius; southwest by the southwesterly line of said Pasadena road as hereby laid out, by three measurements, one hundred ninety-three and 3-100 feet, one hundred seventy-three and 82-100 feet on a curve of five hundred seventy-nine and 13-100 feet radius, and twenty-eight and 53-100 feet; northwest by Normandy street, forty and 16-100 feet; and northeast by the northeasterly line of said Pasadena road as hereby laid out, by three measurements, thirty-two and 12-100 feet, one hundred eighty-five and 83-100 feet on a curve of six hundred nineteen and 13-100 feet radius and one hundred ninety-four and 33-100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly side of Pasadena road within a maximum depth of about one hundred and six feet, and the lots of abutting land on the southwesterly side of Pasadena road, within a maximum depth of about one hundred and ten feet, from Columbia road to Normandy street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein:

The Board of Street Commissioners determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of Pasadena road, formerly Pinckney road, from Columbia road to Normandy street, Dorchester district, as a highway, and awards no damages therefor.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for a taking of land for sewerage works, Massachusetts avenue, Dorchester. The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, bounded:

Southwest by other land of said railroad company, twenty feet; west by the same, forty-four and 97-100 feet on a curve of forty feet radius; again southwest by the same, one hundred ninety-one and 84-100 feet; north by the same, twenty and 57-100 feet; northeast by the same, one hundred eighty-seven and 1-100 feet; and east by the same, sixty-seven and 46-100 feet on a curve of sixty feet radius; containing forty-nine hundred and thirteen square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 246 linear feet of 10-foot by 12-foot concrete conduit overflow, in the above described premises.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

BEQUEST TO CITY.

The Law Department has submitted a recommendation to Mayor Curley favoring the acceptance of the provision of the will of James Phinney Baxter, late of Portland, Me., deceased, which will contains a bequest to the City of Boston of $50,000, the amount of $5,000 to be paid to the city provided it accepts the bequest within a period of three years after the final probate of the will, which was upon July 19, 1921.

The bequest to the city as stated amounts to $50,000, $5,000 of which is to be paid by the trustees within three years of the final probate of the will, and the balance to be paid by the trustees within ten years of the final probate of the will, in such installments and at such times within the said ten years as the trustees may determine.

Then the $50,000 is to accumulate until the year 2020 or until such sum accumulates to $1,000,000, and the entire amount is then to be used for a suitable building to be erected in the City of Boston to commemorate the lives and deeds of the founders of New England, and the city is to complete the building in all details by December 31, 2025.

If the city does not accept the bequest and if it fails to carry out the terms of the same, then the sum is to go to the city of Portland, Me.

At the next meeting of the City Council, July 24, the following order will be introduced:

"Ordered, That the City of Boston accept the bequest contained in the will of James Phinney Baxter, late of Portland, Me., in the county of Cumberland, state of Maine, upon the terms and conditions therein imposed and that the Mayor in the name of and in behalf of the City accept of such bequest in writing with the trustees under said will."

CONSTRUCTION WORK APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the orders of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for new construction work, as follows:

A sanitary sewer of concrete 1-foot 6 inches by 2 feet, and 1-foot 6-inch by 1-foot 8-inch spurs at intersecting streets, and seven catch-basins in Claflin street, between C and D streets, and a sanitary sewer of concrete 2 feet 8 inches by 4 feet in D street, between the centre line of Claflin street and the southwesterly line of Claflin street, in the South Boston district, at an estimated cost of $1,908.

A surface drain of 3 feet circular concrete in Everett street, between Western avenue and Adams street, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $19,500.

A 4-foot 3-inch, 3-foot 6-inch and 3-foot concrete overflow, two catch-basins, and minor drain in Maverick street between a point 540 feet southeast of Jeffries street and Lamson street, in the East Boston district, at an estimated cost of $35,000.

A concrete sanitary sewer 1 foot six inches by 2 feet and 1 foot 6 inches by 1 foot 8 inches, spurs at intersecting streets, and seven catch-basins in Claflin street, between C and D streets, and a sanitary sewer of concrete 2 feet 8 inches by 4 feet in D street, between the center line of Claflin street and the southwesterly line of Claflin street, in the South Boston district, at an estimated cost of $1,908.

A surface drain of 3-foot concrete in Everett street, between Western avenue and Adams street, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $19,500.

An overflow of 4 feet 3 inches, 3 feet 8 inches and 3-foot concrete, two catch-basins, and minor drain in Maverick street, between southeasterly line of Jeffries street and Lamson street, in the East Boston district, at an estimated cost of $24,000.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for a land-taking for sewerage works in Murray Hill road, West Roxbury.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Murray Hill road, bounded:

Southeast by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes October 3, 1911, forty feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of Murray Hill road, forty feet; northwest by another part of Murray Hill road, forty feet; and northeast by the northeasterly line of Murra Hill road, forty feet, containing sixteen hundred square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 40 linear feet of 15-inch pipe surface drain, and two catch-basins, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Murray Hill road.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

PROVINCE STREET WIDENING.

Mayor Curley gave official sanction to the important improvement of widening Province street, between School and Bromfield streets, at a conference held with representatives of property interests involved, held at the Mayor's office upon the 6th instant. The City Council will be asked to pass a loan, as the first step in the undertaking.

For determined action upon a large undertaking the mayoral conference has no precedent. Interested persons made the serious suggestion that in view of the excavation for the construction of the theater and office building by the Olympia Realty Trust, the time was ripe for drastic action, if steps were ever to be taken toward the realization of a thoroughfare between Tremont and Washington streets, stretching from Hanover street to Boylston street.

Mayor Curley was determined to go ahead with a 50-foot street widening, unless prevented by prohibitive cost.

Thirty or more persons were assembled in the Mayor's office when the conference was opened. The Mayor declared the question for determination was whether it were possible to construct a new artery between School and Bromfield streets. He said the City Planning Board had long considered it, and the Street Commission had given it sanction, but it was deemed wise to await the time when new construction was projected. He called on Frederic H. Fay, chairman of the City Planning Board, to open the discussion.

Producing a plan, Mr. Fay explained that the present plan was but a link in the larger propositon of providing a new thoroughfare from the North Station to the Boston & Albany Railroad tracks. The 40-foot link as planned would be very beneficial, but it was essential for real estate interests to realize that the entire scheme could not be put through at once. The City Planning Board felt that the opportunity of making a start, now that construction is in progress, should not be lost.

Gen. John H. Dunn, chairman of the Street Commission, was then called upon to explain the plans that had been drawn to provide for a 40-foot street. He declared that the improvement would benefit 5,614 square feet of property and would be of great benefit to the city.

The discussion turned to an alternative plan of taking the entire property between Chapman place and Province street and making a thoroughfare practically 100 feet in width. There was much opposition to this plan, principally because the lines would not conform to the City Hall avenue lines, which would be involved in case the present City Hall is abandoned and the desire to extend the thoroughfare through to Court street is evidenced.

Then came the proposition, advanced by Mayor Curley, to make Province street 50 feet in width, which would mean the taking of the entire bank building at the corner of School and Province streets; 35 feet from the Olympia Realty Trust and the wiping out of the Old Corner Book Store. There was little expressed opposition. When the matter of costs was broached the Mayor asked General Dunn what the estimates were. He gave the figure of $837,000. The Mayor thought a little more should be added, and announced that the proposition involved $1,000,000.

Finally, the Mayor suggested that the property interests involved in the takings, and there are only three—the banks, the Olympia Company and Mr. Crocker, as one of the trustees of the Ballard estate—contribute the land if the city would assess no betterments upon these properties.

Aiming to avoid entanglements that might ensue upon the premature breaking of leases which expire in June, 1923, Mayor Curley announced the project would certainly not be started before then. But he gave the order to the Street Commission to re-establish at once the building lines on either side of the present Province street so as to provide for the 50-foot thoroughfare.

Mr. Curley will present to the City Council at its next regular meeting a $500,000 loan order, inside the debt limit, with which to put through the widening eventually. The Mayor expects the Council will see that such a development as is proposed will make a fine business thoroughfare out of what is at present a dirty alleyway and will remove some structural eyesores. Betterment assessments will reduce the cost to $250,000, the Mayor hopes.

The new Province street will stand as the first completed part of a thoroughfare north and south, which has long been talked of as a necessary connecting line between Boylston and School streets, running right through the heart of the retail business section, paralleling Tremont and Washington streets.

PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES.

City Collector William M. McMorrow announced the establishment in each ward of the city of a branch agency where, at a designated time during the day or evening, the $5 poll tax may be paid by those men who have received bills within the past week.

These branches will be maintained at some time during the day, with one of the deputy collectors in charge, until July 15, after which date those who have not paid must pay at the Collecting Department windows in City Hall Annex, or mail a check and their bill to that office.

Reasonable time will be given in which to settle this bill, and there will be abatements where destitution can be proved. But, after a date to be announced later, the unpaid bills will be turned over to the constables and the face of the bill will begin mounting at a pace corresponding to the difficulty the constable has in collecting each. For flat refusal to pay finally, the alternative is a stay in jail.

Partial exemption is to be extended to all veterans of the World War and the Spanish War, but, to secure it, the individual must file formal application with the Board of Assessors in their office, City Hall Annex, third floor. After each has proved his right to the abatement, the $5 bill will be marked down to $2, the normal poll tax. The city must pay to the state $3 per head for every man upon whom this poll tax is assessable; this $3 is the city's share of the state's disbursements two years ago of $100 bonuses to all the state's veterans, including those of Boston residence.

THE PENSION ACT.

In harmony with the request of the Finance Commission, the City Record herewith publishes chapter 501 of the Acts of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts of 1922 relative to pension contributions for employees of the City of Boston or County of Suffolk.

[Chap. 521.]

An Act providing retirement allowances based on annuity and pension contributions for employees of the city of Boston or of the county of Suffolk.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. This act shall be known as the Boston retirement act and its purpose is to improve the efficiency of the public service by the retirement of disabled or superannuated employers.

Section 2. The following words and phrases as used in this act, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Retirement system" shall mean the arrangement provided in this act, for the retirement of and payment of retirement allowances to employees as defined in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) "Employee" shall mean any regular and permanent employee of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk (except teachers employed by the city of Boston in day schools conducted under sections one to twenty-four, inclusive, of chapter seventy-four of the General Laws) whose only or principal employment is in the service of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk, or any regular and permanent employee of this commonwealth whose compensation is wholly paid by the city of Boston or by the county of Suffolk, and the working superintendent and his employees of the index commissioners of the county of Suffolk.

(c) "Prior service" shall mean service rendered as an employee prior to February first, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, and shall include service rendered as an employee of the Boston Transit Commission or of the former town of Hyde Park.

(d) "Member" shall mean any employee included in the retirement system as provided in section five.

(e) "New entrant" shall mean any person becoming an employee on or after February first, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, and any person who becomes a member on or after February first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four.

(f) "Accumulated deductions" shall mean the sum of all the amounts deducted from the compensation of a member and standing to his credit in the annuity savings fund together with regular interest thereon.

(g) "Annuity" shall mean the annual payments for life derived from the accumulated deductions of a member.

(h) "Pension" shall mean the annual payments for life derived from contributions made by the city.

(i) "Regular interest" shall mean interest at four per centum per annum compounded annually.

(j) "Regular compensation" shall mean the compensation determined by the head of the department for the individual service of each employee in that department.

Section 3. The retirement system shall be established on February first, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, and the system shall be known as the Boston Retirement System.

Section 4. Within sixty days from the date that this act shall take effect, a retirement board of three persons for the retirement of the employees as defined by this act shall be created, consisting of the treasurer of the city of Boston, one person appointed by the mayor of the city of Boston, subject to the provisions of section nine of chapter four hundred and eighty-six of the acts of nineteen hundred and nine, who shall serve until September first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, and one person to be appointed by the other two members, who shall be a member of or eligible to membership in this retirement system, who shall serve until September first, nineteen hundred and twenty-five. Thereafter the term of office of a member other than the treasurer of the city of Boston shall be four years. Each member of the retirement board shall be paid ten dollars for each meeting he attends but not more than five hundred dollars in any one year.

The retirement board shall employ an executive officer and such actuarial, clerical and other assistants as may be necessary for the proper operation of the system established by this act. The funds to meet the cost of administering the retirement system established by this act shall be derived from appropriations of the city of Boston within the statutory tax limit. The retirement board shall, like other departments of the city, submit a budget to the mayor not later than February first of each year.

Section 5. All persons who are employees on the date when this retirement system is established may become members of the system. Every employee in service on said date, except an employee then covered by any other pension or retirement law of this commonwealth, shall, on the expiration of sixty days from said date, be considered to have become a member of this retirement system unless within that period he shall have sent notice in writing to the retirement board that he does not wish to join the system. Employees declining to join this retirement system within sixty days from the establishment of the system may thereafter be admitted to membership but no employee shall receive credit for prior service unless he applies for membership or becomes a member of the retirement system within one year from the date of the establishment of the system.

An employee who is covered by any other pension or retirement law of the commonwealth on the date when this retirement system is established shall not be considered to have become a member of this retirement system unless said employee shall then or thereafter make written application to join this system and shall therein waive and renounce all benefits of any other pension or retirement system supported wholly by the city of Boston or county of Suffolk, but no such employee shall receive credit for prior service unless he makes such application for membership within one year from the date of establishment of this system. If such an employee does not make such application and waive and renounce such benefits, he shall retain and enjoy said benefits without diminution or impairment.

All persons who become employees after the establishment of this system shall as a part of their employment become members of this retirement system and shall receive no other pension or retirement allowance from the city of Boston or the county of Suffolk.

On and after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, the services of an employee, not a veteran of the Civil war, of the Spanish war or Philippine insurrection or the World war as defined in section fifty-six of chapter thirty-two of the General Laws, or not a member of the judiciary or not a teacher, who attains or has attained the age of seventy and who is not a member of this system, shall terminate forthwith.

Section 6. The funds hereby created are the annuity savings fund, the pension accumulation fund and the retirement reserve fund.

The annuity savings fund shall be the fund to which shall be paid the deductions from the compensation of members. The treasurer of the city of Boston shall withhold four per cent of the regular compensation due on each pay day to all employees who are members of this retirement system; provided, however, that a member who is a contributing member of the teachers' retirement fund, as established by chapter two hundred and thirty-seven of the acts of nineteen hundred, if he shall so request in writing to the treasurer, shall have his contributions to this retirement system reduced by the amount deducted from his salary under the provisions of said chapter two hundred and thirty-seven. The amounts so withheld shall be transferred immediately thereafter to the retirement board and credited to the account of each member and become a part of said annuity sav- so contributing and shall be paid into ings fund.

The pension accumulation fund shall be the fund in which shall be accumulated the annual contributions which shall be made by the city. These annual contributions shall be such as shall be determined by actuarial computations on the basis of mortality and service tables approved by the retirement board as necessary to provide all pension payments on account of members of the retirement system and shall be paid by the treasurer of the city of Boston to the retirement board in such instalments and at such time as the retirement board shall require. These annual contributions shall consist of a normal and an accumulated liability contribution.

The normal contribution shall be equal to such per centum of the annual compensation of all members as is computed to be sufficient to provide during the active service of the average new entrant for all pensions for which the city may be liable on his account.

The accumulated liability contribution shall be computed as a constant percentage of the total pay roll of all members and shall be sufficient to provide during the thirty year period immediately following the establishment of this system for all pensions to be paid on account of members who are entitled to credit for prior service when this system is established, which are not provided by the normal contributions made on their account. The accumulated liability contributions shall be at least equal to regular interest on the amount of the accumulated liability and shall be at least three per cent greater in amount each year than the amount for the preceding year. The accumulated liability contributions shall be discontinued as soon as the accumulated liability has been liquidated.

The retirement reserve fund shall be the fund to which upon the retirement of any member shall be transferred:

(a) From the annuity savings fund the accumulated deductions of the member, and

(b) From the pension accumulation fund an amount equal to his accumulalated deductions, and

(c) From the pension accumulation fund in the case of the accidental death or the retirement of a new entrant an amount sufficient to provide the pension payable on his account not covered by paragraph (b).

Section 7. From the annuity savings fund shall be paid the accumulated deductions of all members leaving the service, except by retirement.

From the retirement reserve fund shall be paid all annuities and all pensions equal to the annuities and in the case of new entrants all pensions payable on their account.

From the pension accumulation fund shall be paid in case of members who are entitled to credit for prior service all pensions payable on their account which are not payable from the retirement reserve fund.

Section 8. The retirement board is authorized to invest the funds of the retirement system in such securities as are allowed for investment by the sinking fund commssioners of the city of Boston.

The retirement board shall annually allow regular interest on the average balance for the preceding year to the credit of the various funds from the interest and dividends earned from investments. Any excess earnings over the amount so credited shall be used in reducing the amount of contributions required of the city of Boston during the ensuing year. Any deficiency shall be paid by the city of Boston during the ensuing year.

Section 9. A member of this retirement system who shall have attained age sixty shall, upon his own application be retired for superannuation within thirty days after the filing of such application, or he may, and if he is a member of the police force he shall, upon the application of the head of his department be retired for superannuation by the retirement board. A member, other than a member of the police force, whose retirement is applied for by the head of his department shall be entitled to a notice of such application and to a hearing before the retirement board provided he requests such hearing in writing within ten days of the receipt of such notice.

A member of this retirement system who shall have attained age seventy shall be retired for superannuation within thirty days, except members of the judiciary, and except that a school teacher shall be retired on the thirty-first day of August following his attaining the age of seventy.

Section 10. Upon retirement for superannuation a member of the retirement system shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a) An annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement, and

(c) If a member was an employee at the time the system was established and became a member within one year thereafter and has not since become a new entrant, an additional pension having an actuarial value equivalent to twice the contributions which he would have made during his prior service had the system then been in operation, together with regular interest thereon. The total pension of any member payable under the provisions of this section shall not exceed one half of the average annual compensation received by him during the five years immediately preceding his retirement.

Section 11. Retirement for ordinary disability shall be made by the retirement board upon the application of the head of the department in which the member is employed or of the member or a person acting in his behalf, stating that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty and ought to be retired; provided, that said member has not attained age sixty and has had fifteen or more years of city or county service next preceding his application and that the medical board, after examination, shall report that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty and that he should be retired.

Section 12. Upon retirement for ordinary disability a member shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a) An annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement, and

(b) A pension equal to the annuity but not to exceed ninety per cent of the pension that would have been provided at age sixty, and

(c) An additional pension of such an amount as would together with the pension under (b) of this section make up a total pension of ninety per cent of the pension that would have been provided by the city for the member had he remained without further change of compensation in the service of the city or county until he reached age sixty and retired.

Section 13. Retirement for accidental disability shall be made by the retirement board upon the application of the head of the department in which the member is employed or of the member or of a person acting in his behalf, stating that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty as the result of an accident occurring during the performance and within the scope of his duty and certifying the time, place and conditions of such service performed by said member resulting in such alleged disability, and that such alleged disability was not the result of contributory negligence on the part of said member and that he ought to be retired; provided, that the medical board after examination shall report that said member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of duty as a natural and proximate result of an accident occurring in the performance and within the scope of his duty and that such disability is not the result of contributory negligence on the part of said member and that said member should be retired.

Section 14. Upon retirement for accidental disability a member shall receive a retirement allowance consisting of:

(a) An annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated deductions at the time of his retirement, and

(b) A pension equal to the annuity, and

(c) An additional pension of such an amount as will, together with the annuity and pension, be equal to three fourths of the annual compensation received by him during the year immediately preceding the date of the accident.

Section 15. An accidental death benefit shall be granted by the retirement board upon application by the head of the department in which the member was employed, or of a person acting in behalf of the member and upon proof that he was killed in or died as the result of an accident while in the performance and within the scope of his duty. Such accidental death benefit shall consist of:

(a) His accumulated deductions which shall be paid to his legal representative, and

(b) If he has dependents a pension equal to one half the annual compensation received by him during the year immediately preceding the date of the accident, which pension shall be paid:

(1) To his widow during her widowhood, or

(2) If there be no widow or if the widow dies or remarries before every child of such deceased member shall have attained the age of eighteen years, then to his child or children under said age, divided in such manner as the retirement board in its discretion shall determine to continue as a joint and survivor pension until every such child dies or attains the age of eighteen years, or

(3) If there be no widow, or child under the age of eighteen years surviving such deceased member, then to either his dependent father or dependent mother as the retirement board in its discretion shall determine, to continue for life or until remarriage.

Section 16. Should a member cease to be an employee by resignation or discharge or for any reason other than death or retirement he shall be paid the amount of his accumulated deductions, and his membership in the retirement system shall thereupon cease. Should a member die while an employee his accumulated deductions shall be paid to his legal representative.

Section 17. With the condition that no optional selection shall become effective in case a member dies within thirty days after filing his application for retirement, until the first payment on account of any retirement allowance is made, the member or if he be an incompetent then his wife, or if he have no wife, a conservator, may elect to receive in lieu of the retirement allowance provided for in this system a lesser retirement allowance payable throughout life with the provision that:

Option 1. If he die before he has received in payments the present value of his retirement allowance as it was at the time of his retirement, the balance shall be paid to his legal representative or to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator shall have nominated by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board; or

Option 2. Upon his death his retirement allowance shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator, shall have nominated by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board at the time of his retirement; or

Option 3. Upon his death one half his retirement allowance shall be continued, throughout the life of and paid to such person having an insurable interest in his life as he, his wife or conservator, shall have nominated by written designation duly acknowledged and filed with the retirement board at the time of his retirement.

Section 18. There shall be a medical board of three physicians, one of whom shall be a surgeon, one a medical practioneer and one a neurologist, appointed by the trustees of the Boston city hospital on nominations made by the senior medical staff of said hospital, one of whom shall be appointed for one year, one for two years and one for three years and thereafter as the terms of office expire in each year one member for three years. The compensation of the members of the medical board shall be fixed by the retirement board with the approval of the mayor. The medical board shall arrange for and pass upon all medical examinations required under the provisions of this act and shall report in writing to the retirement board its conclusions and recommendations thereon.

Section 19. Once each year the retirement board shall require every person under age sixty who was retired for disabiltiy to submit to a medical examination to be made at a place designated by the medical board. Upon the completion of such examination the medical board shall report and certify to the retirement board whether said beneficiary is still incapacitated physically or mentally for service in the department of the city or county where he was employed and of the rank or rating held by him when retired for disability.

If the medical board shall find that the disability for which the member was retired has ceased, or if the member fails to submit to said examination, his retirement allowance shall cease. Should the disability for which a member was retired upon application of the head of the department in which he was employed cease, he shall be restored to the department from which he was retired at the same rank and salary which he had when he was retired. Should the retirement allowance of any disability beneficiary be cancelled as provided in this section without his restoration to service the reserve on his pension in the retirement reserve fund shall be transferred to the pension accumulation fund and the reserve on his annuity in the retirement reserve fund shall be paid to him. Should a disability beneficiary be restored to active service as provided in this section, the reserve on his pension in the retirement reserve fund shall be transferred to the pension accumulation fund and the reserve on his annuity in the retirement reserve fund shall be transferred to his credit in the annuity savings fund and he shall then become again a member of the retirement system. When next retired his retirement allowance shall be based upon his service period preceding his first retirement together with the service period from the date of his restoration to city or county service to the date of his final retirement.

Section 20. The retirement board shall prepare and publish an annual report which shall also be printed in the city record of the city of Boston showing the valuation of the assets and liabilities of the funds created by this act and a statement as to the accumulated cash and securities of the funds as certified by the city auditor and city treasurer and shall set forth in such report such other facts, recommendations and data as may be of value to the members of the retirement system and the city of Boston.

The retirement board shall collect and keep in convenient form such data as shall be necessary for the preparation of the mortality and service table and for the compilation of such other information as shall be necessary for the actuarial valuation of the assets and liabilities of the system.

In the five year period beginning with the year nineteen hundred and twenty-three and in every five year period thereafter the actuary shall make an actuarial investigation into the mortality, service and compensation experience of the members and beneficiaries of the system and shall make a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the funds and taking into account the result of such investigation the retirement board shall:

(a) Adopt for the system such mortality, service and other tables as shall be deemed necessary, and

(b) Certify the rates of contribution payable by the city of Boston under the provisions of this act.

On or before the establishment of the retirement system the actuary shall recommend to the retirement board appropriate tables for use as a basis for making actuarial calculations preliminary to the preparation of tables based on the experience of members after the establishment of the system.

By the use of the mortality and service tables which shall be adopted from time to time, the actuary shall prepare annually a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the retirement system for publication in the annual report.

Section 21. The retirement board may make such rules and regulations consistent with the terms of this act as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Section 22. Pensions and annuities under the provisions of this act shall be payable in equal monthly instalments.

Section 23. The pensions, annuities and retirement allowances and the accumulated deductions and the cash and securities in the funds created by this act are hereby exempted from any state or municipal tax and shall not be subject to executions or attachments by trustee process or otherwise, in law or in equity, or under any other process whatsoever, and shall be nonassignable except as specifically provided in this act.

Section 24. The retirement board shall estimate the aggregate amount to be paid by the city of Boston and the county of Suffolk to the various funds created under the provisions of the act for each fiscal year of the city of Boston, and shall submit said estimate to the mayor of the city of Boston not later than July first in each year.

Section 25. The amounts necessary to pay the contributions of the city of Boston and county of Suffolk to the various funds created under the provisions of this act shall be obtained from funds raised by taxation and shall not be subject to the statutory tax limit of the city for municipal purposes.

Section 26. Any amounts paid or payable by the city of Boston under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law to a member or to the dependents of a member on account of death or disability shall be offset against and payable in lieu of any benefits payable out of funds provided by the city of Boston under the provisions of this act on account of the death or disability of a member. If the value of the total commuted benefits under the workmen's compensation law is less than the reserve on the pension otherwise payable under this act, the value of such commuted payments shall be deducted from such pension reserve and such benefits as may be provided by the pension reserve so reduced shall be payable under the provisions of this act.

Section 27. No person who was a member of the retirement system and who receives a retirement allowance under the retirement system shall be paid for any service, except service as a juror, and such service as he may be called upon to perform in the police or fire department in a time of public emergency, rendered by him to the city of Boston or county of Suffolk after the date of the first payment of such retirement allowance.

Section 28. The supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity upon the petition of the retirement board or any interested party to compel the observance and restrain violation of this act and the rules and regulations established thereunder.

Section 29. If it is impracticable for the retirement board to determine the exact length of service or amount of salary, pay or compensation of any member, the same shall be estimated by the retirement board.

Section 30. The school committee of the city of Boston shall determine the regular compensation paid school janitors. Such regular compensation shall be such part or the whole of the amount paid a school janitor by the city of Boston under the method now used in determining the cost of janitors' services in the public school buildings as is retained by a janitor for his own services as fixed by the school committee.

Section 31. Nothing contained in this act shall affect the right or power of the city of Boston, the school committee of the city of Boston, the county of Suffolk or the police commissioner of the city of Boston in regard to demotion, transfer, suspension or discharge of any employee.

Section 32. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as affecting the provisions of sections forty-nine to sixty, inclusive, of chapter thirty-two of the General Laws, nor of chapter two hundred and eighty-nine of the Special Acts of nineteen hundred and sixteen.

Section 33. Section sixteen of chapter thirty-two of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after the words "nineteen hundred and ten", in the sixth line the words,—, or the Boston Retirement Act of nineteen hundred and twenty-two,—so that paragraph (1) will read as follows:—Section 16. (1) Whenever, after July first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, a town retires a teacher who is not eligible to a pension under section ten, paragraph (4) and pays to such teacher a pension in accordance with section forty-three, or chapter five hundred and eighty-nine of the acts of nineteen hundred and eight, as amended by chapter six hundred and seventeen of the acts of nineteen hundred and ten, or the Boston Retirement Act of nineteen hundred and twenty-two, and the school committee of said town certifies under oath to the board the amount of said pension, said town shall be reimbursed therefor annually by the commonwealth; provided, that no such reimbursement shall be granted unless the retirement has been approved by the board and the amount of said reimbursement shall not be in excess of the amount, as determined by the board, to which said teacher would have been entitled as a pension, had he been a member of the association.

SECTION 34. This act shall take effect upon its acceptance by the mayor and city council of the city of Boston; provided such acceptance occurs prior to September first in the current year. [Approved June 8, 1922.]

MAYOR DETERMINED TO PAVE ALLEYS.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to Gen. John H. Dunn, chairman of the Street Laying-Out Department, upon the 1st instant:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
July 1, 1922.

GEN. JOHN H. DUNN, Chairman, Board of Street Commissioners:

DEAR SIR,—With a desire to promote cleanliness and thereby improve public health, some two months ago I requested the Commissioner of Public Works to have a survey made with an estimate as to the cost of paving with a smooth surface all alleyways in Boston north of Massachusetts avenue, which would include the congested sections, North End, West End, South End and city proper. The estimate has been submitted this day, representing a total of 1,200 private alleyways with an estimated cost of two million dollars. Under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, owners of property abutting on private alleys are required to contribute 50 per cent toward the cost of construction, and while it is not unlikely that a large number would be unwilling to stand their portion of the cost, it is, nevertheless, desirous that a beginning be made on this work so necessary and yet so long disregarded.

You are accordingly directed to bring this matter to the attention of your Board and make provision for an appropriation of at least $50,000 for this work, provided that after a canvass has been made by the employees of your department, you are reasonably certain of cooperation on the part of owners of property abutting on private alleys at present unsanitary and unhealthful.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Laid over, under the law.

WATER MAIN, COTTAGE ROAD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith report received from the Commissioner of Public Works in reply to the order passed by your honorable body on May 15, 1922, relative to the placing of a water main on Cottage road, West Roxbury.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, June 20, 1922.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

Cottage road is one of a number of streets 15 feet in width located in West Roxbury, in the territory bounded, roughly, by Stimson street, Washington street, Grove street and Centre street, which has been developed by the Securities Real Estate Trust and subdivided into comparatively small lots on which there are approximately 200 houses varying from a small shack to a comfortable dwelling. The streets are all in very rough condition, full of holes and hillocks, only partly defined and with rock very abundant throughout the territory.

The water supply consists of only small steel pipes provided either by the landowners or by the private owners. It is entirely inadequate for service and hopelessly so for fire purposes. There is no sewerage system in the territory.

There are two other districts similarly situated as regards these conditions in other parts of West Roxbury, and the question of providing a suitable water supply has come up quite frequently in the past few years, the owners claiming that inasmuch as permits to build are granted by the city, and taxes are collected, they should be provided with sufficient water supply; and the position taken by the Public Works Department to date is that these streets have absolutely no standing—no plans showing lines and grades having been approved by the Board of Street Commissioners, and that to comply with their requests would be illegal and a violation of section 10 of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, which is as follows:

"After the passage of this act no person or corporation shall prepare or open for public travel in the city of Boston any way, unless its location, direction, width and grades are satisfactory to and have been approved in writing by said board of street commissioners, but all highways in the territory shown on any plan heretofore made by the board or survey or by said street commissioners under the authority of chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-one, shall be in accordance with the location, direction, width and grades shown thereon; and no public sewer, drain, water pipe or lamp shall be placed in, or public work of any kind done on, any way in any such territory other than iin or on the ways shown on the plan or plans of such territory; provided, however, that this provision shall not prevent the laying of a trunk sewer or water or gas main as engineering demands shall require."

Undoubtedly, purchasers of this land for building purposes had been promised that the city would provide an adequate water supply and possibly a system of sewerage works, and they probably purchased the land in good faith that the city would carry out this program. It is suggested, however, in order to discourage future sales, that the question be taken up with the Law Department of the possibility of having large billboard signs placed at strategic points on the outskirts of this area calling attention to the fact that the city could not provide these conveniences until the streets were laid out, in width and location, as approved by the Board of Street Commissioners; otherwise the city authorities must continue to be placed in a very false position as regards a proper water supply for sanitary and fire purposes.

A 15-foot street should not be tolerated. It only serves the purpose of providing a larger number of lots within a given area to the advantage of the land-developing company in their sale and to the utter disregard of a proper lay-out for civic purposes.

It might be well to refer this whole matter to the Law Department for a final opinion of the city's obligations towards this area and the possibility of preventing further building until roadways accepted in accordance with the Street Commissioners' lay-out are provided.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Placed on file.

DEPARTMENT TRANSFERS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith various requests for transfers within department appropriations and respectfully request the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

Referred to the Executive Committee.

VETO MT. LEBANON CEMETERY PERMIT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 19, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, the order passed by your honorable body on June 5, 1922, providing for the granting of a permit to the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery Association for the use of land on Baker street for burial purposes.

I appreciate that the Council acted fully within its rights in suspending the rules upon the question of the acceptance or rejection of this order, but I, nevertheless, cannot overlook the fact that there are certain extremely objectionable features connected with the establishment of a cemetery.

The persons having homes in the section where it is proposed that this cemetery shall be established have, in most cases, invested the savings of a lifetime in the creation of those homes and any law or order adopted by the government that might tend to impair the value of this lifetime investment should, in common decency, only be approved after a public hearing has been held at which owners of realty who might desire to protest be afforded an opportunity.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Placed on file.

MONEY FOR HIGH SERVICE MAIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston.
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1922.

To the Gentlemen of the City Council:

I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the Commissioner of Public Works who informs me that the sum of $45,000 is necessary for the laying of high service water main in South street, High street, Oliver street, Milk street and McKinley square and that the amount at present available is but $21,000.

I accordingly recommend adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, June 26, 1922.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

The 24-inch high service water main should be completed from Kneeland street to State street. To do this pipes will have to be laid in South street, High street, Oliver street, Milk street and McKinley square. $29,000 will be required. This amount is not available in the budget of the Water Division.

When the budget was being prepared, $45,000 was recommended to cover this work; only $21,000 was allowed. This latter amount is sufficient only to lay approximately 2,000 feet of pipe in South street and partly through High street. Comparatively little benefit will result from this work, as only one connection with the high service distribution system, at Federal street, can be made. On the other hand, if the work is continued to State street four connections will be made—at Federal, Oliver, Milk and State streets, greatly increasing the fire protection.

It is respectfully recommended that a transfer of $29,000 from Water Revenue be made to the item F-12, contracts for construction.

Yours respectfully,
Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses payable during the financial year, beginning with the first day of February, 1922, the sum of $29,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated from the income of Water Service, Public Works Department, as follows:

F-12, Special Items, New Mains, $29,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ITINERANT VENDORS' LICENSES.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the year Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-Two.

An Ordinance Concerning Itinerant Vendors' Licenses.

TRANSIENT VENDORS' LICENSES.

Section 1. Every transient vendor, whether principal or agent, authorized by state license to do business in this commonwealth, before making any sales of goods, wares and merchandise in the city of Boston, shall make application for local license to the city clerk, stating the names, residences and places of business of the owners or parties in whose interests said business is conducted.

Sect. 2. Upon the payment of a fee of $100 the city clerk shall issue to the transient vendor a license authorizing the sale of such goods, wares and merchandise within the city of Boston. Such licenses shall remain in force so long as the licensee shall continuously keep and expose for sale in the city of Boston such stock of goods, wares and merchandise, but not later than the first day of April following its date of issuance.

Sect. 3. Every transient vendor who is granted a license under the provisions of this ordinance shall exhibit the same at all times, while in force, in some conspicuous part of the place of business for which it is issued.

Sect. 4. The term "transient vendor" for the purposes of this ordinance shall be the same as defined in sections 1 and 2 of chapter 101 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, as amended by chapter 2 of the General Acts of 1920 and chapter 106 of the General Acts of 1921, and shall include any person, either principal or agent, who engages in a temporary or transient business in this city, either in one locality or in traveling from place to place, selling goods, wares or merchandise. "Temporary or transient business" for the purposes of this ordinance shall mean and include any exhibition and sale of goods, wares or merchandise which is carried on in any tent, booth, building or other structure, unless such place is open for business during usual business hours for a period of at least ten months in each year. The provisions of this ordinance, however, shall not apply to sales by commercial travelers or by selling agents to dealers in the usual course of business, or to bona fide sales of goods, wares or merchandise by any person, whether principal or agent, who engages in the temporary or transient business within the city, and who has paid taxes upon his stock in trade during the current year, or to hawkers and pedlers as defined by the laws of this commonwealth and the ordinances of the city of Boston.

Sect. 5. Any person, association or corporation who shall engage in the business of a transient vendor, as herein defined, without having secured a license for that purpose as provided in this ordinance, or who, having secured such license, shall thereafter fail to pay the sum provided herein, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $20 for each day during which such goods, wares or merchandise are kept or exposed for sale.

Chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1920 are hereby repealed.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President BRICKLEY called up Nos. 1 to 4, inclusive, unfinished business, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor June 12, 1922, viz.:

1. Leslie S. Kinsman, to be a Weigher of Coal.
2. Donald Lincoln, to be a Weigher of Beef.
3. Louis F. White, to be a Weigher of Goods and a Gauger of Liquid Measures.
4. John L. O'Leary, to be a Weigher of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Moriarty and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yeas 8, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

ERECTION AND COMPLETION OF STATION NO. 2.

President BRICKLEY called up No. 5, unfinished business, viz.:

5. Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the erection and completion of a new building for Police Station 2, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, at the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness to said amount.

On June 12, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was read a second time, and the question came on its passage.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I desire to make a statement in regard to my vote for this order. I voted consistently, with some other members of this Council or the previous Council, against locating the new police station down at the foot of Milk and Sears streets, and I voted so until the very end. But finally the order was passed by the previous Council by six votes to three. Since that time we have seen considerable in the newspapers relative to keeping this Police Station No. 2 on the site that it now occupies, and the business interests, if we are to believe what we read in the papers, are very much opposed to having this station located down at the foot of Milk and Sears streets. But I fail to remember, when the controversy over the taking of the site was at its height, where any of the so-called business interests now so very much interested for their own protection in keeping this police station nearer to the center of activities in this particular district, even opened their mouths in favor of the site which the city owned on Hawley street. I favored the building of the police station on Hawley street, as did some of my colleagues, and I believe it would be a more desirable location than that finally selected. I believe so now. I believe that the police station should be located nearer to the heart of the business district, so called, within the confines of Station 2. However, this matter of a police station has dragged along for a matter of two or three years, and the voice of the so-called business interests was silent at the time when their support would have meant something to those of us in the Council who were opposed to the site finally selected. Had they then come to the support of those councillors, we might have succeeded in defeating the proposition to locate the police station down at the corner of Milk and Sears streets. However, now that the present site has been selected and the old vote with regard to the Hawley street site has been rescinded, I am now going to vote to build this station. I am not going to be a party to holding up the building of the station any longer, because I believe the policemen of that district are entitled to adequate quarters and to a real building in which to live. While I do not believe it is the best location possible, still, in view of the fact that the city has purchased the site, and also in view of the fact that practically everyone now interested in having the station placed in some other location was previously silent, although now coming to the front and saying that Milk and Sears streets is not the proper location, I think that they are too late in their criticism, and I am going to vote for the order after this statement.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I, too, desire to say a word. I did not intend to say anything until Coun. Donoghue spoke. I have the history of the whole situation very well in mind. The Boston Post, has had more or less to say in regard to the matter in the last two months. It has had one editorial and two news stories supposed to come from the business men of the district. But I remember that some two years ago this same Boston Post called the four members who voted against it "the wilful four," because of their voting against Station 2. The fact is, simply, that if you tried to follow the newspapers in some of these matters you would have to be as crooked as a corkscrew to keep in step with them. One minute they are with a proposition and the next minute they are ducking behind the past and trying to be against it. Inasmuch as the Post has been the only paper that has interested itself in the matter particularly in the two years, I feel that I don't want to take any notice at the present time of any of the other papers. I am still going to vote against Station 2, maintaining my position of more than two years.

The order was given its second reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 1.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Gilbody, Lane, Walsh, Watson—7.

Nays—Coun. Moriarty—1.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. WATSON moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I move that when we adjourn it be to meet a month from today, at two o'clock p. m.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, while a motion to adjourn is not debatable, I feel that I should be allowed to say just a word at this time. I think we will be establishing rather a dangerous precedent in adjourning for a month, because it is generally understood that we will meet once a week, on Monday afternoon. There are many matters continually coming up that should be acted upon, and I think that if we adjourn for a month that in all likelihood something will arise between now and the time to which we adjourn which might necessitate a special meeting if there was to be no regular meeting. I think we should not adjourn for more than two weeks; that in that way we will be better able to handle the city business efficiently. If we adjourn now for two weeks, and then come into session and find that there is not much business to transact, we can then adjourn over again whereas if we don't meet for a month, undoubtedly we will have to be called into special session before that time.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, this is not without precedent. Since I have been a member there have been times when we have adjournd for a month, and I think once for six weeks. As a matter of fact, if anything comes up in the meantime that requires action we can be called in special session. That has been done in the past, and can always be done when necessary. The Mayor can call us together if anything important comes up, and if one of our members makes the request of the President, the President can call a meeting. I know of nothing important that will probably come before us in the immediate future and, as I say, if there is anything that requires action we can have a special meeting. I certainly think it will do no harm to the interests of the city if we adjourn for one month at this time.

Coun. Lane's motion, that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Monday, July 24, at two o'clock p. m., was carried.

Adjourned at 4.30 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. WALSH, to meet on Monday, July 24, at two o'clock p. m., subject to the call of the President.

PROPOSALS FOR BITUMINOUS COAL FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, 15 BEACON STREET, OFFICE OF THE BUSINESS AGENT, TENTH FLOOR,
BOSTON, July 8, 1922.

The School Committee invites bids for furnishing bituminous coal for school buildings, deliveries to be made between date of execution of contract by the School Committee and September 12, 1922. Proposals made on the form to be obtained at the office of the Business Agent of the School Committee, tenth floor, 15 Beacon street, will be received until Monday, July 17, 1922, at 12 o'clock m. at said office, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bituminous Coal." Each bid must be made in duplicate, one to be sent to the Business Agent of the School Committee, as above, and the other filed with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening bids. The coal is to be delivered in the bins of the several buildings and the price per ton named in the proposal must include the delivery and housing in a manner satisfactory to the School Committee. The contractor must furnish suitable equipment and a sufficient number of men to house the coal properly and promptly. The amount of coal required is estimated as follows:

1.	City proper	1,545 tons.
2.	South Boston	1,400 tons.
3.	East Boston	1,100 tons.
4.	Roxbury	3,000 tons.
5.	Dorchester	3,100 tons.
6.	Charlestown	960 tons.
7.	Brighton	390 tons.
8.	West Roxbury	940 tons.
9.	Hyde Park	265 tons.
	Total	12,700 tons.

Bidders may submit a proposal for furnishing the bituminous coal required in any one or more of the above nine districts of the city, and may also submit one bid covering the whole city. A certified check for one hundred dollars ($100) for each district bid for ($900 for the whole nine districts), payable to the City of Boston, must be filed with the copy of bid sent to the Business Agent of the School Committee, and any bidder awarded a contract must furnish a satisfactory bond for not less than twenty (20) per cent of the estimated amount of the contract awarded him. The School Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to accept a part and reject a part of any bid, and to accept any bid that it shall deem for the best interests of the city.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date September 7 (O. S.), 1630.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492,524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

Per capita (of Boston population) cost in 1920 of schools, approximately $13.30 (including special appropriations from taxes, etc., for new schoolhouses), which is $3.09 higher than in 1919, $5.38 ahead of 1915 and $6.61 or nearly 100 per cent more than in 1910.

AREA OF BOSTON.

Area to ward lines (26 wards), 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,843 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,585 acres flats. Land area only, 27,870 acres (i. e., 43.55 square miles). Included in the latter are 138 acres of filled flats added to the land area of South Boston in 1919 and 48 acres to that of East Boston in 1918. Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, six are larger in land area than Boston, viz., New York (326.9 square miles), Chicago (199.37), Philadelphia (129), Detroit (75.62), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.37). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 square miles).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., New York, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

MAYOR APPEALS FOR NAVY MEN.

A vigorous message in behalf of the men employed by the Navy Department at the Boston Navy Yard, Charlestown, was addressed by Mayor Curley to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, upon Tuesday, 11th instant.

The communication of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
July 11, 1922.

Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir,—The problem of unemployment is still acute and vexatious in Boston and its solution is one of the most important questions of the hour. I feel that in a matter of such industrial moment the Federal administration should be willing to do its share in relieving the situation; but judging by the plans of the Navy Department it is quite evident that it is preparing to emphasize the conditions here rather than to help improve them.

I am appealing to you therefore to try and wake up the Navy Department to some sense of the duty it owes to the Boston community before it is too late. The naval appropriations are already made by Congress so that relief is not a question of legislation. It is now a plain problem of the division of the appropriations among the navy yards of the country and the method of allotment of moneys for work so that efficiency in labor and economy in expenditure may best be secured; and this is a purely administrative measure.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, some $750,000 was appropriated for the building of the "Whitney," one of the "mother" ships of the destroyer squadrons, and for the year ending June, 1923, only one-fifth of this amount—$150,000—has been allotted, a sum barely sufficient to keep half the working force on the "Whitney" employed until January 1. I want to call your attention to the fact that a sister ship of the "Whitney," the "Dobbin," was being built at the League Island Navy Yard, in Philadelphia, during the same period and up to date the labor of the Boston construction was some $200,000 cheaper than that of Philadelphia. I am stressing this economic statement because the administration is constantly advising the country that waste and extravagance must cease and economies in many directions must be achieved; yet with the demonstrated efficiency of the Boston Navy Yard as indicated in the facts and figures of the official records, Boston is the place selected for financial curtailment while the more wasteful and less efficient yards—League Island and the private and public yards around Newport News, Va.,—are chosen for continuance of work.

Need I say, my dear Senator, that this species of official economy does not favorably impress the public of the Commonwealth you represent in the Senate; it comes perilously near to being just plain administrative favoritism; and with the memory of the outrageous "Leviathan" case still rankling in the public consciousness it emphasizes the growing belief that Massachusetts as a political entity is becoming a negligible quantity in Washington, despite the high honors paid to individual citizens of the Commonwealth.

I am acutely interested in the economic conditions of the Boston Navy Yard because the ebb and flow of its industrial status are felt very sensibly in the City of Boston, in whose commercial and financial activities the expenditures of the Navy Yard are an element of first importance, and the cessation of which, by the spurious economies of the Navy Yard, has a very depressing and deleterious effect on our economic existence. The workers there are largely citizens of Boston; when work and wages are theirs they are an important contributory asset to the peace and happiness of the community; when they are idle and spending their savings they add necessarily to the existing volume of unrest and discontent. Moreover, if their unemployment continues they increase the embarrassments of this city whose fortunes the voters have committed to my care under the law and in time they necessarily become a burden on an already overtaxed municipality.

It is my duty therefore to call your attention to conditions as they exist, conditions whose gravity bids fair to grow graver through the shortsighted policies of our Navy Department as now administered and through false economies that not only spell disaster to us, but a serious deterioration in the National property that may mean calamity in a national emergency. It is time for Washington to realize that Massachusetts is a vital part of the United States and that an injury inflicted on it, be it economic or military, is an injury to the whole Republic, and if our people are to be treated in a manner that leads them to believe they are being sacrificed for the benefit of favored interests and persons it will engender a distrust in the honesty and good faith of the administration in Washington that cannot be helpful to the public welfare.

I ask you candidly and sincerely to give this matter the serious consideration it merits and to take the action your position and influence warrant me in believing will remedy them. I am strongly of opinion that the strangulation of the Boston Navy Yard as contemplated by the United States Navy Department will be a serious blow to economic Boston, a piece of egregious folly in an industrial sense, a measure of madness from a military point of view, and an accomplishment that in its last results will bring much unnecessary suffering to the community and an increment of unrest and discontent that none of us can contemplate with equanimity.

Bespeaking your immediate attention and prompt action I have the honor to subscribe myself,

Very truly yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

The letter of Mayor Curley was prompted by a communication received by Luke E. Shields, Director of the Municipal Employment Bureau of the City of Boston.

July 11, 1922.

Luke E. Shields, Director Employment Bureau, 1-2 City Hall, Boston, Mass.:
Re United States Ship "Whitney," Allotment 4.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the construction of the United States ship "Whitney," this committee appeals to your generosity in connection with past performances for Navy Yard work, and we have been so impressed with the outcome of all your accomplishments that we again appeal to you for further consideration.

The existing allotment for the United States ship "Whitney" amounts to $150,000. This is four-fifths of the previous year's amount, namely, $750,000. The allotment is so small that it will be impossible to keep more than one hundred men thus employed for a period of two and one-half months. We would like to have you present these figures to Senator Lodge at Washington who is in possession of all figures pertaining to this work and impress upon him the importance of the stagnation of employment here locally and what it means to your office with additional cries for employment for ex-service men. Make special reference in your letter to what it means to have the employment crisis in Boston and what it means to have 500 or 100 more men come out looking for employment.

Yours very truly,
Mr. Dignan,
Mr. Foley,
Mr. Hamilton,
Mr. Keevey,
Navy Yard, Boston.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the endorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

Upon July 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the Oil City Boiler Works for supplying new boilers at the Calf Pasture pumping station, Dorchester. Incident to the award of this contract communications were received from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department and Prof. Arthur E. Norton, who is consulting engineer upon this work. These communications were as follows:

Boston, July 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your permission is respectfully requested to award a contract for new boilers at the Calf Pasture pumping station, Dorchester, to the Oil City Boiler Works, Oil City, Pennsylvania, low bidder on the type of boiler selected, namely, that with two longitudinal drums —No. 4 on the attached tabulation—at a total cost of $25,259 as bid. An adjustment of the price for superheater, agreed to by the Oil City Company, reduces this total contract price to $24,614, which is the amount of the contract to be submitted for your approval.

The necessity for these boilers at this station is very urgent, as the State Department of Public Safety has decided that none of the six boilers now in use at the plant can be utilized for a longer period than five months from date.

Attached is a copy of report from Prof. Arthur E. Norton, who had been previously selected as consulting engineer on this work.

Yours respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Bids for New Boilers at Calf Pasture Pumping Station.

1. Relative Standing of Bidders.

Two ways of analyzing the bids were adopted: First, on the basis of total contract price with lowest priced superheater (see Table A), second, on the basis of total contract price with Foster superheater (see Table B).

TABLE A.— ORDER OF BIDS WITH LOWEST PRICED SUPERHEATER.

Name.	Combination.*	Price.
1. Oil City (cross drum) . . .	2–4–7	$22,710

4. Oil City (2 longitudinal drums).	1–4–7	25,259
5. Erie City (1 longitudinal drum).	1–5–7	25,504
6. Union.	1–5–7	28,687

7. Union.	1–4–7	29,029
8. Babcock & Wilcox	1–4–7	32,496
9. International.	2–4–7	32,556

* Numbers in second column show items bid on as follows:

1. Two longitudinal drums, vertical baffles.
2. One or two cross drums, vertical baffles.
3. Two longitudinal drums, horizontal baffles.
4. Foster superheater.
5. Superheater Company superheater.
6. Other superheater.
7. Diamond soot blowers.

7*d*. Bayer soot blowers.

† No plants in Massachusetts. Also only one drum, three boilers in battery.

‖ Too wide.

¶ Only one drum.

2. Basis for Awarding Contract.

It is noticed that the Oil City Boiler Works is the lowest bidder (see No. 1 in Table A), bidding on cross drum boilers at a price for whole contract of $22,710. It is, however, the opinion of the writer that longitudinal drums would be more satisfactory than cross drums.

On this basis, the Oil City Boiler Works is still the lowest bidder at $25,259 (see No. 3 in Table B), if we throw out the bid of the Erie City Iron Works (see No. 2 in Table B), which offers a boiler with one drum instead of two as required by the specifications.

3. Possible Lower Price for Superheater.

It is understood that the Oil City Boiler Works stands ready to make a lower price on superheaters. If this is so, it may be taken up with that company later without altering their standing as lowest bidder within the requirements of the specifications for two longitudinal drums on each boiler.

4. Recommendation for Award.

I recommend that the contract for new boilers, superheaters and soot blowers be awarded to the Oil City Boiler Works in accord with their proposal of May 31, 1922, the boilers to be of the longitudinal drum type as offered under item one (1) of their proposal.

Arthur E. Norton.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon July 8 the Mayor approved a contract for resurfacing with bituminous macadam Breed street, between Bennington street and Gladstone street, East Boston, with division forces. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 6, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to resurface with bituminous macadam Breed street, between Bennington street and Gladstone street, East Boston, with the division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $6,500.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 8 the Mayor approved a contract for resurfacing with bituminous macadam Park street, from Geneva avenue to Washington street, Dorchester, with the division forces. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 7, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to resurface with bituminous macadam Park street, from Geneva avenue to Washington street, Dorchester, with the division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $9,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 8 the Mayor approved a contract for relaying granite blocks with grout joints and regulating edgestones in Freeport street, from Greenwich street to Mill street, Dorchester, with the division forces. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 7, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to relay granite blocks with grout joints and regulate edgestone in Freeport street, from Greenwich street to Mill street, Dorchester, with the division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $10,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 8 the Mayor approved a contract for resurfacing with bituminous macadam Princeton street, between Prescott street and Eagle street, East Boston, with the division forces. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 6, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to resurface with bituminous macadam Princeton street, between Prescott street and Eagle street, East Boston, with the division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $5,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 12 the Mayor approved a contract with Frank DeMasi for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 11, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Frank DeMasi, 44 Dunstable street, Charlestown, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters, and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 12 the Mayor approved the laying of granite block pavement, upon gravel base, with grout joints, in McBride street, Jamaica Plain, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 10, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Authority is requested to lay granite block pavement upon gravel base, with grout joints, in McBride street, from Washington street to Call street, Jamaica Plain, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $5,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 8 the Mayor approved a contract with Stanley Harlow, Inc., for furnishing two automobiles to the Public Works Department, Water Service. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 5, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to Stanley Harlow, Inc., for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Water Service, the following:

One Ford touring car with starter and demountable rims, $502; two one-ton Ford truck chasses at $481 each, $962; total, $1,464. Less allowance on the following: One-half ton Ford truck, $129; one Ford touring car, $152; one Maxifer unit truck, $89; total, $370. Net cost, $1,094.

The entire list of Ford dealers in Boston were canvassed for bids on this requirement, and the bid scheduled above of Stanley Harlow, Inc., was the lowest one received, and for this reason I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,
FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

An addition on contract of William H. Ellis & Son for repairs to Eastern Wharf, in the amount of $150. For furnishing all tools, labor and material necessary to complete the work of splicing and rebelting the four piles. Original contract, $2,630; total additions, $150; contract as standing, $2,780.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

An addition, in the amount of $1,951, on contract with Coblo & Griffin for erection and completion of the Suffolk County Jail Hospital. For snow guards on roof, $88; extra sash and frame in operating room, necessitated for safety, $473; new door in motor room, necessitated to accommodate drums of elevator, $60; fire door in motion picture booth, demanded by Underwriters, $44; changes in motion picture booth to accommodate machine, $137; 2-inch granolithic floor on first floor, $638; pointing up wall in passageway, $220; two special jail locks, $88; wood sash and glazing, $125; extra glazing in sash in operating room, $78; total, $1,951. Original contract, $81,800; total addition, $1,951; contract as standing, $83,751.

An addition and deduction on contract of M. Serreto for erecting and completing building for Engine No. 3 and Police Division No. 8, in the amount of $3,555.45. For:

1. Extra cast in place piles, $780.
2. Extra precast piles, $636.
3. Extra length of cast in place piles, $2,634.
4. Extra excavation, $210.
5. Extra reinforcing steel, $942.45.

Total, $5,202.45.

Explanation of above items follows:

1. Extra cast in place piles: The Building Department would not approve use of a single row of piles under walls of garage and fire station portions. Revision to provide a double row involved the addition of fourteen (14) cast in place piles, twelve of which have been placed, while two will have to be driven precast owing to the presence of obstructions during former operations. Twelve piles at $65 each, the price named in the contract, accounts for Item 1.

2. Extra precast piles: The same revision referred to under Item 1 involves the use of seven (7) additional precast piles, but it has been found possible to dispense with three piles under areas and steps, carrying these portions on beams and reducing the additional piles to four. The price of $159 each has been checked by estimate of quantities and comparison with the proposal of a competitor, and is found to be reasonable. The item of four piles at $159, equalling $636, is therefore approved.

3. Extra length of cast in place piles: The lengths of piles specified were based on information derived from borings in advance of the contract. The piles had to be driven, however, until they developed proper resistance, and the advance information proved misleading. The records of the contractor, verified by the city inspector, show an aggregate additional driving of 878 linear feet, and for this the price of $3 is approved, which is proportional to the $65 named in Item 1 for piles 21 feet 6 inches long. This makes a total of $3 by 878, or $2,634.

4. Extra excavation: The amount of excavation required to contain the pile cappings for two rows of piles is 70 yards, as stated in the letter of the contractor of March 29, of which a copy has been sent to the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and the price named in contract is $3 per yard, making a total of $210, which amount is approved.

5. Extra reinforcement: The additional reinforcement is in part accountable to the necessity of providing rods in the cappings over two rows of piles, and in part due to the increase of the basement slab of the police station from 7 inches to 10 inches in thickness, which consequent extra weight was also required by the Building Department in order to afford greater rust protection for the reinforcement. The amount of steel estimated is 27,000 pounds, and the price of $942.45, including handling charge and profit for the steel in place, is deemed reasonable. The claim for extra concrete referred to in the abovementioned letter of the contractor has not yet been checked nor approved.

6. Deduction for shortening precast piles: New borings have shown the advisability of shortening the precast piles under the fire station and wharf from 40 feet as specified to lengths varying from 32 to 40 feet, an aggregate saving of 549 linear feet in the 103 piles. On this has been approved a deduction of $3 per foot, or a total of $1,647.

Original contract, $195,300; total additions, $3,555.45; contract as standing, $198,855.45.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

An addition, in the amount of $747, on contract with the J. B. Hunter Company for Public Latin School for delivering all the finish hardware required to entirely equip the six additional rooms, now under construction, all to be in accordance with the contract specifications for finish hardware, now in the present building. Original contract, $5,845; total additions, $910.65; contract as standing, $6,755.65.

LAND-TAKING IN HYDE PARK.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Ruskin road, Hyde Park.

The property is bounded as follows:

Southeast by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Ruskin road, October 2, 1919, six feet; southwest by another part of Ruskin road, two hundred and eight feet; northwest by the same, six feet; and northeast by the same, two hundred and eight feet, containing twelve hundred and forty-eight square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 200 linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Ruskin road, near Wood avenue.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly side of Ruskin road, within a distance of about two hundred and fifty feet southeasterly from Wood avenue and within a maximum depth of about eighty-five feet, and the lots of abutting land on the southwesterly side of Ruskin road, within a distance of about two hundred and fifty feet, and within a maximum depth of about eighty-five feet, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein.

INVESTIGATION OF WATER DIVISION.

Mayor Curley addressed a communication to City Auditor Rupert S. Carven upon the 8th instant, as follows:

"You are hereby directed to furnish the Finance Commission with a complete statement of the progress made on the investigation of irregularities in connection with the payment or non-payment of bills for water during the administration of former Mayor Andrew J. Peters."

A similar communication was sent to Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department.

Mayor Curley advised the Finance Commission that they are at liberty to confer at once with the City Auditor and Public Works Commissioner regarding the affair.

The Commission began an inquiry in the matter upon the 13th instant.

MUNICIPAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from the City Planning Board upon the 10th instant:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permit me to acknowledge on behalf of the City Planning Board the receipt of several communications from you transmitting data, photographs, etc., relative to the Municipal Theater at St. Louis. All of this material has been carefully noted, and I have also assembled a certain amount of further information from various sources upon the same subject.

I have also conferred with the Park Department with reference to the project and understand from them that they are having plans prepared looking toward a definite recommendation in the matter. I have accordingly offered on behalf of this Board to co-operate with them in any way possible.

At the same time I would like to offer a suggestion for your consideration. The St. Louis Municipal Theater is opened during the summer season only, or for a period of eight weeks. It is an outgrowth of a pageant held in 1914, and while it derives a certain amount of its charm from the outdoor setting, I understand that the apparent desire to extend the opera during the winter months has resulted in a proposition being laid before the Board of Aldermen for a municipal auditorium costing $4,000,000.

Portland, Me., has a large auditorium in its City Hall with a municipal organ, and an annual program including organ recitals and concerts, at which prominent soloists and musical organizations appear at a series of summer concerts.

Springfield, Mass., has a municipal auditorium with a seating capacity of 4,500 people, and ample room for exhibition purposes. It also has its municipal organ and a municipal orchestra of sixty-five persons which participates in its schedule of concerts.

Would it not be possible for Boston to consider not only an open-air opera season such as is held in St. Louis, but to plan from the first for a permanent building combining in some way the attractive outdoor features with the shelter which is so essential to New England's climatic conditions even in summer, and also with the permanent protection necessary for the winter months?

I understand that such a combination has been very happily worked out in the Temple of Arts at Bar Harbor, where movable panels are arranged between Grecian columns, so that they may be raised during favorable weather conditions and the audience may sit out on the terraces to listen to the music if they so desire, while in any inclement weather the panels are lowered, affording protection against storm and cold.

In both Springfield and Portland the municipal organ was donated. It is not unreasonable to assume that there are equally public-spirited men and women to be found living in or interested in Boston.

Yours very truly,

E. M. Herlihy,
Secretary.

REPORT UPON CONFERENCE.

Mrs. Margaret J. Gookin of the Overseers of the Public Welfare in the City of Boston has filed a report relative to her recent attendance at the National Conference on Social Work, at Providence, R. I., June 22-29, inclusive, in harmony with chapter 274, Acts of 1914.

The report of Mrs. Gookin is as follows:

BOSTON, July 11, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In compliance with chapter 274, Acts of 1914, the following report of the National Conference of Social Work is respectfully submitted.

The conference was held at Providence June 22-29, 1922. The delegates, numbering almost four thousand, were welcomed at the opening session by Mayor Gainer, President Faunce of Brown University, and Mr. T. F. McDonnell, chairman of the reception committee, for the City of Providence.

Mr. Robert Kelso of Boston, president of the National Conference, addressed the delegates. Mr. Kelso took for his subject, "The Family." May I say here that not for the past five years has this subject, "The Family," been given its proper place on the national program. This year the family and its relation to all other phases of social welfare work was well discussed.

Mr. Kelso welcomed the day when the old type of relief work and its stigma with relation to the family and children would be a thing of the past. Today relief work, or social welfare, the name now used, is not the mere doling out of money—and that a small dole—but every part and individual in the family problem is looked into, and, if need be, looked after. Charity is not the mere giving of alms, but the doing and giving of everything to assist a family to help and sustain themselves; a responsibility of community to individual, and a responsibility of individual to the community.

The conference was divided into ten sections, covering all phases of social work, relief, indoor, outdoor; child welfare, correctional probation and parole; health, mind and body; immigration, labor and industrial problems; public and private administration.

Section four, relating to the family, held sessions Friday and Saturday. The rise in relief giving has been very marked in the last decade; first, the getting away from the old and hard form of giving; then the increases in all commodities; later the great depression of business all over the country causing, one might say, an unprecedented amount of unemployment. Nowadays, we realize how important it is to maintain the family in the home, sustaining the mother and the children, that both may have what is necessary to live their natural lives, which can only be under natural circumstances, for families thus situated are in but few cases to blame for their conditions. Hence, it is the duty of every agency or board, public or private, to consider every phase and condition; health, food, fuel, rent, clothing and recreation; for these dependent families must have some scope outside their own living quarters. Relief must be given, not service; relief is first—to help and keep the morale of family life.

Miss Nesbitt of Chicago says: "Keep the babies alive by giving to the mothers more aid and the co-operation of every health and nursing agency." Strange as it may seem, in Chicago, the children in families where the mother is receiving mothers' aid or mothers' pension have been found to be in better health condition than children of wage-earners in the same localities.

In forty-seven cities throughout the United States $2,500,000 was expended in family relief work in 1921. Boston contributed her share in this great work, family relief—the upbuilding and the keeping of our future citizens.

The Children's Division laid great stress on good family work, which is primarily the work in good result of child welfare. Miss Abbott of the Child Welfare Bureau, Washington (as did Mr. J. Prentice Murphy of Philadelphia, formerly of Boston), gave great stress on work to be done in child labor law, saying that only an amendment to the Constitution can give Congress the necessary authority to regulate child labor and hours of employment. Public administration by boards was recommended in the giving and the governing of public relief.

Mothers' aid, in some states called "mothers' pension" or "widows' pension," had a special session on Wednesday. Forty states out of forty-eight in the Union are giving mothers' aid, only eight states left out in this great work. Massachusetts and Boston especially had a good share in this session, the outcome of the work being that in all families the mother be given adequate aid to bring up her family properly in her own home. If this aid is to be entirely mothers' aid, the board or agency so giving make it adequate; if supplementary, make it sufficient.

State supervision over local boards recommended that the work be well supervised and checked up, thereby making for better results. Volunteer boards of good selection make usually the best service.

At the Wednesday evening session, "Public and Private Co-operation" was the topic for consideration. Mrs. Sheffield of Boston spoke on public administration through its agents and urged that great care and treatment be given to problems of illegitimacy or the unmarried mother, and the mother with dependent children, for the good thrifty mothers should not consider what is the least they can get along with, but give them a little more, that some little comfort and ease of mind might be theirs to repay them for their thrift and good courage.

Health of individual and community, mental hygiene, labor and industrial economic questions all had well defined policies and people well able to present them.

The members of the Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare of Boston feel grateful to your Honor for giving them the privilege of attending this national conference. It was gratifying to hear that Boston is a pioneer in good relief work. Our city is ever mindful of its responsibilities to the less fortunate of our citizens—remembering that inadequate family relief takes out of the blood and flesh of the children, breaking down the mother, making her unfit in mind and body to naturally care for her children.

Respectfully yours,

Margaret J. Gookin.

WAGE AGREEMENT.

The agreement which will bring peace to the building industry in Boston was signed at a conference at four o'clock upon the 14th instant at the office of Mayor James M. Curley in City Hall. Committees representing the Building Trades Employers' Association of Boston and the United Building Trades' Council attended the conference.

The agreement was signed by Parker F. Soule, president, and John F. Walsh, secretary, as the representatives of the Employers' Association, and James F. Fitzpatrick, president, and E. A. Johnson, secretary, for the unions. Mayor Curley, also signed the agreement. He was the agent who brought the contending factions together.

The agreement becomes operative immediately and only those trades which have agreed to abide by its terms will be benefited.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, under chapter 91 of the General Laws, of the application to the Department of Public Works, Division of Waterways and Public Lands, of the Boston Sand and Gravel Company for license to rebuild a portion of its wharf and to dredge at its premises in Boston Harbor at East Boston. A public hearing will be held at the office of the department, 413 State House, upon Friday, the 21st day of July, 1922, at 2 p. m.

IRISH GAMES ASSURED.

Mr. Francis E. Slattery, chairman of the Boston Committee of the Irish Olympic Games, has been advised by Seamus Dobbyn, organizer, that cables from Ireland say that the position there is quite normal again and that the games will be held as arranged; that all necessary accommodation is available for both teams and visitors. He asks that this message be published in the Boston press.

BOSTON BIDS FOR CONVENTION.

Mayor Curley addressed the following telegram upon the 11th instant to each of the following:

Mr. James R. Nicholson, Past Exalted Ruler, Boston Lodge of Elks, Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. Frederick C. Robinson, Grand Secretary, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. William Wallace Mountain, Grand Exalted Ruler, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, N. J.

BOSTON, MASS., July 11, 1922.

DEAR BROTHER,—The City of Boston was chosen as the convention city of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in the year 1916 and it is the desire of the present government, which includes in its membership a majority of the officers of the Boston Lodge, both past and present, that the National Convention be held in Boston during 1924.

During the past six years the City of Boston has added materially to its park system and to its hotel facilities and is extremely desirous of again entertaining the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

As Mayor of Boston I am prepared to do everything possible to make the convention the most successful and enjoyable ever held.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

LAND-TAKINGS IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the orders of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works, in Oak avenue, Dorchester. The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Oak avenue, bounded:

West by Adams street, six and 40/100 feet; north by another part of Oak avenue, two hundred thirty-four and 76/100 feet; east by the same, six feet; and south by the same, two hundred and thirty-seven feet, containing fourteen hundred and fifteen square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: About 235 linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Oak avenue, leading easterly from Adams street for a distance of about two hundred and thirty-five feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northerly side of Oak avenue, for a distance of about two hundred and eighty feet easterly from Adams street, and the lots of abutting land on the southerly side of Oak avenue, for a distance of about two hundred and forty-five feet easterly from Adams street, excluding the lot at the southerly corner of Adams street and Oak avenue, now or formerly owned by Francesca S. LaMarca and Elvira Seminara, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the relocation and construction of Parsons street, near North Beacon street, as a highway, Brighton District.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is taken in the following described land exclusive of trees or structures affixed thereto:

A parcel of land at the southwesterly corner of Parsons street and North Beacon street, now or formerly owned by the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, containing fifty-one hundred and eighty square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

The said highway as hereby relocated is bounded and described as follows:

North by North Beacon street, by two measurements, forty-two and 14/100 feet on a curve of three hundred nineteen and 14/100 feet radius and eighty-six and 30/100 feet; southeast by the southeasterly line of Parsons street as hereby relocated, thirty-five and 47/100 feet on a curve of fifteen feet radius; northeast by the northeasterly line of Parsons street as hereby relocated, one hundred ten and 69/100 feet; east by the easterly line of Parsons street as hereby relocated; thirteen and 64/100 feet; again southeast by another part of Parsons street, forty-five and 80/100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of Parsons street as hereby relocated, by two measurements, one hundred eighty-one and 58/100 feet and thirty-eight and 39/100 feet on a curve of forty-two and 22/100 feet radius.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

The Board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the relocation and construction of Parsons street, Brighton district, as a highway, near North Beacon street, in the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

NEW HOTEL PLANS.

E. N. Statler, president of the corporation which will build an 1,100-room hotel on the 57,651 square feet of land adjacent to the Selwyn Theater in Park square, bounded by Columbus avenue, Providence street and Arlington street, was a caller upon Mayor Curley upon the 12th instant. Mr. Statler exhibited a tentative plan of the building and conferred with the Mayor regarding the same.

Mr. Statler is enthusiastic about the new hotel, reiterating to Mayor Curley his belief that, as Boston offers wonderful opportunities for general business when the country recovers from post-war depression, the hotels should have all the patronage they can handle.

Secretary F. A. McKowne of the hotel corporation is in conference with the New Haven lawyers and will make the first payment to them for the land secured for the hotel. George B. Post & Sons, New York architects, have designed an Italian Renaissance structure. Among its innovations will be a Turkish bath.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 58.

The commanding officer of Division 9 has brought to my attention the following meritorious action on the part of Patrolman John P. McCarthy of that division, who, while patroling his route in Hollander street on the morning of June 27, stopped a runway horse attached to a milk wagon. A four year old boy who was in the milk wagon, while playing with the whip, had struck the horse, causing him to run.

I take pleasure in commending Patrolman McCarthy for his presence of mind and quickness of action in preventing a possible serious accident.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 60.

Patrolman Andrew W. Ryan of Division 5, assigned to Division 9.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 63.

The commanding officer of Division 16 has called to my attention the following commendable piece of police work performed by Patrolman Thomas E. Bermingham of that division.

On the evening of July 6, an employee of the Boston Arena Company, having left his Nash touring car on the reservation attached to the Boston Arena, found on coming out of the building at about eleven o'clock, that his car had disappeared and immediately telephoned to Police Headquarters, giving a description of the car.

At about the same hour, Patrolman Bermingham, who was regulating traffic in front of the Boston Opera House, had his attention attracted to an automobile by the operator's apparent lack of familiarity with the vehicle, and wishing to look the car over, signalled to the operator to slow down. This he did, but as he drew near the officer he increased the speed in an attempt to escape. Patrolman Bermingham, however, succeeded in boarding and stopping the car, and finding the operator had no registration papers called the patrol wagon and sent the man and the car to the station house, where, upon investigation, it was found to be the car reported as missing. The owner was notified, came to the station, and received his property before midnight.

I am greatly pleased to learn of this excellent work on the part of Patrolman Bermingham and most heartily commend him for the acumen and good judgment which he displayed in his quick apprehension of the thief and recovery of the car.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

REPORT OF DOG OFFICERS.

Mayor Curley received the following report upon the 12th instant:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—With this I am inclosing report of the Dog Officers for the City of Boston for the twelve months ending June 30, 1922. As the five-year contract, which we made with you in 1917, expired on July 1, we are hoping that you will be disposed to renew it and reappoint representatives of the Animal Rescue League, in order that we may continue to give the city the advantages of the service which we have tried to keep at the very highest standard of humaneness and efficiency. As you are quite familiar with the work we are doing in its different phases, I do not need to go into detail, but I would like to call your attention to the fact that visitors, coming here from other parts of this country and from abroad, give it as their unvarying opinion that no city of its size in the world is so free from stray, diseased and unwanted animals as is the City of Boston. While we emphasize, of course, the humane side of this work, we do not lose sight of the fact that it is also a business and sanitary proposition, and that in trying in every possible way to make this a model institution, we are contributing our share towards civic welfare. With kindest regards and most sincere appreciation of the friendly feeling you have manifested towards our work,

Yours very truly,

HUNTINGTON SMITH,
Managing Director.

The following is the report:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—We, the undersigned, authorized by warrant to collect and dispose of unlicensed dogs in the City of Boston, herewith submit the following report:

The number of dogs destroyed by us in the period from July 1, 1921, to July 1, 1922, was 3,810. This number includes all dogs known by us to be unlicensed in the City of Boston. The number of dogs redeemed by owners who took out licenses and thereby complied with the law was 140. These persons having complied with the provisions of the law, no complaints have been entered against them, but their names and addresses will be furnished by us if required. All of which is respectively submitted.

JULIAN CODMAN,
HENRY C. MERWIN,
FRANK J. SULLIVAN,
Constables.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of the contract made with James J. Conway for building sewerage works in Ipswich street, between Lansdowne street and Charlesgate West, Roxbury, from July 1, 1922, to July 31, 1922, thirty-one days. This extension of time is occasioned by the delay caused by the extremely wet weather since the start of the work.

An extension of the time for completion of the contract made with the John Kelly Company, 5 Ulmer street, Roxbury, for asphalt concrete and granite block pavement in North Beacon street, from Market street to beyond Parsons street, Brighton, has been granted from July 1, 1922, to August 1, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor was ordered to remove the base already laid, which necessarily caused the delay.

SUMMER BAND CONCERTS.

The Commissioners of the Park Department announce that the following list of band concerts has been arranged for the summer season of 1922:

Section 80, paragraph II. Insert in the first line to immediately precede the word "masters" the word "dean," so that the paragraph will read as follows:

II. Normal School: To dean, masters, junior masters, first assistants, and assistants of the Boston Normal School.

Paragraph IV. Add the following at the close of the paragraph describing the eligibility requirements for the IV. High School certificate—which experience shall include at least one year in a day high, or a day intermediate school—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

The requirements for this certificate are: Graduation from a college or university approved by the board of superintendents, or from an institution of as high a grade; evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing regular graded day schools, which experience shall include at least one year in a day high or a day intermediate school.

In the paragraph which provides for the granting of the IV. High School certificate to teachers of certain ranks upon the completion of seven years' service in the Boston public schools, strike out the word "chemistry" in the first and second lines; insert in the second line to follow the words "manual arts" the words—in physical training.

Insert in the third line to follow the word "schools" the words—industrial instructors in household science. In the seventh and eighth lines strike out the words "in any of these ranks."

Strike out all after the word "determine" in the fourteenth line and substitute in place thereof the following: provided, that no person shall be eligible for promotion under the IV. High School certificate except on the first school day immediately prior to his anniversary, so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Instructors and assistant instructors in commercial branches, in manual arts, in physical training and in salesmanship in day high schools; industrial instructors in household science and vocational assistants in day high schools who have satisfactorily completed seven years of permanent service in the Boston public schools in any of these ranks, and teachers permanently employed under an XI. Special: Valid in Day High Schools certificate, who while so employed, obtain a degree from a college or university approved by the board of superintendents, may thereby become eligible for the certificate of qualification IV. High School, subject to such examination as the board of superintendents may determine, provided, that no person shall be eligible for promotion under the IV. High School certificate except on the first school day immediately prior to his anniversary.

Paragraph XI. Under "Certificates Valid in Day High Schools": In the paragraph describing the eligibility requirements for the special certificate in commercial branches, strike out the words "which shall include one year's experience in a high school," in the seventh and eighth lines, and substitute in place thereof—which experience shall include at least one year in a day high or a day intermediate school.

In the fourteenth and fifteenth lines strike out the words "completed at least one year's experience in a high school" and substitute in place thereof —had at least one year's experience in a day high or a day intermediate school.

In the footnote which appears on page 30, strike out the year "1923," and substitute in place thereof—1925, —so that the paragraph will read as follows:

*For the special certificate in commercial branches: Graduation from a high school approved by the board of superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing schools of such grade or grades as the board of superintendents may determine, which experience shall include at least one year in a day high or a day intermediate school; provided, that teachers who have been permanently employed in the public day schools of Boston for at least three years, may be admitted to the examinations for the special certificate in commercial branches but shall not receive such certificate nor be rated on the eligible list, until they shall have had at least one year's experience in a day high or a day intermediate school approved by the board of superintendents, either under a permanent appointment, a temporary certificate, or assignment.

Strike out the paragraph describing the eligibility requirements for the special certificate in music.

Strike out the following headings on page 32:

Industrial Instructors.

Vocational Instructor and Vocational Assistant, Day High Schools.

Strike out the paragraph describing the eligibility requirements for the industrial instructor in household science certificate, and the industrial instructors in dressmaking and millinery certificates, and substitute in place thereof the following:

For the industrial instructor in household science certificate:

Graduation from a high school approved by the board of superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; graduation from a three years' course of domestic science in a normal school approved by the board of superintendents, or from a three years' course in an approved normal school, together with the satisfactory completion of a one-year course in domestic science in an approved school; and evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching cookery and the household arts connected therewith in an approved day high, continuation or trade school.

For the industrial instructors in dressmaking and millinery certificates:

Graduation from a high school approved by the board of superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education, together with

(a) Graduation from an institution giving approved courses in industrial training, one-year's trade experience, and one year's experience in teaching industrial subjects; or

(b) Three years' trade experience, one year of training to teach industrial subjects, and one year's experience in teaching industrial subjects; or

(c) Three years' successful experience in teaching industrial subjects in an approved day high, continuation or trade school.

Candidates qualifying under these industrial instructors certificates for service in state-aided courses must, in addition, have completed a training course satisfactory to the board of superintendents, and furnish evidence of two years' trade experience or the equivalent in the branch to be taught.

Candidates qualifying under the industrial instructor in dressmaking, or in millinery certificates for service in state-aided courses, who qualify under "c" (of the options above) must offer in addition thereto one year of special training in the subject to be taught.

Paragraph XVII. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

XVII. A. Evening School, Limited: To teachers of industrial subjects in evening elementary schools and in day practical arts classes organized by the director of evening schools.

The requirements for this certificate are: Evidence of four years' successful experience in the practical pursuit of the industry the candidate is to teach.

Candidates for this certificate shall be at least twenty-one years of age and shall at the time of appointment or within one year thereof, be employed in the industry the candidate is to teach.

XVII. B. Evening School, Limited: To teachers of English and citizenship in evening elementary schools.

The requirements for this certificate are: Graduation from a normal school; or, graduation from a college or university approved by the board of superintendents and evidence of completion of courses in history, civics and citizenship, or, evidence of experience in teaching satisfactory to the board of superintendents; or, graduation from a high school approved by the board of superintendents, with completion of an approved course in training for the teaching of immigrants, or with one year's experience in teaching satisfactory to the board of superintendents.

Candidates for this certificate must be at least twenty-one years of age.

Certificates XVII. A. and XVII B. Evening School, Limited, shall expire on the thirtieth day of June following the date of issue, but may be extended upon evidence of successful teaching experience and satisfactory completion of a training course approved by the board of superintendents.

Paragraph XIX. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

XIX. High School, Limited: To industrial assistants in day high schools: Industrial instructors in dressmaking or in millinery appointed to these ranks prior to January 1, 1923, may become eligible for the certificate of qualification XIX. High School, Limited, subject to such requirements and examination as the board of superintendents may determine; provided, that no person shall be eligible for such promotion to the rank of industrial assistant, day high schools, until she shall have served at least one full year on the maximum of the salary of the rank of industrial instructor.

Section 87, paragraph 4. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

4. Appointments as principal or teachers in the Normal School, as director, associate director, first assistant director, or assistant director of a special subject or department, as supervisor or assistant supervisor of a special subject or department, as medical inspector of special classes, as supervising nurse, and as supervisor in charge of playgrounds, shall not be subject to the restrictions of paragraph 1 of this section.

Section 151. Insert the following new paragraph as paragraph 6, and renumber old paragraphs 6 and 7 as 7 and 8 respectively:

6. The term of the evening classes of the Boston Trade School shall begin on the last Monday in September and shall continue through Thursday of the week immediately preceding the first day of April.

Section 156. Add the following new paragraph as paragraph 14:

14. The sessions of the day practical arts classes organized by the director of evening schools shall be at least two hours in length and shall be held between 8.30 o'clock A.M. and 5 o'clock P.M., at such hours as the superintendent may determine.

Section 186, paragraph 3. Strike out the words "the evening industrial schools" in the second and third lines, and substitute in place thereof the following—evening classes of the Boston Trade School and extension classes of the Trade School for Girls—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

3. Pupils sixteen years of age and over may be admitted without examination to evening classes of the Boston Trade School and extension classes of the Trade School for Girls, provided they are able to profit by the instruction offered in the studies which they select. In general, it is to be understood that in order to profit by the instruction offered in a given course the pupil must be so employed as to have opportunity to practise a calling the same as, or closely allied to, the one which he elects to study in the school.

Insert the following new paragraph as paragraph 4 and renumber old paragraph 4 as 5:

4. Residents of Boston sixteen years of age and over may be admitted without examination to day practical arts classes organized by the director of evening schools.

Section 200, paragraph 1. Insert after the word "schools" in the second line, the words—with two sessions; strike out the word "their" in the same line, and insert in place thereof—the; strike out the words "from the course of study in physical education. These exercises shall be given between 10 o'clock A. M., and 10.10 o'clock A. M., and for a ten-minute period in the afternoon, beginning fifty minutes after the afternoon session opens," and insert in place thereof—in accordance with the course of study in physical education—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Sect. 200. 1. Teachers in day elementary and day intermediate schools with two sessions shall so arrange the daily exercises in their classes that each pupil shall have, each forenoon and afternoon, regular exercise in accordance with the course of study in physical education. The time designated for regular physical exercises shall be in addition to the time devoted in each session to recess. Windows shall be opened, top and bottom, for a sufficient portion of each period allotted to physical exercises to ensure the thorough flushing of each room with outside air.

Paragraph 2. Insert after the word "schools" in the first line—and of day intermediate schools with one session; strike out the word "their" in the second line and substitute in place thereof—the; strike out the word "the" in the same line and substitute in place thereof—their—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

2. Principals of Latin and day high schools and of day intermediate schools with one session shall so arrange the exercises in their various classes that each pupil shall have daily a ten-minute setting-up drill, which shall be held between the second and third periods. Windows shall be opened, top and bottom, for a sufficient portion of each period allotted to the setting-up drill to ensure the thorough flushing of each room with fresh air.

Section 205, paragraph 1. Insert in the seventh line to immediately follow the word "discipline" the words —or to make up imperfect lessons— so that the paragraph will read as follows:—

Sect 205. 1. No pupil shall be detained for study or punishment during the noon intermission or a recess period. Any pupil may be detained at the close of the afternoon session in day elementary or day intermediate schools and in day industrial schools for a period not exceeding thirty minutes for purposes of discipline or to make up imperfect lessons; or, with the approval of the assistant superintendent in charge, for a period not exceeding one hour to make up imperfect lessons, but such detention shall be only on account of the pupil's fault or neglect.

Section 232, paragraph 1. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

Sect. 232. 1. The director of evening schools shall have general supervision and control over evening schools, the Day School for Immigrants, and day practical arts classes organized by the director of evening schools.

Section 234. Add the following at the close of the paragraph: and shall co-operate with principals in the conduct of the academic work of prevocational classes for girls,—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Sect. 234. 1. The director of household science and arts shall have general supervision and control over household science and arts, including cookery and sewing in the day schools, except industrial schools, and shall cooperate with principals in the conduct of the academic work of prevocational classes for girls.

Section 236. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

Sect. 236. 1. The director of manual arts shall have general supervision and control of instruction in drawing, design, art appreciation, art correlation and vocational art in day schools.

2. The associate director of manual arts shall have general supervision and control of instruction in manual training, shop work and mechanical drawing. He shall co-operate with principals in the conduct of the academic work of prevocational classes for boys and co-operative industrial and agricultural courses.

Section 238, paragraph 1. Strike out the words "assistant superindendent in charge" in the first and second lines, and substitute in place thereof—director—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Sect. 238. 1. The director of practice and training shall have charge of observation and practice teaching in the schools. She shall perform such service in assigning, visiting and assisting substitutes, temporary teachers, special assistants in day elementary and day intermediate schools, and junior assistants in Latin and day high schools, and such other duties as the superintendent may direct.

Add the following new section as Section 277:

Sect. 277. 1. The employment of foreign-born teachers and members of the supervising staff who do not become citizens of the United States at the earliest date possible under the naturalization laws may be terminated by the Board at pleasure.

Section 281. Insert to immediately precede the words "assistants, speech improvement classes" in the eighth line the words—assistant in charge of speech improvement classes; insert to immediately precede the words "assistants, classes for the conservation of eyesight" the words—assistant in charge of classes for conservation of eyesight; strike out the word "the" in the ninth line; insert in the same line to immediately precede "and" the words—first assistant in charge of prevocational classes —so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Sect. 281. 1. Teachers of day elementary schools shall consist of one principal holding the rank of master for each district; sub-masters in charge; master's assistants in charge; sub-masters; master's assistant; first assistants, grammar; first assistants in charge; assistants; first assistants in charge of special classes; instructors, special classes; assistant in charge of speech improvement classes; assistants, speech improvement classes; assistant in charge of classes for conservation of eyesight; assistants, classes for conservation of eyesight; first assistant in charge of prevocational classes, and prevocational assistants.

Section 289. Strike out the paragraphs 7 and 8 and substitute in place thereof the following:

7. The number of pupils in average attendance for the month preceding shall be used as the basis upon which to determine the number and rank of teachers allowed.

8. A sufficient number of teachers of the ranks described in paragraph 6 may be appointed to provide one assistant in charge or one assistant for every fifteen pupils, or in lieu thereof, one second assistant for every ten pupils. There shall be as many toolkeepers as the superintendent may from time to time appoint subject to the approval of the Board.

Section 293. Insert the following new paragraphs as paragraphs 6 and 7 and renumber old paragraphs 6 to 12 inclusive as 8 to 14 inclusive:

Co-ordinators.

6. Co-ordinators in day high schools shall have distinctive duties in addition to teaching. They shall, in co-oeration with the heads of departments, be responsible for the curriculum of the cooperative courses. Their duties shall also include the securing of contracts for admission of pupils to the various shops, the visiting of pupils in such shops, and all other matters pertaining to the co-ordination of the shops and the school.

7. Co-ordinators may be appointed for the supervision of not less than two-thousand pupil periods of instruction per week, provided, that the number of co-ordinators shall be limited to one for each industrial course.

Paragraph 7 (renumbered 9) (a.) Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

(a.) Ordinary academic work is hereafter referred to as "A" work; laboratory instruction in science is called "B" work; instruction in sewing, cookery, millinery, shop-work, drawing, and academic or laboratory work where the expense of instruction is shared by the state, are called "C" work.

Section 295, paragraph 1. Insert in the third line to immediately follow the word "master"—a dean—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

Sect. 295. 1. Teachers in the Normal School shall consist of a principal holding the rank of head master, a dean, masters who shall be heads of departments and of whom one shall be director of the Model School, junior masters, first assistants who shall be heads of departments, and assistants.

Section 296, paragraph 3. Strike out the word "male" in the first line so that the paragraph will read as follows:

3. One first assistant may be appointed in schools of more than two hundred fifty pupils. One clerical assistant may be appointed in schools of more than one hundred fifty pupils. As many interpreters may be appointed as the Board may approve.

Add the following new paragraph as paragraph 6:

Day Practical Arts Classes

6. Teachers of day practical arts classes organized by the director of evening schools shall be appointed on the basis of one teacher for each fifteen pupils in average attendance.

Section 299, paragraph 5. Strike out the word "two" in the third line and substitute in place theerof—three—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

5. A director of manual arts, one associate director of manual arts, three assistant directors of manual arts, three first assistants in manual arts, and eight assistants in manual arts.

Paragraph 6. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

6. A director of music, five assistant directors of music and nine assistants in music.

Paragraph 8. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

8. A director of practice and training, a first assistant director of practice and training, and four assistant directors of practice and training.

Insert the following new paragraph as paragraph 9 and renumber old paragraphs 9 to 20 inclusive as 10 to 21 inclusive.

9. Two primary supervisors.

INFORMING PUBLIC OF MATTERS OF GENERAL EDUCATION

A report was received from the Board of Superintendents under date of May 8, 1922, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Jan. 30, 1922 (see p. 200), on the advisability of issuing circular publications from time to time to inform the general public what the schools have to offer in matters of general education.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to assign some person within the school service to prepare, under his supervision from time to time, articles for the press which have to do with school matters of special public interest.

CERTIFICATION OF CUSTODIANS.

A communication was received from the Secretary, under date of June 14, 1922, reporting that, pursuant to the action of the Board at its meeting on June 5, 1922, the Division of Civil Service has certified the following-named persons as eligible for appointment to fill two vacancies as regular substitute custodian:

John McCloskey, John Cunningham, John Joyce, and Martin W. Green.

Placed on file.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE TO CUSTODIANS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, recommending that Edward J. Harold, custodian of the Hancock and Cushman Schoolhouses, be granted leave of absence without pay for a period of one year, beginning June 18, 1922.

Placed on file, and leave of absence without pay granted for the period specified

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, recommending that William T. Curley, custodian of the George Bancroft School-house, be granted leave of absence on one-half net compensation for the period June 6 to 17, 1922, inclusive, because of personal illness.

Placed on file, and leave of absence on one-half net compensation granted for the period specified.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, recommending that John F. Tolan, custodian of the John Marshall Schoolhouse, be granted leave of absence on one-half net compensation for the period May 4 to 11, 1922, inclusive, because of personal illness.

Placed on file, and leave of absence on one-half net compensation granted for the period specified.

APPOINTMENT OF CUSTODIAN TO A PORTABLE.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, recommending that James A. Howe, custodian of the East Boston High Schoolhouse, be also appointed to a portable located in the yard of that school at the rate for a manual training portable, to take effect Mar. 17, 1922.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved, to take effect on the date stated.

APPOINTMENT OF REGULAR SUBSTITUTE CUSTODIANS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, reporting that he has considered the candidates certified by the Division of Civil Service as eligible for appointment to fill two vacancies as regular substitute custodian, and recommending that John McCloskey and John Cunningham, who stand at the head of the list, be appointed to the positions, to take effect June 18, 1922.

Placed on file, and the appointments approved, to take effect on the date stated.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION TO CUSTODIAN, BOSTON TRADE SCHOOL.

Communications were received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of June 19, 1922, recommending that the order passed at the meeting of June 5, 1922, granting additional compensation to the custodian of the Boston Trade School be rescinded; and recommending that he be allowed additional compensation at the rate of one dollar and fifty-six cents ($1.56) per week, to take effect Oct. 1, 1921, and to continue until otherwise ordered, for the care of an automobile repair shop located in the yard of that school.

Placed on file, and the order referred to rescinded.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the custodian of the Boston Trade School be allowed additional compensation at the rate of one dollar and fifty-six cents ($1.56) per week for the care of an automobile repair shop located in the yard of that school, to take effect Oct. 1, 1921, and to continue until otherwise ordered.

PAYMENT OF SALARIES OF TEACHERS DURING SUMMER

A communication was received from Anna M. Niland, under date of June 9, 1922, on behalf of the Boston Women Teachers' Union, Local 88, requesting that the payment of summer salaries of teachers be made this year in accordance with the plan followed during the last three years; that is, that the July salary be paid with the June salary, and that the August salary be paid by check as early in July as is compatible with making the deductions for June absences from that pay roll.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Business Agent is hereby directed to prepare the August payrolls of those teachers and members of the supervising staff paid under the twelve-payment plan as early as possible during the month of July after necessary adjustments have been made on account of absence during the month of June.

EQUAL PAY FOR EQUAL SERVICE.

The petition of the women high school teachers for equal pay for equal service, laid over at the meeting of Feb 20, 1922 (see p. 13), and the endorsements of the petition laid over at the meetings of Mar. 20, 1922, and May 15, 1922 (see pp. 26 and 62), were taken up, placed on file, and the Secretary directed to reply thereto as follows:

The present salary schedule, especially as it establishes certain relationships in the compensation of various groups of teachers, is the result of long experience and study and careful consideration of the various interests involved. Any substantial disturbances of these existing financial relations will inevitably lead to numerous changes and readjustments to an extent that cannot be foreseen. For example: if the pending petition of women teachers in high schools be granted the differential between their salary and that of women teachers in intermediate and elementary schools will be increased from $532 to $1276.

Very probably the teachers of intermediate schools would then request that the present differential between their group and teachers of high schools be maintained, and that their salaries be increased accordingly. Thereupon the teachers of Grades VII and VIII who are not in the intermediate school organization, but who in many instances are performing services comparable with those in intermediate schools, likewise would demand an increase in salary. It is not unlikely, furthermore, that teachers of Grades I to VI in elementary schools would also petition for a raise in salary. Thus practically the entire salary schedule would, of necessity, be revised upward, and the cost of the various increases that would inevitably result by raising the salary of women teachers in the high schools would amount approximately to $1,500,000

But since the entire school appropriation for the current year will be consumed in defraying the expenses already authorized, and since there is no money available in the budget for granting increases to any one of the groups enumerated above, the School Committee is forced to record itself unable to grant the request of the petitioners.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 7:02 o'clock P. M.

Attest::

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES.

City Collector William M. McMorrow announced the establishment in each ward of the city of a branch agency where, at a designated time during the day or evening, the $5 poll tax may be paid by those men who have received bills within the past week.

These branches will be maintained at some time during the day, with one of the deputy collectors in charge, until July 15, after which date those who have not paid must pay at the Collecting Department windows in City Hall Annex, or mail a check and their bill to that office.

Reasonable time will be given in which to settle this bill, and there will be abatements where destitution can be proved. But, after a date to be announced later, the unpaid bills will be turned over to the constables and the face of the bill will begin mounting at a pace corresponding to the difficulty the constable has in collecting each. For flat refusal to pay finally, the alternative is a stay in jail.

Partial exemption is to be extended to all veterans of the World War and the Spanish War, but, to secure it, the individual must file formal application with the Board of Assessors in their office, City Hall Annex, third floor. After each has proved his right to the abatement, the $5 bill will be marked down to $2, the normal poll tax. The city must pay to the state $3 per head for every man upon whom this poll tax is assessable; this $3 is the city's share of the state's disbursements two years ago of $100 bonuses to all the state's veterans, including those of Boston residence.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

PROPOSAL FOR FUEL OIL FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, 15 BEACON STREET,
OFFICE OF THE BUSINESS AGENT, TENTH FLOOR,
BOSTON, July 15, 1922.

The School Committee invites bids for furnishing fuel oil required for school buildings from September 1, 1922, to January 31, 1923, deliveries to be continued until June 15, 1923, provided appropriation is made therefor and the School Committee so orders. Proposals made on the form to be obtained at the office of the Business Agent of the School Committee, tenth floor, 15 Beacon street, will be received until Monday, July 24, 1922, at 12 o'clock m. at said office, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals should be plainly marked "Proposal for Fuel Oil." Each bid must be made in duplicate, one to be sent to the Business Agent of the School Committee, as above, and the other to be filed with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening bids. The fuel oil is to be delivered in the tanks of the several buildings, and the price per gallon named in the proposal must include the delivery in said tanks in a manner satisfactory to the School Committee. The total estimated quantity of fuel oil required during the period September 1, 1922, to June 15, 1923, both dates included, is three hundred nine thousand (309,000) United States standard gallons. The buildings in which the fuel oil is required, and the estimated fuel oil consumption of each, are as follows:

Dorchester High School	112,000 gallons.
Frank V. Thompson Intermediate School	30,500 gallons.
High School of Practical Arts	54,400 gallons.
Public Latin School	52,800 gallons.
Roxbury High School	59,300 gallons.
Total	309,000 gallons.

A certified check for two hundred dollars ($200), payable to the City of Boston, must be filed with the copy of bid sent to the Business Agent of the School Committee, and any bidder awarded a contract must furnish a satisfactory bond for not less than twenty (20) per cent of the estimated amount of the contract awarded him. The School Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to accept a part and reject a part of any bid, and to accept any bid that it shall deem for the best interests of the city.

WILLIAM T. KEOUGH,
Business Agent of the School Committee.

"Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing X-ray films, etc., to the Boston City Hospital, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of July 10, 1922. Permission is respectfully requested to award the contract to Robey-French Company at the prices quoted. The only other bidder, James Picker, Inc., was irregular in that both copies of the bid were left at the Supply Department. In view of the above, I trust that the permission requested will be granted."

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Hospital Department.

Upon July 18 the Mayor approved an addition, in the amount of $24,910.77, upon contract with John Bowen for certain changes in the Thorndike Memorial Building at the Boston City Hospital. A communication from Joseph P. Manning, president of the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital, was as follows:

Boston, June 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Doctor Peabody, director of the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory, requests that the trustees make certain changes in the Thorndike Memorial which would, in his opinion, add to the efficiency and make the building a model one for research purposes. Besides these changes we desire to make changes in one room in the X-Ray Department, in which to install an X-ray machine for deep therapy. This machine, which generates 250,000 volts, has been developed since the plans for the Thorndike Memorial were prepared, and to safely use the same it becomes necessary to incase the room in which it is installed in ½-inch sheet lead. The changes involved amount to $2,910.77. The trustees voted to accept this bid, subject to your approval.

On behalf of the trustees I respectfully request that you approve of the same, in that an addition may be made to the contract

Yours respectfully,

Joseph P. Manning,
President, Board of Trustees.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon July 19 the Mayor approved the replacing of the wood block pavement with vitrified brick pavement, in Massachusetts avenue, between Washington street and Albany street, north roadway, South End, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to replace wood block pavement with vitrified brick pavement, in Massachusetts avenue, South End, between Washington street and Albany street, north roadway, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $10,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 20 the Mayor approved a contract with Michael Williams for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Michael Williams, 22 Wall street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 20 the Mayor approved the relaying of granite block pavement, with asphalt joints, in Tremont street, between Northampton and Hammond streets, South End, with the division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to relay granite block pavement, with asphalt joints, as directed, in Tremont street, between Northampton street and Hammond street, South End, with the division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $4,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 20 the Mayor approved the grading and paving with granite blocks of Parsons street, near North Beacon street, Brighton, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to grade and pave with granite blocks Parsons street, near North Beacon street, Brighton, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,500. This is an assessible street and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Supply Department.

Upon July 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Linscott Motor Company for a Reo truck, equipped with cab and windshield, for the Paving Service of the Public Works Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, July 17, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, with the Linscott Motor Company, 566 Commonwealth avenue, for two 1¼-ton Reo trucks equipped with cab and windshield, at a price of $1,470 each, delivered. These trucks are for use in the Public Works Department, Paving Service, and have been selected in preference to 2-ton trucks on which this department received bids on June 27, 1922. The price on the 1¼-ton truck is considerably lower than that quoted for the 2-ton truck, and the Public Works Department has informed me that it is sufficiently heavy to perform the duties that will be required of it. These trucks are for use in carrying employees and light material for repair work in the Public Works Department, and I feel that it is for the best interests of the city to purchase the above trucks.

Trusting that the permission asked for will be granted, I am,

Yours respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.
